VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

ALBANY, N.Y. — Twenty-eight dairy farms in Pennsylvania and New York state are under quarantine against possible bovine tuberculosis.

All farms are suspect because they purchased cattle from a herd dispersal sale at a New York farm where bovine TB-infected deer and elk apparently transmitted the disease to some of the cows.

The TB incident is the first for New York state in more than 12 years.

All dairy cattle purchased from that herd have been condemned and slaughtered or were awaiting slaughter by presstime this week.

Results this past week were not all available on the carcass evaluations of the 73 milking age cows which had been condemned by their respective state agriculture agency and slaughtered.

Gerald Moore, director of public affairs for the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets, said this week that initial slaughter results of the 45 New York animals showed one 3-year-old cow had lesions. It means a complete slaughter of that farm's herd.

Those farms under quarantine are still able to ship milk because pasteurization kills the tuberculosis bacillus.

The disease is transmitted mainly by one animal inhaling expired air from another animal.

The infectious animals eventually form lesions on their lungs

Holstein Sells For $25,000 In Tioga County Sale

C.J. HOUGHTALING
Tioga Co. Correspondent

MIDDLEBURY CENTER (Tioga Co.)— The tent next to the barn overflowed with neighbors, friends, farmers and businessmen. Five hundred sale catalogs bearing photographs and breeding history of the merchandise had been distributed. Three phone lines had been installed to handle out-of-state bids. Thus began the complete dispersal of the Double-B Farm owned by Bill Appel on March 23.

As lot number one paraded around the sale ring, calls came from as far away as Wisconsin and California. When the bids peaked, the auctioneer rapped his gavel and Novagen, Inc., managed by R. Bentz Rhoads, Jr. of Lecsburg, Va. purchased Highlight L Secret Velour for $25,000.

Next on the auction block was Velour's daughter, Double-B-B Leadman Veticia, a yearling heifer. Her new owners, Ronnie Kling and Wayne Schrock, both of Accident, Md. paid $14,200.

These are no ordinary cows. They are registered Holsteins. Velour's genetics are the reason Rhoads expects to have embryo contracts to Japan and European countries.

In other parts of the state or country, the price paid for such an animal is not unusual. Indeed, Velour's dam's maternal sister sold for $40,000 at the 1988 Top Breeders Sale. But for Tioga County, the prices Appel received for his herd shocked the community.

Appel attributes his success to knowing pedigrees, understanding

Nutrient Legislation Needs Amendments

ANDY ANDREWS

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Item 1: A Lancaster County township board passes a law that curbs all "unhealthy odors" eminating from a nearby poultry farm, making it illegal to apply manure within 100 yards of a 65-tract housing development.

Item 2: A Lebanon County township supervisor board is considering passing a law that will stop the application of any and all "dangerous chemicals," including commercial fertilizers, within 200 yards of newly constructed townhouses.

These items are fictional. Do they sound possible? Perhaps so, if some form of statewide nutrient management legislation is not passed. And, according to the Lancaster County Farmers' Association, if nutrient management legislation is not agreed upon and enacted soon, local township ordi-

Burned Barns Rebuilt, FBI Investigates

BELLEVILLE (Mifflin Co.) — Late at night, on Saturday, March 14, six Mifflin County Amish families lost their barns, livestock, and livelihood to an arsonist's torch.

The barns of Michael J. Hostetler and Esle Michael Hostetler on the Back Mountain Road; Isaac S. Yoder on Church Lane; Samuel Isaac Yoder on Plum Bottom Road; Christ R. Yoder on Coffee Run Road; and Samuel Moses Yoder on Allison Road were completely destroyed. Michael J. lost 21 cattle and 10 horses while Isaac S. lost 33 cattle and 7 horses. One horse survived the fire at Esle M's — 10 perished. Financially, the state police estimated at least $1 million in damages.

The sun rose the following morning exposing the gruesome

Eckstine's Christine Is Grand At Spring Holstein Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A 4-year-old Hanover Hill Starbuck daughter owned by Thomas Eckstine, 23, of Mercersburg, was named grand champion of the 39th Pennsylvania Holstein Association State Spring Show held at the state Farm Show complex last Friday.

The homebred Eckstine cow, "Meadow-Vu Starbuck Christine," was senior champion and was also named best udder of the 4-year-old class.

The win was the first time Eckstine took home a grand champion trophy from a state show.

"I've been in 4-H since I was about 8 years old and I've been going to state shows ever since," the 23-year-old reserve Marine said. "I've shown grand champions at county levels and district levels before, but not at this level."

He said the win was everything it seemed it could be.

"I feel pretty good. It's just makes everything worth while, all the effort you put in," he said. "But everybody ought to be congratulated for having outstanding animals at the show."

Competition was stiff at the show, with some of the big names in Pennsylvania Holstein breeding showing.

Daylight Time Starts Sunday

One of the rituals of spring happens at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, April 5. Daylight Savings Time officially starts. Using the old adage of "spring forward," you will want to advance the clocks at the house and at the barn ahead one hour that night before retiring. But animal feeding schedules, especially for dairy cows, should be advanced gradually over a period of several days.

N.E. Chicken Parts

April 1, 1992

Trucklot buying interest was no better than fair today but some improvement expected for late week for first of the month needs. Supply of boneless skinless breasts were in fairly good balance for the light demand but most new trades were reported at the 1.85 price level. Line run breasts were available early this morning as low as 80 cents but supplies were slightly improved by mid-morning. Leg quarters were a struggle to clear but some buyer inquiries were noted for late week needs. Wings were fully adequate for the very light demand.

Trading insufficient to report prices. Offerings of light type fowl are at least adequate to fully adequate for next week's slaughter needs. Availability of heavy hens is irregular, presently noted as limited to in balance with plant requirements. Demand is moderate with buyers unaggressive. Movement into further processing channels easily satisfies current interest. Undertone barely steady to weak.

Delmarva Broiler Fryer

April 1, 1992

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds improved. Supplies were adequate and in better balance than last several days. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged to 1 cent higher at 46 to 58 cents. Slaughter schedules were heavy. Live supplies were moderate; weights were mixed in a full range. Trade sentiment was at least steady. In the parts complex, breast items were in heaviest supply. Leg items were adequate and in closer balance, particularly leg quarters. Wings were available.

NY Phila. Frozen Eggs

MARCH 31, 1992.

Trade sentiment was barely steady to weak as dealers became more and more competitive in an attempt to secure the very limited business. Raw materials were plentiful and most processors limited receipts to regular commitments. Floor stocks continued to build as finished product sales were poor.

MARKET COMMENT: TRADE SENTIMENT WAS GENERALLY STEADY. MOVEMENT OF CARTONED EGGS INTO RETAIL CHANNELS WAS FAIR BUT NOT QUITE UP TO PRE-HOLIDAY EXPECTATIONS. SUPPLIES OF EXTRA LARGE WERE IN CLOSE BALANCE WHERE FEATURES WERE IN PROGRESS; OTHERWISE ALL SIZES WERE FULLY ADEQUATE. A EXTRA LARGE .63-.65, A LARGE .61-.63, A MEDIUM .49-.51½.

National Egg Market

Prices were unchanged. Trade sentiment was mostly steady with a cautiousness looming in several areas. Cartoned egg movement improved in some quarters but was for the most part still only fair at best and demand was expected to continually improve with the advent of retail promotional activity and holiday buying interest. Supplies were generally fully adequate for current dealer interest. Breakers were unaggressive as finished product sales continued to drag and inventories were becoming a little uncomfortable at present levels.

GRAIN PRICES SUFFERED SHARP LOSSES WEDNESDAY, INFLUENCED BY WEATHER, EXPORTS AND CROP REPORT. WHEAT 11 TO 15 CENTS LOWER. CORN 2 TO 5 CENTS LOWER. SORGHUM 6 TO 11 CENTS LOWER. SOYBEANS 10 TO 12 CENTS LOWER. WHEAT PRICES FELL SHARPLY AS TRADERS BELIEVE OVERBOUGHT WHEAT DUE FOR CORRECTION; PRICES STILL WELL ABOVE YEAR AGO. LATE, GOOD EXPORT DEMAND FAILED TO SUPPORT PRICES. WHEAT CROP LOOKING GOOD, DESPITE RECENT COLD SNAP. REJECTION OF EXPORT BIDS LAST WEEK TO CIS, ADDED PRESSURE TO WHEAT PRICES. DECLINES IN CORN PRICES DUE TO SPILLOVER WEAKNESS IN SOYBEAN AND OAT PRICES. A HIGHER THAN EXPECTED 1992 ACREAGE REPORT BY USDA, FOR OATS, FACTOR IN LOWER OAT PRICES. LIGHT EXPORT DEMAND CONTINUES TO WEAKEN CORN PRICES. SOYBEAN PRICES ALSO EXPERIENCED MASSIVE LOSSES AFTER LARGE FUND SELL- OFF ON THE BOARD BEGAN MID-DAY. LACK OF EXPORT NEWS AND DECLINES IN OAT PRICES, FACTORS IN DECLINES.

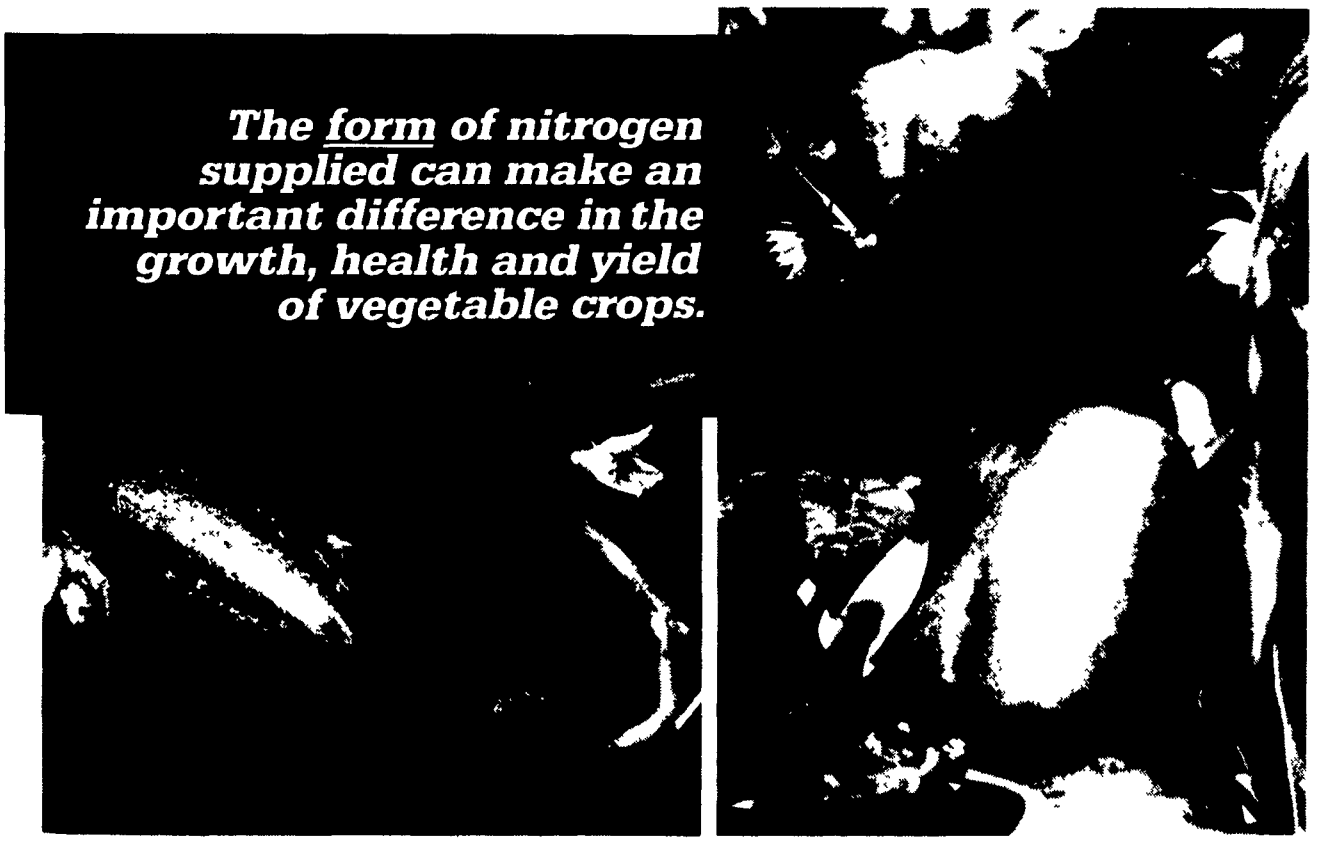
Calcium Nitrate for nutritional excellence and better crop management

Viking Ship Calcium Nitrate fertilizer provides fast-acting nitrate nitrogen; the non-acidifying nitrogen form that is readily available for quick uptake and early, uniform growth. Precise timing. Nitrate nitrogen feeds the plant when needed—on your timetable. This eliminates residual-N problems and promotes better yields, uniform maturity and harvest efficiency. Vital calcium. Young tissues (leaves, stems, and fruit) must have calcium for proper development—better color, firmness and shipping quality. Under cultural situations where water is not limiting, adequate calcium is the key to reducing plant disorders such as blossom-end rot. Calcium Nitrate provides 19% water-soluble calcium.



All of these Calcium Nitrate advantages encourage better yields; early and uniform harvests of high quality—the ideal fertilizer for the crop nutrition requirements of modern vegetable production.

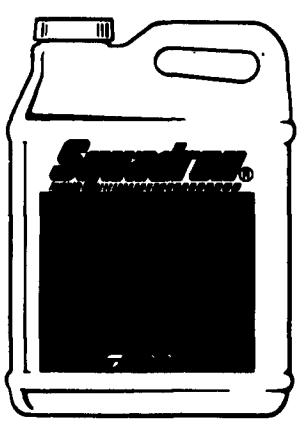
FOR WEED CONTROL IN SOYBEANS

THE SQUADRON LEADER

Beyond power and performance, you need consistency and reliability to get a higher level of soybean weed control.

And that's what you get with SQUADRON® herbicide. The power to control black nightshade, seedling Johnsongrass, pigweeds, common sunflower, velvetleaf and cocklebur–over 50 broadleaf weeds and grasses. The consistency to control them longer. And the reliability to get the job done on any field–no matter what the soil type or pH. All without hurting your soybeans. See us soon for SQUADRON.

The P-47 Thunderbolt–also called the "Jug." Proven in combat one of the most rugged, powerful and reliable fighters ever built.



A Higher Level Of Soybean Weed Control.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

WORLD HEALTH DAY, APRIL 7.

THE FIRST FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY

On April 9, 1833, Dr. Abiel Abbot, a minister in Peterborough, New Hampshire, made a proposal at town meeting that would eventually be embraced by most of the civilized world. Dr Abbot proposed that the town establish a library which would be owned by the people and free to all the inhabitants of the town. Apparently it was an idea whose time had come, for the proposal received unqualified support at the meeting and other towns were soon adopting similar measures. Prior to that time, those libraries which did exist were the private property of individuals or organizations funded by dues. With that town vote, not only was the Peterborough Town Library established, but the concept of a free public library, supported by taxation, was also born.

We are remembered by our good actions, not by our good intentions.

TIP OF THE WEEK

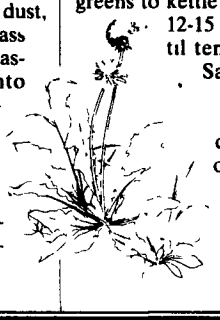
EARWISE

Biodegradable plastics are controversial. Many consumers want to make informed choices, but are confused. Petroleum-based plastic is always plastic, even when broken down to the molecular level. This means even if the plastic can be reduced to dust, it is still plastic and will pass into the food chain as plastic, not transformed into something new like compost. Reduce your use of plastic, and when you must use plastic, reach for the box labeled "contains 70% recycled plastic" not the "biodegradable" product.

DANDELION GREENS

Collect young, tender greens before buds have opened (make sure they have not been sprayed with any toxins). Cut off roots, buds, and damaged leaves and wash in cold water. Immerse in large kettle of boiling water for 10 minutes, then drain and bring fresh water to a boil. Return greens to kettle and boil for 12-15 minutes, until tender. Drain. Saute minced onion and minced bacon and pour over greens while still warm.



The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Cloudy and cool, sunny west; rain, some heavy; snowstorm west.

SOUTHEAST: Cold and rainy then clearing and warming; showers northeast.

MIDWEST: Cold, flurries; sunny and cold north; sunny and milder, then cloudy and cold, warmer north.

NORTHWEST: Sunny and mild, cloudy and cold mountains; clear and warming, then rain coast, snow mountains.

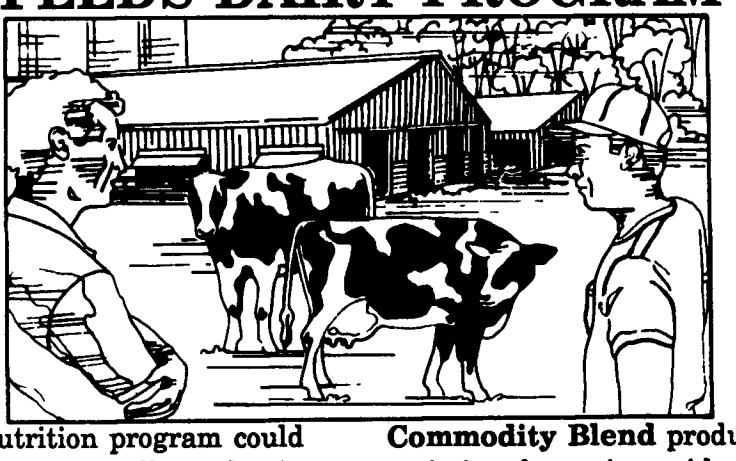
CONSIDER ALL YOUR NUTRITION OPTIONS WITH WAYNE FEEDS DAIRY PROGRAM



A dairy nutrition program could be based only on milk production records. But that often doesn't go far enough.

Wayne - We Won't Ask For Your Business Unless We Can Help Improve It.

That's why we developed the SMART CHOICES® Feed Management System. This unique computer program takes into account your whole operation... past production plus number of cows, facilities, herd health and feed ingredients. Couple this with our Dairy Economic Analyzer for rations that fit the way you feed, to maximize every feed dollar.

Our research tested PROVISION®, NEXT STEP® and Commodity Blend products optimize the amino acid profile for optimum milk production. Using FOUNDATION® Premixes you can build rations from the ground up with macro and trace minerals, plus vitamins A, D and E.

Plus, our trained sales, finance and technical service specialists can help you stay on top of today's nutrition and management issues.

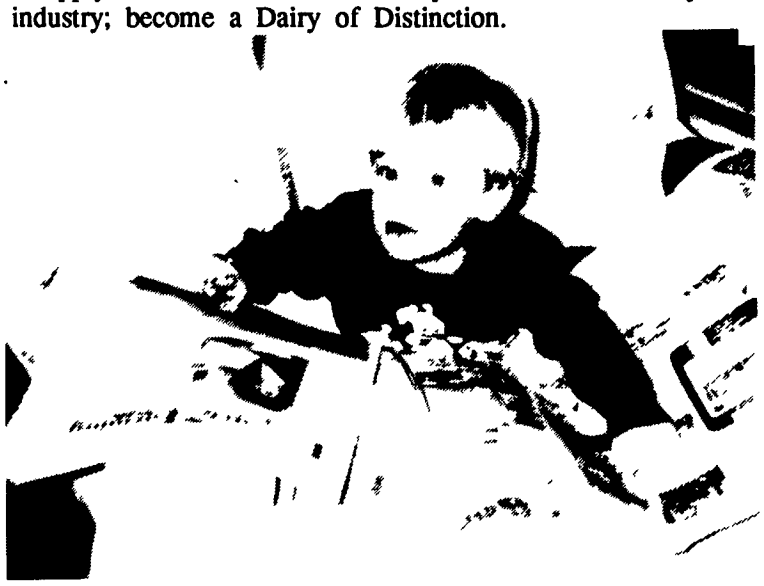
OPINION

Become A Dairy Of Distinction

The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program was first initiated in 1983 to recognize the hard work and dedication of dairy owner/operators who maintain attractive, well-kept farmsteads. Its purpose is two-fold: to promote a positive dairy industry image and to instill in consumers a greater sense of confidence in the wholesomeness of dairy products.

Since consumers generally observe dairy farms as they drive by, farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds, and surroundings. Also taken into consideration are the conditions of other aspects of the farm operation such as cleanliness of animals, the barnyard, feed areas and manure management. Roadside farm judging takes place in the month of May each year. Winners are judged annually to ensure that they continue to meet the standards of excellence set by the beautification program. All active dairy farms in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey are eligible to apply for the award.

The program is adminstered by volunteers, and the operating budget is very small. The program is worthy of any dairy farmer's support. And if you have a nice looking dairy farm, you will want to apply for the distinction. Show your commitment to your industry; become a Dairy of Distinction.



Editor:

Here is one of the youngest readers of your paper. My husband loves your paper so he shows it to everyone, even our youngest grandson. Our children call the Lancaster Farming, dad's bible, because he reads it on Sunday mornings. Old ones are handed down to the grand children. Mike here, thinks it is a paper just for him. He looks at the farm machinery or for pictures of cows. It's never to early to start the boys dreaming about farming. Mike is only 17 months old. The Lancaster Farming has taken us on many trips looking for bargins. It even got us off the farm for four days when my husband saw a tractor he wanted advertised for sale in Illinois.

Consumers Eating At Home

People are eating more meals at home. In 1989 and 1990, consumer purchases of food to be eaten at home grew faster than the total amount spent for food away from home.

This represents a reversal of a 30-year trend of increased food spending at restaurants, fast food, cafeterias, etc.

When consumers spend more on food purchases for the home, the farmer receives a larger share of the expenditure. If the food is prepared at home, the farmer receives 30 cents of every dollar spent compared with approximately 16 cents for every dollar spent for food at restaurants, etc.

To encourage this trend, farmers need to be looking at ways to package their food products to fit the lifestyles of today's consumers. This includes packaging eggs in smaller sizes than a dozen, vegetables in packages ready to eat or cook, and the development of microwave products.

Also, more people are packing their lunch instead of eating out.

Now is the time to tap into these new marketing opportunities. Whenever you are able to add perceived value or convenience to your product, the more profit you should generate.

Give consumers ideas they could use in preparing your product at home or for their pack lunch.

To Evaluate Irrigation

With last summer's drought, many farmers are considering purchasing an irrigation system.

The decision to irrigate is a difficult one. If you are thinking about buying an irrigation system, Dr. Albert Jarrett, Penn State Agricultural Engineer, offers the following points to consider:

- Do you have adequate water supply? Sprinkler irrigation systems require approximately 30,000 gallons of water for every inch of water supplied to an acre. Flow rates may be as high as 10 gallons per minute per acre. Drip or trickle irrigation systems will require less water per acre.
- Are you willing to dedicate the time and energy necessary to manage the irrigation system? System installation, moving, maintenance, and management all take a firm time commitment.
- Are you willing to invest in the long-term future of your operation? Planning, designing, and installing an irrigation system takes time. It is seldom possible to buy and install an irrigation system in the middle of a drought and receive any benefit. The system must be installed and ready to go when dry weather hits.

Remember, if you are in the Susquehanna and the Delaware River Basins, you should contact them and discuss your irrigation plans to avoid future problems.

To Turn Your Clocks Up One Hour

This weekend we turn our clocks up one hour for daylight savings time. Do not forget to turn your clock up one hour before you go to bed Saturday night.

Nothing is more embarrassing than to show up for church one hour late on Sunday morning.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

CAN YOU COMMAND LOVE?

April 5, 1992

Background Scripture: Deuteronomy 6:4-9; Mark 12:28-37.

Devotional Reading: John 15:9-17.

It is said that the rabbis of Israel in the time of Jesus calculated that the Law contained 365 prohibitions — one for every day of the year! — and 249 positive commands. Some rabbis contended that among these 613 commandments, that they were equally important. Obviously, not all rabbis felt that way, because one of the scribes came to Jesus asking "Which commandment is first of all?" (Mark 12:28).

Jesus could have given a much safer answer than he did. He might have said "Well, this one is probably first, but all the others are important, too." Instead, however, Jesus boiled down all the commandments to just two: "Love the Lord Your God" from Deuteronomy 6:4 and "your neighbor as yourself" from Leviticus 19:18b. "There is no other commandment greater than these," concluded Jesus (12:29-31). Apparently, the scribe's question had been sincere, because when Jesus answers it, his response is very positive and Jesus commends him, saying: "You are not far from the kingdom of God" (12:34).

So, Jesus and the scribe both agree that all of the Jewish law could be summed up in the commandment to love both God and one's neighbor. That's quite a bit of distillation! Six hundred thirteen commandments summarized in two! And actually, that summary is still good for Christians today. When we get confused and lost in theological questions and conflicts, we need to remember that the essence of Christianity is not the way we verbalize what we believe, but to love both God and one's neighbor with all the fullness we can muster.

But there's the problem, isn't it? How much love can we muster? Jesus describes it as loving God "with all your heart ... soul ... mind ... and ... strength." That's quite a bit of love, isn't it? Maybe it is more love than many of us can manage. Have you ever been around someone who seems to be pure love? My own reaction has vacillated between admiration, shame and annoyance. In the presence of a truly loving person I may feel very inadequate. I confess this freely because I rather imagine that some of you readers have the same problem. When Jesus commands us to love God and our neighbor, I can't help wondering if it is possible to command love.

AGAPE LOVE

The problem is that, although I know better, I keep forgetting what love really is. I keep thinking of love as something that primarily is feeling. In his little book, New Testament Words, William Barclay reminds us that, although we have but one word for love in English, the Greeks had no fewer than four: eros or love between the sexes, storge which is family affection, philia meaning affectionate regard, and agape. In the first three, there is a considerable feeling of warmth — from lukewarm to hot! These are emotions of the heart. But, according to Barclay, agape has to do with the mind. Says Barclay, "It is a principle by which we deliberately live. Agape has supremely to do with the will." It is a deliberate willing to seek the highest for others, regardless of how we may feel about them. They are lovable only in one sense — we cannot feel loving toward them — but they are not really unlovable because we can always will to do the right thing for them. In love, good feeling is nice, but not essential.

So can love be commanded? God cannot command us to feel loving toward everyone, but he can — and does — command us to do the loving thing, no matter how we may feel.

Oklahoma City Feeder Cattle

April 1, 1992

Compared with last week: Feeder steers over 700 lbs. firm to $2.00 higher; heifers over 500 lbs. $1.00-$3.00 higher, most advance on stockers. Lighter weight steers and heifers steady. Quality of supply average to attractive with average to full weigh conditions. Market opened on a steady note but became a strong affair by noon Monday. Buyers remain aggressive for stocker cattle as recent frost damage to wheat has put several farmers into a graze out program. Despite very good stocker demand buyers are cognizant of market limitations this year and are striving to keep prices at reasonable levels. Current prices on 450-650 lb. stocker steers are $10.00-$15.00 per cwt. below this time a year ago; stocker heifers 450-550 lbs. $13.00- $16.00 lower. Slaughter cows $1.00-$2.00 lower. Slaughter bulls steady. Receipts this week 10,350; last week 8,197; last year 7,409. Supply includes 71 percent yearlings; 19 percent calves and stockers under 600 lbs.; 10 percent slaughter cows and bulls. Bulk price ranges follow with weighted average in ( ).

Feeder Steers: Medium and Large Frame 1, 400-450 lbs. $107.00-$114.75 ($112.39); 450-500 lbs. $101.00-$108.50 ($104.42); 500-550 lbs. $94.00- $101.00 ($98.75); 550-600 lbs. $90.00-$96.50 ($91.84); 600-650 lbs. $84.00-$87.00 ($85.32); 650-700 lbs. $80.75-$83.75 ($82.36); 700-800 lbs. $77.50-$82.25 ($80.05); 800-900 lbs. $74.00-$79.75 ($76.55); 900-1000 lbs. $72.50-$75.25 ($73.52). SWATHER'S CHOICE

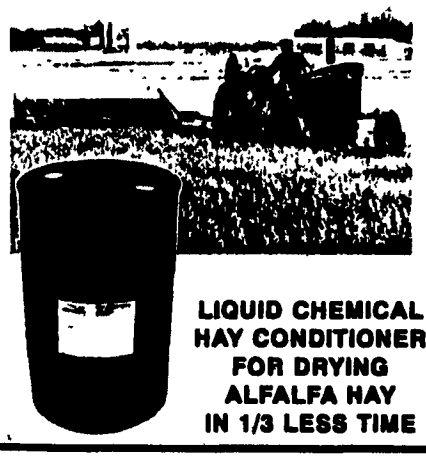
ALFALFA HAY CONDITIONER

NEW!



LIQUID CHEMICAL HAY CONDITIONER FOR DRYING ALFALFA HAY IN 1/3 LESS TIME

Alfalfa and other legume crops have a coating of wax. While this coating is a natural protection for the growing plant, it is an inhibitor to moisture loss in field curing and to feed utilization in the digestive system of ruminant animals. The presence of this coating of wax also makes the hay stem brittle and less palatable to livestock.

Swather's Choice "washes off" the outside waxy coating of alfalfa, allowing for the water inside the plant to evaporate more rapidly than in untreated hay. Swather's Choice is actually a soap that is safe for livestock consumption and won't affect palatability.

In studies at Michigan State University, hay treated with the ingredients in Swather's Choice had higher protein and lower fiber. In a further study at Utah State University, cows consumed 2.2 pounds more treated hay per day.

Unlike conventional granular drying agents, Swather's Choice is a liquid chemical hay conditioner. It is easily tank mixed with water and requires only fifteen gallons per acre in most applications, compared with the conventional products that are normally applied at 30 gallons per acre.

To Jump-Start Feeding Efficiency, Think Custom Farm Seed Waxy Corn Hybrids.

It's no secret that digestible starch content in corn is the single ingredient that aids in the production of increased milk in dairy animals and faster weight gain in livestock. Experts say up to 25% more.

Regular dent corn is composed of a combination of 75% Amylopectin starch ... the more digestible starch ... and 25% Amylose starch ... the less digestible starch.

CFS waxy is 100% Amylopectin starch. That means 25% more digestible starch is available for your operation.

Think about this CFS waxy for 1992 ...

CFS W7551 (111-115 RM) ... Vigorous growth ... Excellent yield potential ... Good stalk quality ... Excellent drought tolerance.

PARS, Inc. markets Custom Farm Seed throughout the Eastern United States. In addition to waxy hybrid corn, count on PARS for a complete line of CFS seed, including break-thru® alfalfa, soybeans and hybrid seed corn.

Burned Barns Rebuilt

reality — 139 cattle, 38 horses and countless smaller animals had burned in the flames.

While shock of the tragedy reverberated nationwide and even further, the anger smoldered at home.

Aftershock

When the smoke cleared, questions rose to fill the air — why the Amish, who did this and will they strike again? With this last added fear, sparked by rumors of threats of more fires the upcoming weekend, Mifflin Countians prepared to protect themselves. Some bought dusk-to-dawn lights, some kept stable lights on all night, some kept vigil in the barn, while others patrolled the roads. But with suspects under watchful consideration and a heavy snow blanketing most farm lanes, the county sighed with relief as the following weekend passed without any reported incident.

Battling the Blazes

The evening of the 14th proved to be a firefighter's nightmare. The Belleville Fire Company fought the first barn fire but noticed smoke coming from the neighboring barn. Crews from nearby towns prepared to assist with the first fire but were soon called out to the other fires. Within 90 minutes, 24 fire companies from 4 counties responded to six barn blazes and other attempted fires. Cement trucks from Juniata Concrete hauled water while Snedeker & K.V. Oil companies supplied fuel for the emergency vehicles. The Salvation Army supplied food.

Cleaning Up

By Monday morning, clean-up began and, because of the incredible response, volunteers cleared most of the damage and had dug footers on three of the farms. More than 300 volunteers, many from the Mennonite Disaster Service, helped. Donations to the "Big Valley Barn Fire Relief" Fund, started at the Kishacoquillas Valley Bank, will go towards purchasing building materials.

This is one of the farm lanes traveled by arsonists to burn the barn on the farm in the background. The FBI is investigating to see if Amish civil rights have been violated.

Estimates to replace each barn are set at $50,000 with all-volunteer labor, not including livestock, machinery or equipment. As of April 1, the fund at Kish Bank totaled over $400,000 and is closing in on the half a million dollar mark.

The tremendous response from the community, state, and even nation has been incredible, almost overwhelming to the Amish.

Churches donated Sunday morning offerings; restaurants gave food; and pick-up trucks brought in loads of potatoes. The Mifflin County Extension Office is accepting donations of hay, livestock and equipment. Ag businesses, seed and fertilizer companies are replacing lost supplies needed for spring planting.

One pony at Keisters Middleburg Livestock Auction was auctioned off 63 times for a total cash donation of $5,797. Fund-raisers include talent shows, chicken barbeques, and street fairs.

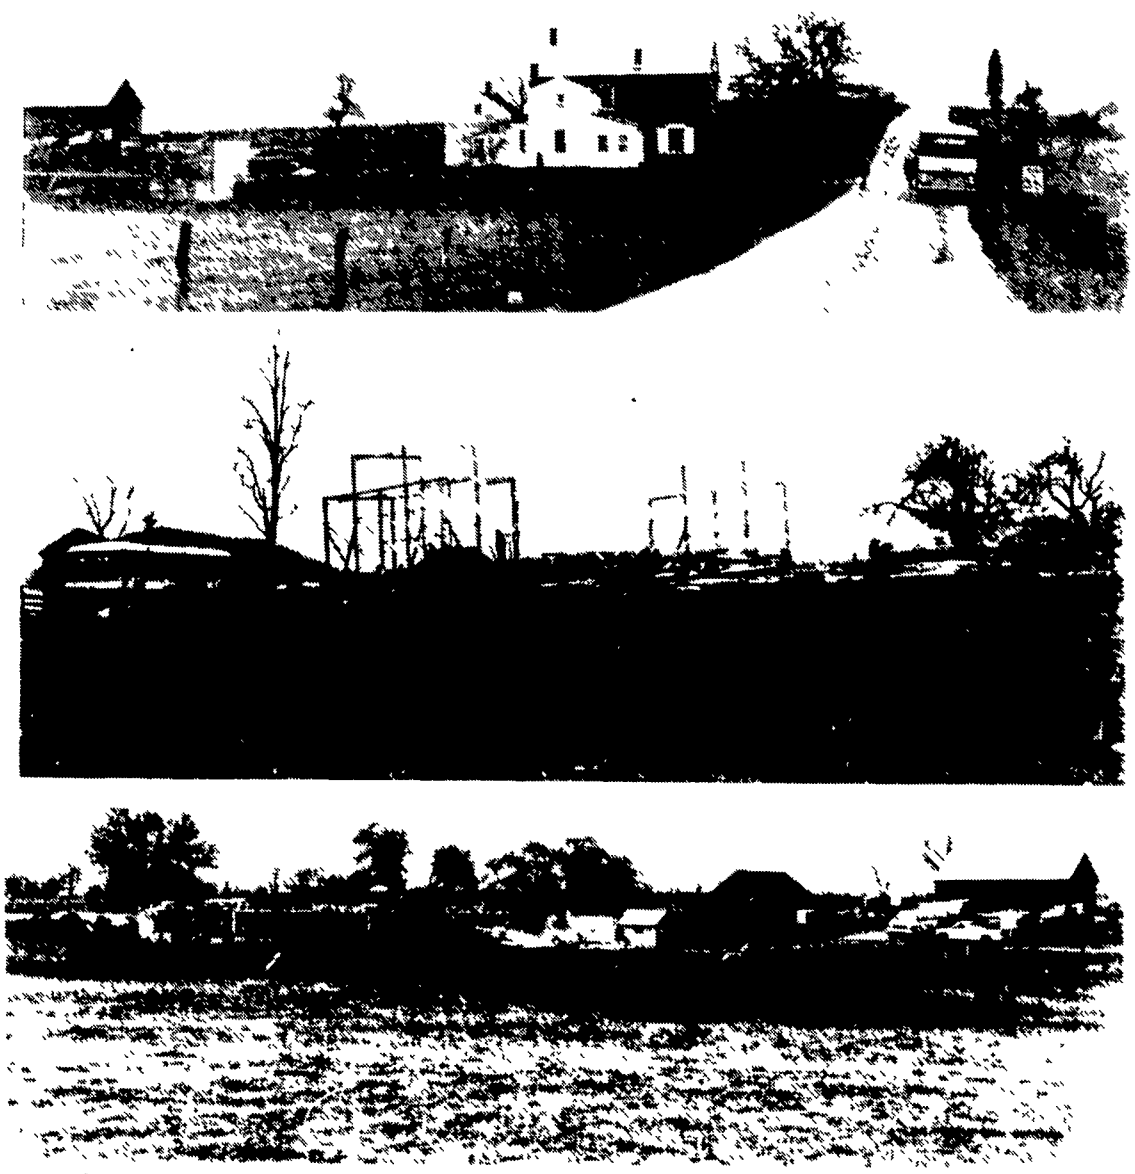
Even the children responded. A "horse" fund for students at the Armagh, Brown and Union Elementary schools and the Indian Valley Middle School, exceeded its goal of $900 — enough to buy one horse for neighbor Isaac Yoder whose farm they pass every morning on the way to school. Instead, they raised over $4,000 — enough to buy a team of horses.

FBI

Because the victims hold similar religious beliefs and adhere to similar lifestyles, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) is investigating the possible "hate" motive.

Additional charges can be brought against the suspect(s) for a violation of Civil Rights statutes if the Amish were targeted.

Until then, the rebuilding and healing must go on.



On a cool day, the sky threatening to rain, volunteers work on the six Mifflin County Amish barns destroyed in one night by an arsonist.

Coming to help with tools in hand, the Mennonite Disaster Service from Lancaster provided invaluable help. Mostly coming up daily by van loads, a bus brought volunteers this day, dropping a few off at each work site.

With the rafters going up, the roofing crews were scheduled to do their part the following day. One barn was completed two weeks after the fire, and the other five barns will soon be finished.

Penn State Resolves Ag Land Issue

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The beef is still at Penn State University.

Cutbacks in state and federal support to Pennsylvania State University and efforts to increase the efficiency of research work within the university's College of Agricultural Sciences resulted in dispersals last spring and summer of some dairy and sheep breeds from the college facilities.

University expansion plans caused concern among beef cattle producers that the expansion would rob pasture from the PSU beef cattle program and force additional dispersals.

But such is not necessarily the case.

Dr. Erksine Cash, a professor with the Department of Dairy and Animal Sciences, within the College of Ag Sciences, said that the beef cattle research has not been threatened and that a deal has been worked out between the different interests within the university that has left the cattle program intact, if not better off.

At issue was the loss of 93 acres of pasture.

It is true that the department lost those acres of pasture, according to Cash, but they were able to retain a third of that and received compensatory funds which are targeted for investment to make the reduced acreage at least as usable as the previous 90 acres.

From a historical perspective, numerous interests have sought Penn State land, a federal land grant institution, for purposes other than agricultural research.

Over the years, land has been taken out of agricultural use for a variety of reasons — buildings, sports fields, housing, the Rt. 322 bypass to allow better flow of traffic to the Penn State home games; hospital construction, etc.

The more recent demands for land has caused concern among some beef cattle breed organizations.

The 90 acres have been targeted for use in a hospital expansion and for construction of a research center at the University Park campus

However, the action will not cause a problem, according to Cash.

"The land issue has been resolved. The university, the college and the department are puting up the money for the department," said Dr. Cash.

He said that what is planned is a slight downsizing of the research herds and the installment of fencing and watering systems so that more intensive pasture use can be done.

Cash said that those concerned with the beef cattle research at Penn State should not be — it will not be affected.

"The college was able to free up 30 acres of land and the research park initial phase is taking 92 acres out of production, but by going to a more intensive system and doing a better job with what we have, we think we will be all right," Cash said.

New York TB Dairy Herd

which stimulates coughing. The coughing projects the tuberculosis bacillus, which is carried on moisture droplets out into the air.

In Pennsylvania, slaughtering of suspect animals has been delayed because of a refusal by a previously used slaughter house to take the potentially affected cows.

However, alternate slaughtering facilities have been found and the process had started in Pennsylvania by Wednesday.

By presstime, the state Department of Agriculture did not report whether any of the carcasses in Pennsylvania showed the effects of tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis in cows is a different variety than the one associated with man, although men can infect cows and cows can infect people. The two forms are interchangeable between man and bovine.

However, up until now, tuberculosis being carried by domestic strains of deer and elk has only been suspect as being communicable to dairy cattle.

The problem happened on the Michael White farm in Addison, Stueben County, N.Y.

The White farm had a large deer and elk population which the New York agriculture department had placed under quarantine when tuberculosis was discovered.

Officially, no one has clearly demonstrated the link between the cows and the tuberculosis carried by the elk and deer.

However, it has been suspected for some time, officials said.

The chronology of events, according to press spokesman Moore, is that on Sept. 12, 1991, the elk at the White farm were tested by a cervical test, with some positive test results. The elk herd was quarantined Sept. 16.

Later, on Sept. 22, a portion of the deer herd was also tested and several showed positive results. The deer tests were performed because of the positive test results in the elk. The deer were quarantined the next day.

On followup cervical testing of the deer, Moore said that 33 of 122 deer tested positive.

Samples of those animals were sent to the USDA laboratory in Ames, Iowa, for a confirmation test which requires a minimum of 42 days for the results.

(The confirmation came back Jan. 6, after the dairy herd dispersal.)

After the deer tested positive, but before it was confirmed, testing of the 93-head dairy herd showed one positive result. Followup testing of that cow, by a method considered more accurate than the initial screening tests, showed a negative result.

With the cattle apparently uninfected, White informed the New York agriculture department of his intent to disperse the herd. He had to wait 60 days and his herd underwent additional testing, with results again being negative. Thus he was allowed to hold the sale.

In the meantime, tissue cultures on the deer were still being tested.

On Jan. 6, the deer were confirmed positive as carriers of bovine tuberculosis.

Moore said that when the confirmation of the deer came through, they immediately tested all the young cattle which remained on the farm.

And, since they kept records of where the dispersed adult cattle went, those cattle underwent a third round of tests.

While a young heifer tested positive, the third round of screening tests performed on the adults showed no positive results.

It wasn't until after the suspected heifer was slaughtered and the tissue sample sent to Ames, Iowa, for confirmation that the decision was made to quarantine those herds which had received milking cows from the White farm.

Test results on the heifer came back March 11.

With those results, the condemnation of the adults was initiated.

Subsequent slaughter this week revealed that the carcass of a 3-year-old cow also had lesions. That cow was on a farm also in Stueben County. The entire herd has now been condemned for slaughter, Moore said.

Moore said the transmittability between the deer family and the bovines has not been clearly understood. "However, it was long suspected," Moore said.

In 1988, according to Moore, New York addressed the testing of farmed deer species for tuberculosis by mandating that they must be tested to be TB-free before crossing state lines.

In Pennsylvania, only those animals defined by statute as being domestic animals must be tested. Here, deer and elk are still outside the authority of the agriculture department.

Although there was no official word from the state Department of Agriculture as to the outcome, Mary Herman, of Hermandale Farm in Tioga County, said Wednesday evening that she was told that the five cows they purchased from White had slaughtered clean and were apparently free from the disease.

Only within the past several years did Pennsylvania undergo a bovine tuberculosis problem when a Dauphin County herd was condemned and slaughtered. Under the current testing program, Pennsylvania regained its TB-free status.

If a lesion does occur on any of the Pennsylvania cattle carcasses, the state's status will be suspended but not dropped. Shipping of cattle for sale is more difficult and expensive in a state without a TB-free status.

Those farms quarantined should not be considered to be infected, according to Dr. Max Van Buskirk, director of the PDA Bureau of Animal Industry, which is responsible for the control and eradication of livestock and poultry diseases.

Buskirk said, "We're testing herds all the time. It's not uncommon to have an animal react to a screening test. That herd is put on quarantine until a comparative cervical test is done.

"If that test is positive, that animal is condemned and the herd is put under quarantine. It is routine. Every year any number of animals get picked up and ultimately we find no infection there.

"It has to do with a test that is not 100 percent accurate," he said. "Four to five to six animals may go to slaughter and do not have TB. I have sent many (positive testing cows) to slaughter in years past," he said, adding that with this disease the position is to err on the side of safety.

Also, Van Buskirk said that it's unfortunate that fear of infection could prevent a slaughter house from taking suspected animals.

"In years past, when we actually had many animals in a herd (have TB), the incidence of transmission . . . I don't know of any incidents of TB being transmitted (while slaughtering infected cows).

Another potential problem with the condemnations in Pennsylvania is that Gov. Robert Casey has put funding for the agriculture department's indemnities program into reserve.

Although $100,000 was set aside in his budget, Casey later put a hold on a number of budgeted funds to prevent a repeat of running the state into deficit, as he did in 1990-91.

Technically, those people whose animals were condemned may be able to receive up to about $1,000 per animal, depending on the amount paid at the White farm.

They indemnity money will be made available, according to Gene Schenck, PDA press secretary.

He said that even though the governor has put the animal indemnities funds into budgetary reserve, it will not be a problem to secure funds for those whose animals have been condemned.

Those farms quarantined in Pennsylvania, in Tioga County are the Daniel Bower farm, the Christine Lehman farm, the Larry Herman farm, Michael Stickler, and Arthur Dunbar Jr.

In Sullivan County, Robert Insinger. And in Snyder County, the Grange Stoltzfus farm.

Five Grand For Simmental At Pa. Bull Sale

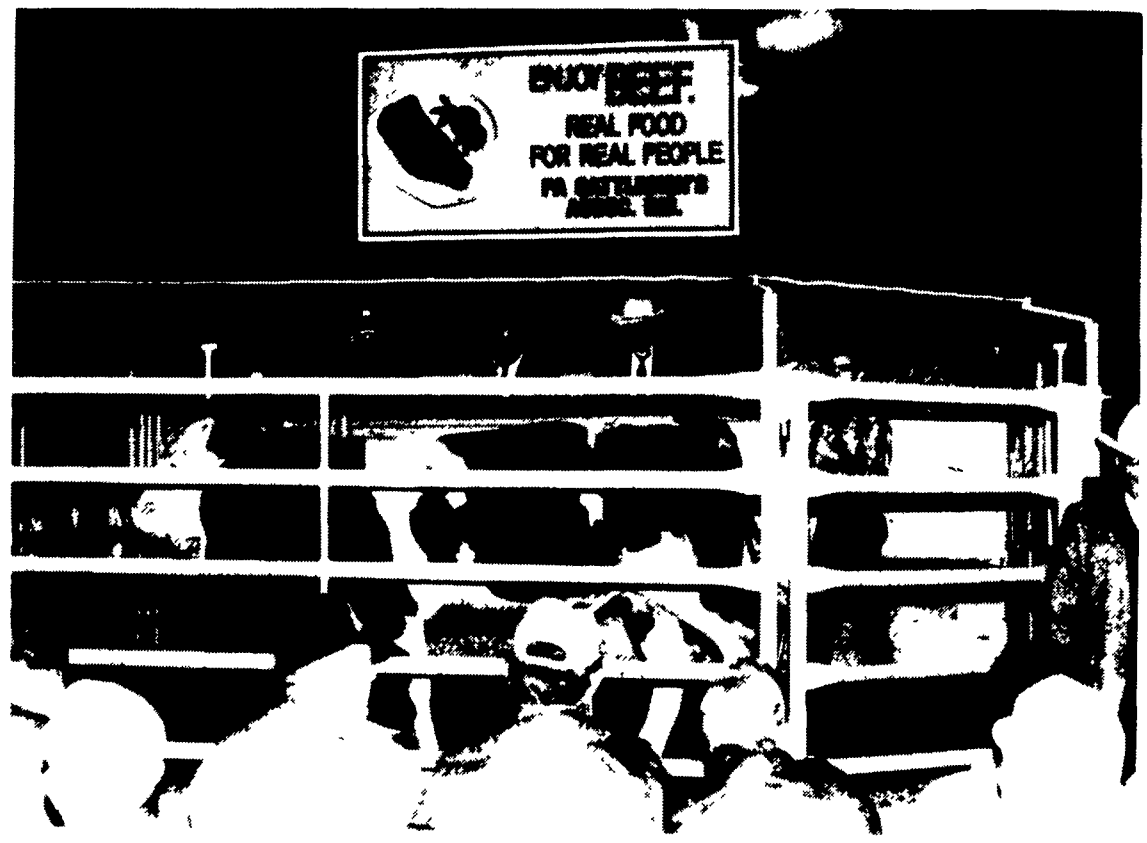
GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

Editor's Note: This is the last of Lancaster Farming's bull buyer series.

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — On Friday, March 27, with all the sights, sounds, and smells of a good sale, a crowd of cattlemen and women gathered around the showring and auction block at the 19th Performance-Tested Bull Sale held at the Ag Arena.

Undaunted by the weather or the economy, the crowd, which was 30 percent larger than last year, came to see the grand finale of the 112-day performance test conducted at the Meat Animal Evaluation Center.

"You can tell what you're getting," states Roy Armstrong of Lewistown. Armstrong bought the highest indexing bull, a Polled Simmental.



Roy Armstrong of Lewistown cast his bid for the highest-indexing animal, a Polled Simmental, sold by Bruce E. Laidig of KJ Farms in Newburg, Pennsylvania.

Of the 55 bulls sold by 44 breeders, a black Simmental sold by Larry E. Hughes of Triple L Farm brought the sale high of $5,000. Bought by K-Hill Farm of Abbottstown, the bull's index ratio was 107, with 100 as average.

Overall, the sale brought in $85,450 for sellers with an average of $1,554 per bull.

The first bull entering the ring for Auctioneer Mike Jones of West Point, Georgia, was a Hereford. Of the 14 Herefords sold, the highest one went to Sire Power, Inc. for $2,600. The Hereford herd averaged $1,429 per bull with indexes ranging from 96 to 117.

Sold from high index to low within each breed, a change of breed in the showring usually meant new buyers and prices.

Twenty-two Angus bulls followed the Herefords. William Cammerer of Cammerer Farms in Jersey Shore purchased the highest selling Angus bull for $4,100 from Ralph Zeager of Elizabethtown. Of the Performance test, Zeager said, "You almost have to have them tested. We've been improving our herd. We don't show cattle and this is our way of getting publicity." Sale average story. Based on my personal experience in discussing the nutrient management issue with Representative Coy, agricultural leaders, legislators and others, no one was ever excluded unless they chose, for whatever reasons, not to participate.

Charolais buyers paid an average of $1,288 per animal for the four animals auctioned. The highest went for $1,800.

Second, Rep. Barley implies that he is just now abandoning HB 496. This is inaccurate. Rep. Barley voted against the bill last June even after it was amended to include many pro-agriculture provisions.

Rep. Barley says that one of the main reasons he opposes the bill is that it addresses only agriculture. Your article credits him with the statement "this legislation almost singly targets agriculture while ignoring the logical fact that there is more nutrient-laden waste from humans, and perhaps wildlife, being emptied into the Susquehanna Watershed than is being contributed by average production agriculture operations."

This view not only disregards every recent scientific investigation into the sources of the Susquehanna River's nutrient pollution, it ignores existing laws which already regulate most other sources of nutrient pollution. For example, the federal Clean Water Act has regulated municipal sewage and industrial discharges for two decades. The new Clean Air Act has tightened nitrogen emissions standards for cars and industries. Pennsylvania recently passed a law banning consumer phosphate detergent in which agricultural detergents are exempt. Would Rep. Barley suggest that farmers be brought under the same set of regulatory controls to which sewage treatment plants, factories, automobiles, and other sources of nutrients are subject?

We believe this approach would be neither fair nor effective. HB 496 recognizes that agriculture has unique concerns and that agriculture should not be treated like sewage treatment plants, factories or automobiles. Nor should agriculture be inconsistently regulated by local ordinances. The fact that many municipalities have begun to take matters into their own hands by passing local regulations on nutrient management has convinced many farmers that we need statewide, consistent standards.

Many farm organizations and farm legislators like Rep. Terry Scheetz and Rep. Ed Arnold have also agreed that we need nutrient management legislation and have insisted that it must be workable for Pennsylvania farmers. HB 496 is the product of this commitment and cooperation and Rep. Coy deserves credit instead of criticism for bringing the many sides together on the issue.

Editor:

Many times in the past, Pennsylvanians have risen to the call when disaster has struck. Here is another that calls for our compassion. As many readers know, six Amish families in Mifflin Co. were the victims of arson two weeks ago. They lost their barns, all their livestock (dairy cattle, hogs, draft horses, and driving horses), their farming machinery, their hay and silage. In losing so much, they lost their livelihood. And spring planting season is upon us. Moreover, the small Amish community (about 2500) is trying to feed the large number of sisters and brothers who have arrived to help them rebuild their barns. Local residents are pitching in to the best of their ability. But the loss is very great, and we are living in difficult economic times.

To replenish a basic farming operation is staggering: a single cow costs $1100; a trained Belgian draft horse, $1300; a driving horse, $1100; a wagon, $1000. The local people, Amish and non-Amish, have pitched in most generously: restaurants are supplying food to the builders; one man offered several head of cattle; farmers sold hay and donated the money; seed companies are replacing the destroyed seed. A little girl from Minnesota sent $10, and a group of elementary school children are reportedly raising money to buy a work horse. This list names only a few out of the many.

Those of us at a distance can help these families make a new beginning; we can send our checks to Big Valley Fire Relief Fund, c/o Kish Bank, Box 917, 310 E. Main St., Belleville, PA 17004. The fund has been growing from generous donations; but the total amount (CNN reported $350,000 on 3/30) must be divided among six families; Individuals and groups can make a tremendous difference in restoring these families to independence. Food and livestock organizations are considering how they may help. Other groups may very well see a role they can play. This is one way to prove our love and compassion for our neighbors. The Amish have come quietly and anonymously to the assistance of non-Amish folks. Now we can return the blessing.

Cuts more than hay. Cuts time.

New Idea 5212 Disc Mower Conditioners cut a big 11'9" swath and condition with 9'6" intermeshing rolls...the widest disc mower conditioner available. You cut and condition lots of hay with each trip. And that means you cut time.

The 5212 is a wider version of our well-known 5209.

Because both the 5212 and 5209 use the New Idea modular disc cutterbar design, there's less downtime.

Routine maintenance is simple. And, although unlikely, repairs are a breeze, too.

Best of all, you'll find our disc mower conditioners are just one segment of our hay equipment line. Round balers, disc mowers, sickle mower conditioners, rakes and hay handling tools are all available through your White-New Idea dealer.

for the Angus herd was $1,736 with indexes ranging from 95 to 111.

Midway through the sale, the first Simmental entered the ring. The crowd applauded as the animal's seller Bruce E. Landig of KJ Farms in Newburg received an award for having the highest indexing bull of all the breeds - 119. After bidding, the Polled Simmental soon became the property of Roy Armstrong of Lewistown.

"I buy one almost every year. It's a good place to buy stock," said Armstrong. "You can tell what you're getting."

Armstrong's purchase was followed by the sale of 11 more Simmentals for an average price of $1,567 per bull.

To round out the sale, which was part of the four-day 1992 Pennsylvania Beef Exposition, four Charolais bulls sold for an average of $1,288. The top selling Charolais went for $1,800. One Saler sold for $1,050, one Chiangus for $1,100, and one Limousin for $1,150.

Preceeding the sale, Glenn Eberly, chairman of the Pennsylvania Beef Exposition Committee and director of the Meat Animal Evaluation Center, introduced Neal Butz, the deputy secretary of agriculture; Dr. Stanley Curtis, department head of dairy and animal science at Penn State; and Dr. Lester Griel, head of the veterinary staff at Penn State. Eberly credited sale helpers and the secretaries for their invaluable help.

The Polled Hereford Female Sale followed the bull sale. Consignor and breeder Carol Fritz of ScenicView Farm in Bedford County brought five animals for the female sale.

Fritz said, "This is the type of sale you want to bring something good to — something you're proud to present".

The polled Salers were represented by this one bull sold by Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Clair of State College. He sold for $1,050.

This high-indexing Angus sold for $4,100, the high for the breed. The Angus, with an index of 111, was brought by William Cammerer of Cammerer Farms in Jersey Shore.

Nutrient Management, Other Concerns Aired At Legislative Meeting

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A state farm leader called for a unified approach on nutrient management regulations at a meeting Monday evening. Keith W. Eckel, president of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA), spoke to a group of nearly 400 farmers and members of the Pennsylvania General Assembly at the PFA legislative conference.

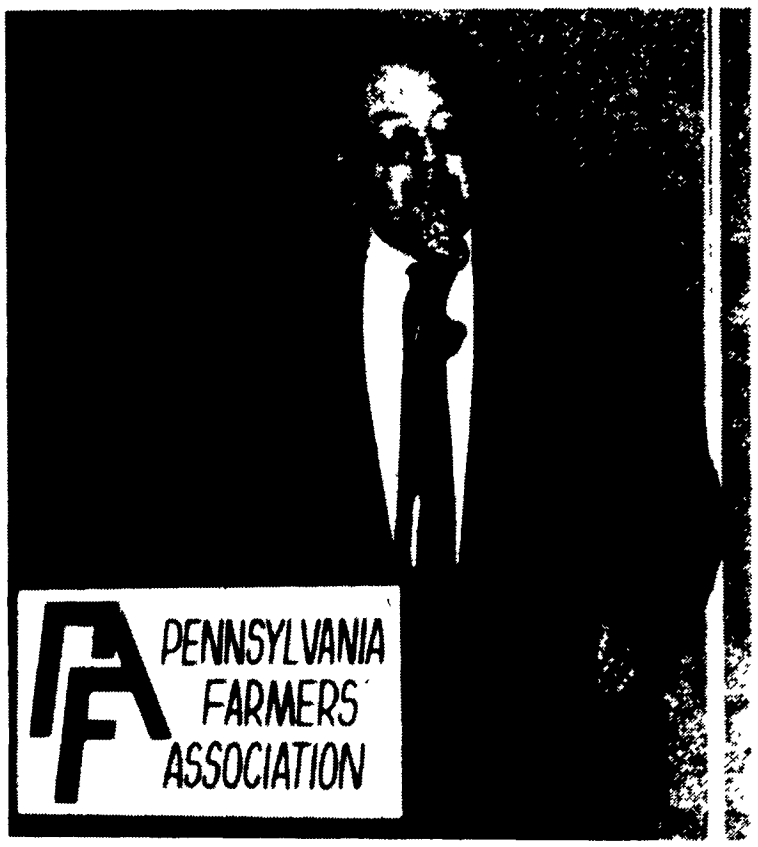
If nutrient (animal manure) management is not handled at the state level, "production agriculture can not exist in Pennsylvania," Eckel said. He explained that township governments are getting involved in passing regulations dealing with nutrient management.

"There are 1,500-plus townships in this state," he stated. "Can you imagine dealing with 1,500 different sets of township regulations on nutrient management? It would be impossible.

"PFA supports the concepts contained in H.B. 496," he told the legislators and farmers. "With some amendments it (H.B. 496) would be a fair proposal, and meets the guidelines of our policy, I might point out that our voting delegates voted and adopted virtually the same nutrient management policy in each of the past three years.

"Regulations dealing with nutrient management are going to be part of agriculture's future. There's no doubt about that in our mind. But, we either approve sound legislation at the state level, or put up with daily battles between farmers and township supervisors, and township supervisors versus township supervisors," Eckel said.

The state farm leader also asked the legislators to support Senate



Keith Eckel, president

Bill 1238, which reforms the Pennsylvania Seasonal Farm Labor Act. He said the act was approved in 1978 to provide protection in housing and working conditions for migrant farm workers. "Because of ambiguous language in the act, the regulators in the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources have come to haunt farmers employing seasonal workers. Also these same regulators are threatening to include all farmers providing housing to any farm worker.

"There seems to be no distinction between seasonal farm workers and full-time workers when it comes to regulations. We know the General Assembly in passage of this act did not intend to include full-time farm workers," he stated. "We need to revert back to the original intent, protection in housing and working conditions for truly seasonal farm workers."

Eckel said that DER regulations are forcing farmers to become registered "farm labor contractors."

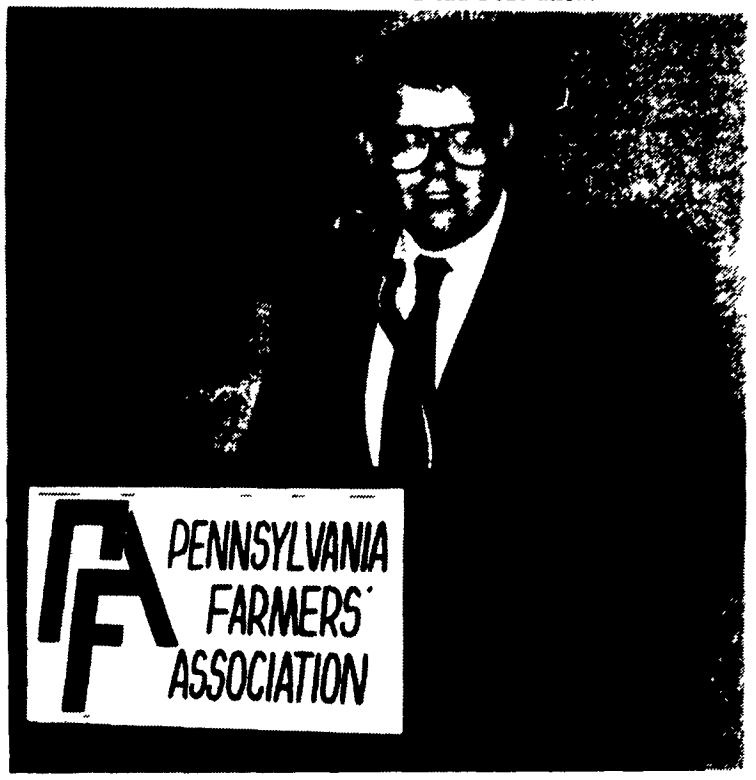
"We should unify our state and federal regulations. The same goal will be reached and agriculture will be better off.

"Farmers spend hour upon hour in preparing the migrant seasonal farm labor housing. So often the labor force moves in, makes some changes in the condition of the housing and the farmer is sanctioned for minor violations. The farmer should have reasonable time to rectify these situations in housing without the onslaught of red tape and paper work.

"Farmers including myself, make every effort to meet the requirements of the law with regard to housing for seasonal farm workers. We respect the privacy of these employees. But I can't really say that is the measure that all social workers use in conducting their business, because many callously intrude into the homes and private lives of migrant workers without any justification. There should be more reasonable reins placed on access by social advocates to farm labor housing," Eckel said.

The group asked the Casey Administration for the restoration of budget monies for the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine, Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board and Penn State Extension Service. It sought legislation to place a deposit on bottles and cans and protection for property owners' rights.

PFA is the state's largest general farm organization with more than 23,000 farm family members. It has 54 county units and is affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation.



Guy Donaldson, vice president.

Spring Hostein Show

Pa. Holstein Association who organized the show, said that, with 280 animals present, it was the largest state spring show in at least four years.

"There were a lot of big names there from Pennsylvania," Eckstine said. "It felt good. (For me, Christine) is a once in a lifetime cow. There were many like that there, she just happened to be the better one that day.

"I think everyone who had animals there deserved to be proud. Everybody had outstanding animals there. That's what makes it what it is. Every year people keep coming out with better animals."

The success of the show for Eckstine is more poignant in light of where he was a year ago.

Eckstine finished his active duty enlistment with the Marines in April and had been involved with both the Panama and Gulf War military events.

When he got off active military duty, he came home and started showing his then 3-year-old Christine.

Because of his active duty, she had never been shown. Then, last year, Eckstine took her halter and on her first time in the show ring, she won the 3-year-old class at the state spring show. At the end of the year, she also made the All-Pennsylvania list as a senior 3-year-old.

Now she is hitting her stride, he said. She matured greatly.

"Her biggest maturity level change was in her mammary system. It was unbelievable. She got rid of some of her 'woodiness' through milking it off," he said. "Just the general dairy appearance increased dramatically."

The Starbuck daughter is bred and owned by Eckstine. He and his father Robert work together on the home breeding program. "It's a team thing," Thomas said.

Eckstine said that after his father Robert, talked to the veterinarian on Tuesday, they decided that they are going to flush the 92-point Excellent cow (as of March 9, she went from a 90-point Excellent) to "Thor" within the next couple of weeks.

Christine traces back in the Eckstine family herd to "Alice," a 17-year-old 90-EEEEE great grandam that recently died.

Altogether, the Eckstine herd has six Excellent cows including another Starbuck daughter, Meadow-Vu Amy, in their 40 to 50 registered Holstein milking string. (Their rolling herd average is 19,700 pounds of milk.)

A couple months younger than Christine, Amy is a full daughter to Alice and recently classified 90 points.

She may be making the show ring circuits soon.

Thomas wasn't alone during the show, he had help from the whole family including brother Steve and his fiance' Nancy Adjan to get everything ready.

Eckstine works away from the home farm, being involved in marketing in the Harrisburg area. Living in Harrisburg, about an hour from home, Thomas said that he someday he wants to get back to the farm.

"For my long range plans, I would like to get back there within the next couple years and continue what we have going there with the family. Hopefully we can increase the operation there."

But in the meantime, Thomas said he will continue to show his cattle.

He said he lists his rewards from showing as, "Just the joy of being able to work with animals, you get to create a special bond between you and the animals.

"The satisfacition of winning your class and to be in the top five of any of the shows like that is an accomplishment in itself."

Judging the show was Glenn Tripp, of TrippAcres, in Little Genesee, N.Y. It was his first state show, although he has judged for a number of years at regional levels.

Eckstine said, "Glenn Tripp, I think he did a real good job. He was up-forward with everybody. I think he did a real good job, I'd like to see him back."

Reflecting on his military experiences, he said it changed his view of the world and makes him more appreciative for such things as showing cattle.

"It just makes you grateful for everything you have and everything you're around. Personally, I think we take everything for granted on a daily basis and (being in the military) sheds light on the whole thing."

Taking reserve grand champion was an aged cow, Campbell Run Valiant Joyce (born Sept. 8, 1985). She is owned by Mark and David Campbell. A Valiant daughter, her dam was Campbell Run Ultimate Jan.

Penn Gate Farm, owned by Bob Gitt and Steve and Chris Wood, of Littlestown, took home both the premier exhibitor and premier breeder banners.

Lancaster 4-H To Hold Auction April 11

Zoann Parker, 4-H Extension agent, shows off some of the items donated by local businesses and individuals that will be auctioned on April 11, to raise funds for the 4-H program.

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Looking for a Spring pick-me-up for the house or yard? Or perhaps an Easter gift for a special someone? Whatever your needs, there's something for everyone at the 1992 Lancaster County 4-H Auction.

Held on April 11 at 9:30 a.m. at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster, the auction has items ranging from Winross trucks and quilts to bull services and fuel oil. Some of the auction's highlights include a football autographed by the 1991 Conestoga Valley High School team; get-away weekends at Willow Valley; "Amish Folk Courting", a numbered print by Christian Newswanger; lithographs; roller skating parties; Sight & Sound Easter show tickets; Ertl toys; and Breyer horse models. The quilts will be auctioned at 12:30 p.m. followed by the Winross trucks at 1:00 p.m.

A preview of the items to be auctioned will be held Friday, April 10, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and on Saturday at 8:30 a.m.

Moravian sugar cake and coffee will be available for those needing breakfast while barbeque pork, baked potatoes, cole slaw, and ice cream cake will chase away afternoon hunger pangs.

Proceeds for the auction, conducted by A&F Diffenbach Auctioneering, will benefit the county's 4,000 4-H'ers and 500 adult volunteers. All monies raised will go into the 4-H development fund and be used for program support such as educational materials, entry fees to events, and 4-H leader tranings. Last year's auction netted $6,000.

For more information about the auction or to donate an item, contact Zoann Parker at (717) 394-6851.

Grange Week

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)— More than 325,000 Grange members nationwide will celebrate Grange Week April 19-25.

In recognition of the event, Gov. Robert P. Casey has officially proclaimed that week Pennsylvania Grange Week.

This year's celebration has special meaning because it is the 30th anniversary of Grange Week, as well as the 125th anniversary of National Grange.

"For years the Grange has been a respected leader in establishing and preserving rural traditions," said Gov. Casey. "Ideals fostered by the Grange include strong family ties, respectable citizenship and service to each other. Today the Grange stands strong for rural America and I am confident that it will continue to do so.

"I urge our citizens to recognize the dedication and achievements made by this organization as it helps mold the future of Pennsylvania agriculture, our number one industry."

The Pennsylvania State Grange will officially celebrate Grange Week on Monday, May 4 with workshops and a legislative banquet at the Sheraton Inn Harrisburg. Afternoon workshops will begin at 1 p.m.

Nearly 400 members will gather for the day's activities, which will include workshops on the One Plan System with Barry Frantz from SCS and Fran Koch from DER, telecommunications with Susan Shanaman from PennFACTs and Saul Kohler from Bell of Pennsylvania, mushroom/milkhouse waste with William Pounds and Glenn Ryder from DER, and working with local officials with Berks County Commissioner Ernest Miller.

the Department of Dairy and Animal Sciences to get $114,000 and 32 acres. Costs for the equipment and materials needed to make the land suitable for research are to be taken from the $114,000.

"Of that (money), 50 percent is to be paid by the university, 25 percent by the college and 25 percent by the department," Cash said.

The money is going to be used to put in fencing and for water systems development to go to more intensive grazing. Other costs will include such things as seeding the land to establish a healthy pasture, etc.

The specific animal breeds at the university include purebred herds of Polled Hereford, Angus, and Simmental cattle. There are also some crossbred cattle.

The animals are used in teaching (students), extension programs, as well as in pasture systems research.

"Nothing has been eliminated," Cash said. "We're going to cut back some on numbers. We have more than we need. We're going to trim and it won't affect programs."

Nutrient Legislation

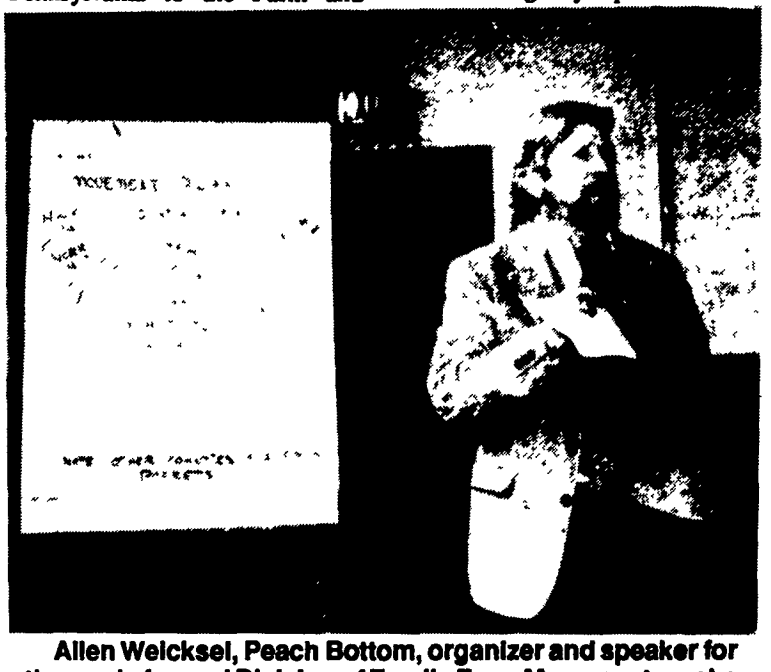
nances could dictate against animal ag, running many farms out of business.

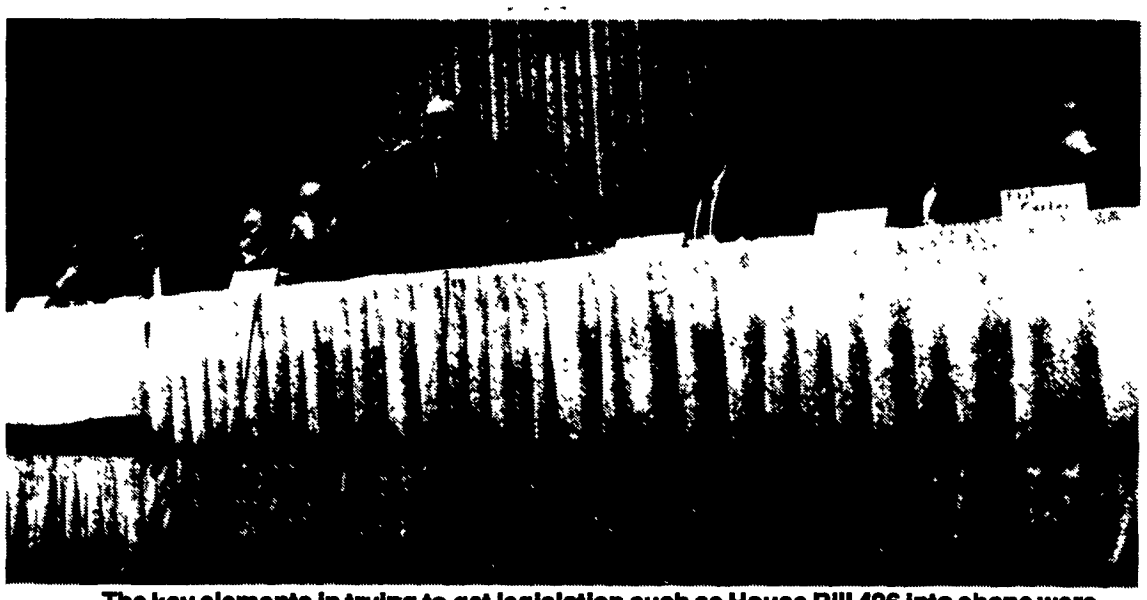
The key elements in trying to get legislation such as House Bill 496 into shape were brought out in a open forum which drew about 300 farmers from all over southeastern Pennsylvania to the Farm and Home Center Tuesday night. The meeting was sponsored by the Lancaster County Farmers' Association.

Writer of bill

A seven member-panel, including a legislator, a commercial agronomist, two farmers, and legislative and agency representatives addressed the issue of nutrient management and the problems related to trying to find a way to make H.B. 496 work. Included was a DER representative and the writer of the bill.



Allen Welcksel, Peach Bottom, organizer and speaker for the newly formed Division of Family Farm Movement, spoke out angrily at the meeting against lack of farm representation before the drafting of the nutrient management bill.



The key elements in trying to get legislation such as House Bill 496 into shape were brought out in a open forum which drew about 300 farmers from all over southeastern Pennsylvania to the Farm and Home Center Tuesday night. A seven-member panel spoke about the bill and answered questions. From left, Caren Glotfelty, deputy secretary of water management with DER; Tom Beauduy, attorney and Pennsylvania liaison with the Chesapeake Bay Commission; George Wolff, Lebanon County farmer; Mike Brubaker, president of Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service; Jay Irwin, director emeritus of Lancaster County Extension; Rep. John Barley (R-Lancaster); Dave Dumeyer, research analyst of the House Ag and Rural Affairs Committee; and Phil Garber, Mount Joy poultry farmer.

"I've read this bill three times and probably skimmed it a couple more, and I still don't understand it completely," said Phil Garber, a Mount Joy poultry farmer. "It simply isn't laid out in what I call farmer's terms. I think we need to change it and make it a little easier to understand."

The consensus among many of those who spoke, and during the question and answer session following, is that the bill would be workable if several key amendments were ironed out.

The current version of the bill, the hundredth such draft, according to Tom Beauduy, an attorney who wrote the bill and Pennsylvania liaison with the Chesapeake Bay Commission, needs to be "fine-tuned."

Tioga County Sale

the registered cow business, buying good cow families, and good luck.

In regards to his sale, Appel said with Velour's index and pedigree, he felt she sold at the going price. Then he added that on the average, he thought he did exceptionally well for the sales of 51 cows, 49 calves and heifers.

Not bad for someone who had only been in the business for six years. Prior to farming, Appel concentrated on his first love, racing. For 12 years he built racing engines and raced dragsters on the National Hot Rod Association pro stock circuit.

An avid hunter, he had always enjoyed the out-of-doors. In fact, one of his dreams was to own a farm. Not surprisingly, when he felt the time had come to change careers, he traded in his helmet for a pair of rubber boots and bought a run-down, has-been of a barn and house with about 108 acres in Middlebury Center.

Fresh off the streets of Wayne, N.J., where he grew up, and knowing absolutely nothing about his new career, he said good fate intervened when he met Leroy Plance of Wellsboro. Plance and his wife, Ida Jane, were experienced dairy farmers who steered Appel toward registered Holsteins. Plance even helped him purchase his entire herd.

Appel began his education in farming by studying books, taking the Penn State home study courses, and trial and error ("A lot of error," he emphasized.)

In the meantime, to make his buildings habitable, he designed the layout and started the primary construction. Contracted labor helped complete the buildings. As his barn and house improved, so did his farming skills.

He joined the Pennsylvania Farmers Association, the Pennsylvania Holstein Association and the National Holstein Association. And he subscribed to Holstein World.

His barn grew to 72 stanchions and four box stalls. He rented an additional 200 acres. Of the land he worked, he planted 60 percent with corn, 30 percent with hay, and 10 percent with rye. Using a 50-50 mix of haylage and corn silage, he rounded out his herd's dietary program with the purchase of complete feed pellets.

In March, DHIA recorded his milk production average in the 365-day ruling at 20,193 pounds, with 3.7 percent butterfat or 746 pounds, and 3.2 percent or 646 pounds.

All-in-all, farming agreed with Appel. He loved being self employed and working outdoors. On the down side, however, he said he hated getting stuck in the winter mud and good help was hard to find, let alone keep.

When his cows became ready to merchandise and the timing was right, he decided to take the profit. Through his acquaintance with Ron Heffner and Norman Hill, both of Maryland, plans for dispersal were made. Heffner was instrumental in overseeing the project, from placing ads, to hiring a professional photographer to take pictures of the cows for the sales catalog, to attending to the thousands of other little details necesary for a successful sale.

Appreciation was high on Appel's list of priorities on sale day. He presented roses to all the women who helped make his sale a reality. Among those recognized were Ida Jane Plance and his chief herdswoman, Irene Douglas. And everyone who attended the sale was treated to a bull roast catered by Norman and Marie Painter of Elkland.

Now Appel is in the process of combining his two loves: racing and farming. With plans to market dairy products through automobile racing, he hopes to encourage the dairy industry to acquire their own promotional race car, outfitted with the Real seal, of course.

Highlight L. Secret Velour sold for $25,000 in the Apple sale.

Double BB Leadman Veticia, Velour's yearling daughter, sold for $14,200.

PennWest Farm Credit Sets Meetings

MERCER (Mercer Co.)— The annual meeting of Penn West Farm Credit, ACA Agricultural Credit Association) will be conducted at five sectional meetings around the region.

These meetings will begin with a dinner at 7 p.m. followed by the business meeting.

Dates and locations include April 13, Elks Club, North Main Street Extension, Meadville; April 14, Omni Civic and Convention Center, 1615 Old Route 119S, Indiana; April 15, Oakhurst Tea Room, Route 31, six miles west of Somerset; and April 16, The Mansion House, Route 18, approximately 15 milees south of Washington, Pa.

According to Robert Hamilton, chairman of the board of directors, members of the cooperative will receive a mail ballot for electing directors. The election will be finalized May 7 at the administrative headquarters at Tripplewood Drive, Mercer, with the results released May 11.

Foraging Around

By Dr. John E. Baylor
Forage Specialist (Retired)
Penn State University

Profitable Alfalfa Production

In March of this year the National Certified Alfalfa Seed Council, with local help from the Virginia Forage and Grassland Council and Virginia Tech, held its 22nd National Alfalfa Symposium at Roanoke, Va. The information presented was down to earth and practical. And while I can't report on all of the excellent information offered I would like to zero in on one talk dealing with the latest information on profitable alfalfa production.

Over the past 15-20 years or so, Dr. C. Alan Rotz, a native Pennsylvanian and currently with the U.S. Dairy Forage Research Center, Michigan State University, has led the way in research dealing with making quality hay. The primary problem in making quality hay, Rotz believes, is the loss that occurs between the standing crop and the final product. "Total loss in hay production is relatively high," Rotz says. "In a well managed system it's 20 to 25%, and greater loss occurs as management declines."

Losses vary widely, of course, among harvests, harvest seasons, farms and hay making techniques used. But Rotz summed up his research on best hay making practices with a number of general recommendations.

Mowing and Raking

Referring to mowing, Rotz's research indicates a mower-conditioner with gentle but effective conditioning (rubber rolls) should be used for minimal loss and relatively fast drying. The use of disk mowers can increase capacity but may be slightly higher in cost.

When making hay, alfalfa should be laid in relatively wide swaths for more rapid drying and raked the morning of the day the hay is baled. For light crop yields, he finds, lay the alfalfa in narrow swaths to reduce raking or pick-up loss. Further manipulation is not needed, Rotz believes, unless swaths are rolled together to increase the capacity of the harvester.

To further speed drying chemical drying agents can be used. And while swath manipulation with a tedder or inverter may speed drying, machine losses may be greater than the average benefit received.

Baling

Large round bale systems can definitely reduce the labor requirements in hay harvest. And when hay is stored in a shed and properly fed, according to Rotz, a large bale system can be economical, particularly when reliable labor is not available. But the price of a shed for storage can nearly always be justified, he believes, to reduce storage loss and maintain nutritive value.

Hay Preservatives

Commenting on hay preservatives such as propionic acid, Rotz agrees they can be used to bale moist hay and thus reduce field curing time. But, preservation is inferior to that in dry hay, he feels, and the treatment cost is high. "Chemical hay preservatives are not economical unless they are used to prevent major rain damage to the hay," Rotz says, "and there is little evidence that bacteria and enzyme inoculants can improve hay preservation. A low-cost mow-drying system," he concludes, "can provide better preservation and better economic value than the use of preservatives."

Looking Ahead

Looking to the future, Rotz is encouraged with the new mat drying process currently being developed. "The quality of the forage produced can be exceptionally high, perhaps superior to that produced by any other method. More research and development of the process is required before it can be used commercially," he agrees, "but its economic potential is good."

With hay making time just around the corner, there just may be an idea or two from Rotz's research that can improve your hay profits this year.

Agway Holds Dairy Talks

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — More than 175 western and central New York dairy farmers attended day-long seminars in late February in Batavia hosted by Agway Inc. and co-sponsored by Church & Dwight Co.

The topic of the seminar was, "Dairy Herd Efficiency and Prosperity." These seminars presented the most up-to-date technical information on feeding and managing high producing herds.

It was attended by owners of 26,000 of the state's highest producing dairy cows.

The one-day programs featured prominent dairy researchers from both academic and corporate research groups. The sessions included:

—"Practical Aspects of Protein and Carbohydrate Nutrition in Dairy Rations" presented by Dr. James Nocek, Agway director, Dairy Research and Applied Technology.

—"New Technologies in Reproductive Management" presented by Dr. Ray Nebel, extension dairy scientist from Virginia Tech.

—"Body Condition of the Dairy Cow as Related to Stage of Lactation and Genetics" presented by Dr. Lee Majeskie, associate professor from the University of Maryland.

—"High Energy Rations: Fat Sources to Power the Early Lactation Cow." presented by Church & Dwight's director of technical service and research for agricultural products, Dr. Ken Cummings.

Attendance at the seminars was by invitation, which was to those dairymen with rolling herd averages higher than 18,000 pounds milk per year.

"The challenge is to remove as many of the limits to greater milk production as we can," said Dick Stowe, Agway marketing manager, "and that requires cooperation between dairymen, producers like Churwch & Dwight, and cooperatives like Agway."

Agway Inc is the largest farm supply, agricultural, food marketing and energy product cooperative in the Northeastern United States. With more than 91,000 members in 12 states, Agway is a Fortune 500 Company.

TRY A LITTLE TENDERNESS

Bulk-handling systems were developed for one primary reason: greater efficiency in larger operations. But sometimes, bulk-handling can mean rough-handling.

That's why your Unverferth dealer is your one-stop source for a complete line of bulk-handling equipment that treats seed and grain with kid gloves. Our unique auger with brush-flighting, for example, is ideal for movement of beans and other delicate seeds. The compact bristles produce a gentle sweeping action at the flight edge which smoothly conveys seed into the planter and limits varietal contamination.

Brush-flighting is also available as an option on Unverferth's 6-inch truck and grain box augers that serve your planting and harvesting needs.

In fact, for all your bulk-handling system needs, see your Unverferth dealer today. Because a little tenderness can take you a long way.

Confusion in bill

According to Garber, there is confusion in the bill about how many acres will be allowable for the spreading of manure based upon his poultry operation. The bill does not take into account what "type" of chickens. "It doesn't say whether they're pullets or broilers or layers, and we all know that's a varying amount of manure, depending on what you have."

Also, the language of the bill is unspecific and indirect, according to Rep. John Barley (R-Lancaster). H.B. 496 doesn't make clear exactly what the restrictions are in relation to the "time" and "manner" in which nutrients are to be applied to the land.

And if phosphorous is the limiting factor, according to Barley, "that would eliminate 50 percent of the farmland as not being available to spread manure on," he said. Also, the factor of time — is that time of day? Also, manner — "It's a broad enough interpretation that it could also be possibly injection or incorporation — the manner could be interpreted very broadly," said Barley.

"The point I'm trying to make is there's a lot of broad, open-ended language," he said. "It's kind of a blank check."

Preemption language

Barley and others raised objection to the "preemption" language of the bill — how much strength would the local ordnances still have, or the township supervisors that make them?

According to George Wolff, Lebanon County farmer, other sources of pollution have to be considered, including golf courses, trailer courts with septic tank problems, and township lawns and gardens.

Dave Dumeyer, research analyst of the House Ag and Rural Affairs Committee, said the concerns involve the extent to which farms may be affected. Some accounting for cost to the farmer must be considered, such as possible cost-sharing.

"It may force some farmers out of business who will not be able to comply with some of the regulations," said Dumeyer.

Blame on ag

And why is agriculture all to blame for the consequences of not having nutrient management implemented in Pennsylvania?

"One of the things that has offended me personally is that everybody seems to put all of the blame on agriculture, and that isn't fair," said Wolff. "Because there's an awful lot of nutrients that come from other sources."

In the current version of the bill, a special State Conservation Commission committee, chaired by the secretary of DER, will be appointed to administer the particulars of the bill. Of the 11 members on the committee, eight will be ag-interest related, according to Caren Glotfelty, deputy secretary of water management with DER and a Christiana sheep farmer.

"I want you to know that I'm a Lancaster County farmer myself," said Glotfelty. "Maybe not a real farmer, like most of you, but I do have about 100 sheep and I can tell you that I need a nutrient management plan. I don't think it's going to cost me a lot of money."

The current version of H.B. 496, according to Tom Beauduy, who wrote the bill, needs to be "fine-tuned."

Commission ag-oriented

Glotfelty said the conservation commission is not controlled by DER, but is an independent organization that conducts itself by majority vote. The commission to oversee enforcement of the regulations proposed by the bill "is overwhelmingly agriculturally oriented," she said.

Whatever legislation is put in place will work to the benefit of the Chesapeake Bay and will not be antifarming, according to the DER representative. The approach, she said, "is geared to the needs and practices of the farm community."

While the meeting was held to discuss the issues related to the bill, according to Mike Brubaker, president of Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service, the topic of the meeting "is not nutrient management at all.

"The topic this evening is control, regulation, and government mandates," he said.

Farmers support management

Brubaker said that farmers have been wholeheartedly in support of nutrient management as a sound agronomic practice. Lancaster County alone generates about $950 million worth of agriculture products, "far too valuable an industry and far too fragile an industry to place at risk with this kind of legislation," he said.

Brubaker said that H.B. 496 "should be defeated. A voluntary incentive program in my opinion is a more logical first step."

Controlling by incentive, according to Garber, would be more practical.

But the PFA and the Lancaster organization want passage of the bill, if amendments can be provided to answer the concerns and if farmers can agree on what would be workable, according to Jane Balmer, president of the Lancaster County Farmers' Association.

Taken into account

"No legislation is perfect," said Beauduy. "You never get it quite right and you never please all the people."

According to Beauduy, he has taken into account the feedback from farm groups and their concerns about the language. Specifics were added in a series of amendments for the bill which Beauduy wrote.

However, local farmers, upset because of lack of representation before the bill was written, joined together early this month to sign petitions to ask for a revamping of the bill.

Allen Weicksel, Peach Bottom, organizer and speaker for the newly formed Division of Family Farm Movement, spoke out angrily at the meeting against this apparent lack of representation.

Why wasn't meeting held?

"My question to the panel is, why, with all this dissension, was there not a meeting held in Lancaster County so that the average farmer that works every day and is under the gun does not have a chance to say what he thinks?" said Weicksel. "Why does an individual like me have to work at this level? Why aren't you doing it?"

Beauduy responded to the question by saying, "I've been to Lancaster County many times on this issue. Maybe I wasn't talking to the right people." Beauduy said that the General Assembly decides what hearings are held on legislative issues, but he pointed out that "every effort was made to talk to the ag community."

Weicksel said he obtained signed petitions from nearly 3,800 farmers from Lancaster and other counties and met with many of them Monday night. He also obtained signed petitions against the bill from many agribusinesses, which he said would also suffer if farmers suffer.

Weicksel said that his organization had five amendments which were necessary before passage of

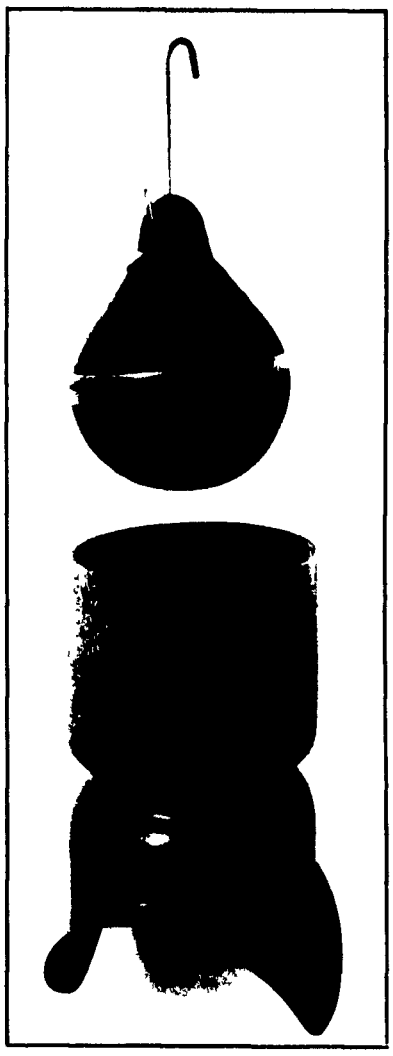
PULL PLUG DRAINS LEAKING?
TRI-COUNTY HAS THE SOLUTION!



APOLLO BALL

This convenient plug for hog manure drains makes a non-leaking seal on the clean-out drain in pull-plug manure systems. It is a major improvement over leaky, concrete plugs.

Sold as a plug and pipe adapter set, the Apollo Ball is a thick, industrial-grade rubber ball that fits into a specially made PVC socket. The ball is filled with sand, which gives it weight but leaves it pliable for a very reliable seal. Molded into its top is a sturdy ring, and attached to this ring is a stainless steel rod with a loop on the end. To open the drain for pen cleaning, you can easily use a simple long-handled hook to catch this loop and lift the ball from its socket.

The socket into which the Apollo Ball Plug seals can be installed on any 8" PVC drain pipe. And in new construction of hog barns, it can be easily included in poured concrete flooring.

Also can be adapted to 6" PVC drains.

Lyme Disease Adds Hosts

According to an April 1 article on the front page of the Wall Street Journal, the bacteria which causes Lyme disease can apparently be carried by more than just one tick.

Up until now, it was believed that only the Deer Tick, as it is commonly known, was the only carrier of Lyme Disease, a disabling affliction in people.

According to the newpaper report, scientist at S. Louis University announced that they have found the bacteria in the lone star tick and the American dog tick, which could make the disease more widespread in the human population.

The deer tick will bite and feed on humans, but its preferred habitat is not as wide as the American dog tick.

the bill in the Senate can take place. Those amendments are:

• The state department of agriculture, and not the DER/SCC, should oversee the nutrient management program. The ag department is "more receptive to our way of life and promotes sensible use of soil and animal resources."

• The group rejects the use of the word "control" in the bill. "We cannot accept absolute control over our agricultural activities by the government." Instead, nutrient management plans should be optional and incentives should be used to encourage farmers to cooperate.

• Certification of nutrient management plans should be by the following three methods: 1) A certified crop management firm or association, 2) by the local conservation district, or 3) by the farmer himself. All certification personnel must be certified by the state.

• Fees should be paid directly to private agencies for paying private inspectors. The inspectors should be available to suggest remedies for problems observed, and have the power to enforce a set of reasonable standards, including record-keeping.

• Inspections should be random by lottery.

Bring out concerns

Beauduy said that the purpose of the meetings was to bring out these concerns so they can be worked into possible further drafts of the bill.

"There're a lot of us in Harrisburg that don't know farming like you know farming," said Beauduy. "All of those issues are going to be addressed.

"I happen to be an attorney," he said, "and you can read things any way you want to read them, essentially, but to the extent that legitimate people read it and interpret it one way and others interpret it another way suggests there ought to be some fine-tuning.

"No one intends to put farmers out of business, no one intends to be unduly restrictive," he said.

Thrust of legislation

Beauduy said the thrust of the legislation "is nitrogen, not phosphorus. . . .And that will be spelled out in greater detail in the Senate amendments that we propose to offer, because we heard about these concerns, and they are not concerns that we take lightly."

Wolff said the concern has to be nitrogen, because phosphorus is sufficiently controlled by utilizing efficient conservation practices on the farm.

The PFA and other farm organizations need input from farmers on the bill. The PFA itself, according to Balmer, will decide on the bill within a few weeks. Farmers can direct comments about the bill to her at Lancaster County Farmers' Association District 1 Office, 2843 Mt. Pleasant Rd., Mount Joy, PA 17552.

In the meantime, many farmers need to become more active on local township boards to make sure the right to farm is upheld.

"Local municipalities all over the state are coming up with rules and regulations," said Wolff. "And in many of those places they do it under the guise of nutrient management. But many of those ordinances really have little to do with managing nutrients. They're really designed to preclude animal agriculture."

Decorating Ukranian-style Eggs Is Mitchell Family Tradition

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

LEWISTOWN (Mifflin Co.) — As Easter approaches plans for traditions gain momentum. New clothes are purchased, Easter egg dyes examined, beaming little faces anticipate good things to come in baskets.

While some families have a "typical" Easter, others delve deep into their heritage for their traditions - ones that pass a heart-felt link from one generation to the next.

In the months of preparation before Easter, Connie Mitchell of Lewistown, colors Easter eggs. But not in the usual way. Her Easter eggs are decorated Ukranina-style. Whether it's the eggs, the designs, or the tools used, everything involved means tradition to Connie.

"It's just something we've done all our lives. And it wouldn't be Easter if we didn't do them, she said.

"Do them" means hard boiling the eggs, lighting a candle, and gathering the old styluses. Using these simple, hand-made tools, Connie decorates the eggs, before dyeing them.

"When we were kids, we'd all get our little sticks with the wires at the end and stand around the table with the candle. We dipped the head of the metal tip into the flame, then into the wax, and that put the design onto the egg."

Some of the styluses that Connie uses were made by her great-great aunt and one was made by her grandmother.

"My grandmother took the metal cap of old bottles, flattened it, and rolled it until it became a cylinder. Then she'd wire that onto the end of the stick," Connie said.

By heating the metal end and dipping it into the tax, Connie creates designs on the eggs as traditional as the process itself.

Since her father's family was Ukranian and her mother's family was Polish, Connie explains this tradition that began in Eastern Europe long before Christianity. The common people worked the earth to supply their needs. People believed an image on an egg would ensure the sun's return.

Before Christ's birth, dots on the eggs meant stars. After his birth, dots meant the tears of Mary. Eggs symbolized new life. The white shells meant purity and innocence. When a chick hatches, it rolls out of the shell the same as rolling away the tombstone where Christ was buried.

Connie's basket of decorated eggs tells quite a story.

She said, "Some of these eggs are 10 years old. The yolk inside becomes dehydrated."

Showing amid the deep, rich colors of the eggs are designs of rams horns for strength and friendship, spirals for protection, wheat, stars, and triangles for mother, father and children, horses or reindeer as symbols of wealth or prosperity, and spiders and webs as symbols of good luck.

Red is for the sun, brown and orange for nature, the earth and crops; blue represents the water, sea, and sky; and black means eternity and darkness and the time before dawn.

There is one egg not kept in the basket — a special egg, intricately detailed, that deserves extra protection.

"This is my Mother's egg — it's 42 years old," Connie said.

Obviously, these eggs will last for several years if cared for properly.

"I store them in the carton placed in a dark-room. I wouldn't put them in the attic. If you put them in direct sunlight, they will fade. You'll not know if one has a crack in it until the next year. If it does, I give it a pitch," she said.

Connie describes the decorating process. "The wax is put on the egg from the stylus. Wherever the wax touches the egg, it leaves a white mark. Once you put it into the color, everywhere the wax was put on, it will leave a white mark. Where there is no wax, the shell will accept the color.

"After the wax is put on, I dip them into the colors. The purple color here is the original purple dye, she says referring to a deeply colored egg. "We always use purple. This purple is dark because of the dye made from an artist's pencil. They used to have an indelible purple pencil that teachers used for grading or marking.

But you can't buy those anymore. You could take the wood off the pencil and heat the color pencil in water on the stove. I can make at least a pint of dye from half of a pencil, which will last for years," Connie said.

Since the pencils are nearly impossible to find, Connie suggests using food coloring instead of the store-bought coloring tablets. "If anyone wants to do nice pretty eggs, the best thing to do is to buy regular, pure food coloring and mix it with vinegar. I make it pretty strong to get nice deep colors," she said.

"After I take them out of the color, I leave them air dry at least overnight," Connie explains.

The next step in the process seals the eggs. "Then the next day, I take an iron skillet, turn it upside down on my stove burner and it creates the same type of a surface we used to use a long time ago with a cook stove. You can't put it on high - about medium. Then take an old T-shirt and rub it on the bottom of the frying pan. When it becomes pretty warm, I go real easy over the wax. It melts the wax off of the egg and seals the color. That makes them last from one year to the next."

Connie said, "Some of the store-bought eggs today don't accept the colors like the old chicken eggs (straight from the farm). Something is done to the eggs (before being sold to the grocery stores) that keeps the color from penetrating the egg shell."

With a life already full of traditions, Connie married into another heritage. She and her husband David live on the 300-acre dairy farm that has been in the Mitchell family for more than 200 years. Their daughter Patricia teaches school while their son David farms with his father.

"I insist that my kids come home and do at least a couple of eggs sometime before Easter. They each have their favorite stylus," Connie said.

Answering requests each year, Connie demonstrates her egg decorating technique and describes the history for civic and social organizations. Many want to buy the eggs.

"I won't sell these. We give these away to friends for good luck. If you sold them it would just take out all the meaning."

The rich tradition others admire is a way of life for many.

Connie said, "It has been part of my life all these years. What's nice is we still keep it going. I don't want it to die."

Connie Mitchell shows an egg decorated 42 years ago, which is a prized possession from her mother.

Homestead Notes

In a home rich with tradition, Connie Mitchell of Dry Valley Road, Lewistown, displays the Ukranian way of decorating Easter eggs. Designs are applied with wax from the candle. The eggs are then dyed and the wax carefully removed with a warm cloth.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

"Attitude shirts."

That's what the department story sale advertisement flyer labeled them. It struck me as a catchy description for the classic tee shirt bearing a snappy, upbeat (perhaps occasionally smart-aleck!) message.

Spring fashions may come and spring fashions may go - but the tee shirt lives on indefinitely. And hem length, neckline style, waist location, and shoulder pad inclusion all are irrelevant for tee shirt selection.

True, color is important. But it's the message that really matters.

A tee-shirt can relate your opinions, outlook, preferences - your attitude - without your ever having to say one word.

One of my personal favorite "attitude" shirts sums up our dairy farm lifestyle: "Some of my best friends are cows." The youngest enjoys wearing a hunting humor tee shirt with no printed words, just a colorful picture of two buck deer dressed as hunters relaxing in deer camp, with "people" trophy heads hanging on the wall.

Pondering "attitude" shirts while milking last evening, I figured some of the more appropriate ones for around here haven't yet been printed.

"Put your foot down!" is an assertive attitude message that would come in handy while working one's way down the milking string. This sentiment is aimed at that handful of cows that like to dance their way through milking, occasionally removing the milking unit in the process.

Color that shirt a bright, attention-getting red, please.

"You're all wet" would be a most useful attitude shirt - if wearing it could just make it happen. Hopefully, this shirt would be appropriate about one day every two weeks through the upcoming planting and growing season, when we would ideally get something like two inches of steady, soaking rain on a bi-weekly basis.

Otherwise, we may be in for another season in which the timely tee-shirt for tractor and field work asserts: "Leave 'em in the dust."

"Dig it!" seems a real appropriate "attitude" shirt for us gardeners. In a bright, spring-like-green shade. With garden tools and a couple of colorful flowers and veggies. Or an alternative to that message might be "Hoe, hoe, hoe!"

Nest building seems to be getting underway in every direction, from the sparrows flitting around with long pieces of grass trailing behind to Mother Goose who regularly re-inspects the mid-pond nesting platform. Come to think of it, our backyard mother hen hasn't put in an appearance lately. Normally she'd be stalking out a cozy spot in the straw for a nest - except that the barn is nearly barren of straw, hay and everything else. She may have to rent a nest-site from a neighbor.

And for all our soon-to-nest feathered friends, we'd readily don a tee-shirt encouraging them to "Sit on it!"

Then there's a special-guest-award-attitude tee-shirt that we'd like to present to a deserving recipient.

Honored (well, that's debatable) recipient is our co-op field man and dairy inspector, who deserves this special recognition after his most recent routine inspection of our dairying operation. Part of the procedure is to check the water supply.

When he opened the door to the spring, he was a little surprised to meet face-to-face a "three-foot long snake curled up inside, that had no intention of leaving." A sort of resident "watch snake," it's made the springhouse vicinity its home for several years.

Lucky for us, the dairy farm inspection sheet lists no specific point deductions for close encounters of the reptile kind.

So to Jay Waybright, we award a "S(n)akes Alive!" tee-shirt for so calmly greeting our favorite springhouse security guard.

He'll need it if the rest of it's family (at least two more) all show up for his next inspection.

Restaurants Take Big Bite Out Of Milk Sales

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — An increase in meals eaten away from home has greatly contributed to a 25-year decline in total milk consumption, says a Penn State researcher.

"In 1965, consumers ate one meal in four outside the home," says Dr. Blair Smith, associate professor of agricultural economics. "Now we eat one meal in three away from home — an increase of about 33 percent.

"In restaurants, people don't always eat the same kinds of foods that they do at home. In particular, they are not nearly as likely to drink milk, a phenomenon that is costing the dairy industry an estimated loss in sales from 3.8 to 13.7 billion pounds of milk annually.

"At a price of $12.50 per hundredweight of milk, this translates into a loss in returns to dairy farmers of $475 million to $1.7 billion each year," he says.

Using data from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Smith analyzed national and statewide trends to determine the negative effect eating away from home has on milk consumption.

"Nationwide, per capita consumption of fluid milk declined 22 percent from 1965 to 1989," he says. "While we don't have national data on quantities of milk consumed outside the home, we do have estimates for Pennsylvania.

In 1965, the typical Pennsylvania consumer drank an estimated 38 pounds of fluid milk away from home. By 1989, that number had dropped to 30 pounds, a decline of 21 percent. "Thus, as the number of meals eaten outside the home increases, milk consumption per meal decreased even more sharply," says Smith.

In a 1987 Penn State national survey, close to 73 percent of 1,147 consumers reported they weren't as likely to drink milk when eating away from home. "While they offered a variety of reasons, the overall message conveyed was that they consider milk consumption an at-home activity," says Smith.

About 50 percent reported they simply preferred other beverages, and 16 percent said milk in restaurants wasn't cold enough, was too expensive, didn't include free refills or the kind of milk they wanted wasn't available.

Fifteen percent said they just didn't think of drinking milk when eating out, and 4 percent said they were reluctant to order milk or be seen drinking it in restaurants. The reamining responses varied widely.

"Twenty years ago, milk was econd only to coffee as Americans' perferred beverage," says Smith. "Although coffee consumption has since come down sharply, it still surpasses milk in popularity, and beer and soft drinks have relegated milk to fourth place."

Creative advertising and merchandising could help increase milk consumption outside the home, says Smith.

FDA Labeling To Change

YORK (York Co.) — Labels on more than 257,000 food products are in for a dramatic makeover this year. Among the important features:

Nutrition Labeling: The new labels must list, among other things, the percentage of calories derived from fat and the amount of saturated fat, cholesterol, complex carbohydrates, sugar and dietary fiber.

Serving Size: Portion sizes will be standardized to prevent manufacturers from making beneficial nutrition claims for unrealistically small servings.

Product Descriptors: Under the proposed rules, light foods must have one-third fewer calories than a comparable product; if the food is light only in color, taste or smell, the label must specify this.

Permitted Health Claims: High calcium which lowers the risk of osteoporosis, low sodium which reduces the risk of hypertension in those who are susceptible, and low fat which decreases the risk of heart disease and cancer.

Composting Making A Comeback

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Composting has been practiced by some gardeners and other plant-growers for hundreds of years. But recently, it's making a "comeback". This is at least in part the result of recent Pennsylvania legislation which limits materials which may go into landfills- and this is a good thing.

Vegetable gardeners, among all home owners, are probably in the best position to be composting - for two reasons: (1) They produce a type of plant residue which composts easily, and (2)They can mix the compost produced into their garden soils to improve its tilth and to add a bit of plant food.

Some farmers are getting into composting on a larger scale. They have at least two good reasons for doing these: (1)Many have strawey or sawdust-laden manures available- both of which furnish extra nitrogen which is usually needed to keep the composting process going well, and (2)They have lots of space in which to incorporate the compost as an excellent soil amendment.

On an even-bigger scale, I expect to soon see municipalities get into composting. This is already happening in New Jersey; and, I suspect, in some Pennsylvania municipalities, too.

Leaves (especially ground or shredded), grass clippings, vegetable garden refuse, and flower plant refuse are our best materials for composting. Woody-tissue plant parts such as prunings, wood chips made by a grinder-chipper-shredder, sawdust, or shredded bark do not compost as well. Food scraps from the kitchen may be used; but be careful. They may attract rats or cause offensive odors.

A couple of 3-sided wire on wood bins are good, cheap receptacles for home-composting. However, farmers merely make piles of the products to be composted. Various plastic receptacles may be purchased for very-small scale composting. (Some of these are on exhibit outside the Extension office at Chambersburg.). They have both advantages and disadvantages.

If you are going to be composting for the first time this year, keep several things in mind: Composting facilities are usually not all that attractive. Use proper landscaping to screen them from your neighbors' views. Wire "cages" usually "intrude" less on the landscape than plastic containers, or most wood receptacles. Where leaves are the major material to be composted, it will be necessary to add something else to improve the carbon-nitrogen ratio. (The nitrogen is needed to "feed" the bacteria which cause the plant parts to rot). Materials which will furnish nitrogen include grass clippings, manure, fruit wastes, legume or grass hay or silage, green alfalfa or clovers, high-nitrogen fertilizers, etc.

In addition to a nitrogen-containing material, add a small amount of soil at intervals while the pile is being formed. This "inoculates" the mass with the bacteria needed to cause the plant decomposition to occur.

Lastly, maintaining adequate moisture levels and frequent turning are needed. These, along with the use of finer-ground compostable materials, may reduce a two-year composting process into one of only 4-6 months.

While it isn't the greatest mulching material in the world, indeed, compost can be used as mulch (it stays on top of the soil surface- on shrubbery beds, etc.) It is better-used as a "soil amendment" (A material which is mixed into the top 6-10 inches of soil).

The Cooperative Extension office has lots of information available for would-be composters: Request the single-sheet leaflet "Composting For The Home Grounds". Request "Carbon-Nitrogen Ratios Of Various Organic Materials". Ask to talk to Environmental Agent, George Hurd. He has other information available- and especially materials for use by farmers or municipalities who want to get into composting. Be patriotic! Practice composting wherever possible. It's profitable. Besides it reduces pressure on our landfills.

"Microwave Magic"

By:
Carol Stark

What's cooking? SOUP. Soup supper for four. Knowing what you are going to eat tomorrow night means getting your recipes, ingredients and whatever else you are going to need in order tonight. One day before, microwave the brown bread.

SOUP SUPPER FOR FOUR- Cauliflower- Pepper Soup - Tomato Cottage Cheese Salad - Brown Bread and Butterscotch Apple Sundaes and Coffee.

Cauliflower-Pepper Soup

1 cup ½ inch flowerettes cauliflower (about ¼ pound)
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
1 cup hot water
6 ounces pasteurized process cheese loaf cut into cubes
½ cup half and half
1 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon
Dash of nutmeg
Dash of ground allspice
¼ cup dry white wine
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
Paprika

Place cauliflower and margarine in 2 quart casserole. Cover tightly and microwave on high (100 percent) until crisp tender or about 2 minutes.

Stir in water, cheese, half and half, bouillon, nutmeg and allspice. Cover tightly and microwave on medium high (70 percent) for about 3 minutes.

Stir in wine. Cover tightly and microwave until soup is hot, 2 to 4 minutes. Sprinkle green pepper and paprika over soup.

Brown Bread

1 cup buttermilk
½ cup all purpose or rye flour
½ cup whole wheat flour (not stone ground)
½ cup oatmeal
⅓ cup molasses
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup raisins

Beat all ingredients except raisins in 3½ quart bowl on low speed, scraping bowl constantly, 30 seconds. Beat on medium speed, scraping bowl constantly, 30 seconds longer. Stir in raisins. Pour 1/2 of batter about 1 cup into greased 2 cup measure. Cover tightly and microwave on medium (50 percent) for 3 minutes; rotate measure 1/2 turn. Microwave until no longer doughy, 2 to 4 minutes longer. Let stand 5 minutes; unmold. Repeat with remaining batter. Serve with margarine or softened cream cheese if desired.

Note: Brown Bread is best served warm.

Butterscotch Apple Sundaes

6 medium cooking apples
⅓ cup packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons margarine
3 tablespoons water
cinnamon or vanilla ice cream

Place all ingredients except ice cream in 2 quart casserole. Cover tightly and microwave on high (100 percent) 4 minutes; stir. Cover and microwave until apples are almost tender when pierced with fork, 4 to 6 minutes longer; stir. Cover and let stand 5 minutes. Serve over ice cream.

Proper lime application can increase your dry weather yield

You can't control the weather, but you can increase your dry weather yield by controlling soil fertility with proper lime application. Fall and early winter lime application corrects soil pH, restores vital nutrients, and makes your fertilizer more effective in preparation for spring planting.

Get A Sweet Start On Easter Candy Making

These candies were made by Mrs. Robert Wenger of southern Lancaster County. Look for a feature story on her candy making in next week's issue of Lancaster Farming.

Remember the fun you had as a child helping your mother make candy?

When you became old enough to clean up, you probably did not enjoy candy making as much because it is a messy, sticky job.

Today, thanks to the microwave, candy making is much easier. Many recipes no longer require standing over a hot steaming double broiler stirring endlessly. Now chocolate can be melted in the microwave in a few seconds. And, the good news is that it tastes delicious.

Some of the recipes include an ingredient called invert sugar, which is a combination of half glucose and half fructose to produce a sugar sweeter than sucrose. It is a thick, sticky syrup that is more soluble in water than sucrose and less likely to crystallize. It is also used to prevent foods from drying out.

Unfortunately, invert sugar is not sold in many stores. One place that we did find it is at the Cake, and Kandy Emporium, Rt. 72 and 2019 Miller Rd., East Petersburg, PA 17520, (717) 569-5728.

CREAMY EASTER EGGS

3 tablespoons invert sugar
⅓ cup chopped candied cherries and pineapple
½ cup water
⅓ cup chopped nuts
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 cups sugar
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons marshmallows
Dipping chocolate

In a small pan, boil invert sugar, fruits, and nuts for 2 to 3 minutes, drain. Reserve liquid. Combine liquid, sugar, water, and corn syrup in 2-quart pan. Cover tightly, bring to a boil. Uncover and cook to 250 degrees. Pour onto marble slab and cool to lukewarm. Work with a spatula until it is opaque. Add vanilla and marshmallow. Paddle until creamy. Add fruit and nuts, knead into candy. Form into eggs. Let stand several hours. Dip into chocolate.

CRISPY PEANUT BUTTER EGGS

2 cups peanut butter (cream or chunky)
1 pound confectioners' sugar
3 cups rice crispy cereal
¼ cup soft butter

Combine ingredients and mix with your hands until you hear the rice crispy cereal crunch. Shape on a teaspoon or a tablespoon depending upon the size of egg you want. Melt the following ingredients in the top of a double boiler:

1 large bar chocolate or 4 ounces German sweet chocolate
1 6-ounce package chocolate bits
½ bar paraffin

Mix together until smooth, remove from heat, and dip eggs. Place the eggs on wax paper to cool. Makes about 3 dozen.

York Co. Dairy Princess

FAST PRALINES

1 package butterscotch or other pie filling mix
1½ cups pecan halves
1 cup sugar, granulated
½ cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon butter

In a heavy non-stick saucepan, place all ingredients and heat until it comes to a boil. When mixture comes to a boil, stir constantly for 3 more minutes while boiling. Remove from heat and beat until thick and shiny. Drop by tablespoon on waxed paper on a non-stick pan. Cool until firm. Remove from paper. Serve. Variation: substitute peanuts or pecans.

PEANUT BUTTER EGGS

3½ cups confectioners' sugar
1½ cups peanut butter
4 ounces cream cheese, softened
½ cup margarine, softened
½ teaspoon vanilla

Use hands to mix together all ingredients. Shape into eggs. Chill until firm. Dip in melted coating chocolate.

SUGARED MARSHMALLOW BUNNYS AND CHICKS

¼ cup water
3½ tablespoons plain gelatin
¼ cup water
1¼ cups sugar
¾ cup invert sugar
3/8 cup light corn syrup
½ teaspoon vanilla
Colored sugar

Soak gelatin in ¼ cup water. In a pan, combine ¼ cup water, sugar, and invert sugar. Heat, but do not boil; pour into gelatin, beat slowly. Gradually add corn syrup and vanilla; beat on medium until fluffy, white, and doubled in bulk. Keep bowl in larger bowl of very hot water to keep from hardening. Butter Easter molds and spoon candy into them. Let set 1 hour. Remove from molds and roll in colored sugar. Dry several hours.

HOLIDAY CREAMS

1 cup butter
1½ cups confectioners' sugar
¼ cup cocoa
¼ cup cocoa
¼ teaspoon almond extract
½ cup chopped almonds
2 cups rolled oats, uncooked
Flaked or shredded coconut

Beat together butter and sugar until creamy; blend in cocoa and almond extract. Mix thoroughly. Stir in almonds and oats. Chill mixture until stiff, about 2 hours. Break off pieces of mixture, and roll into one-inch size balls. Roll in coconut to coat. Place in refrigerator to chill. Makes 3 dozen.

Variations: Substitute vanilla extract for almond extract.

Substitute walnuts for almonds.

Flavor filling with strawberry extract, etc.

Coat filling with dipping chocolate.

Jack Hohmeier

POWDERED SUGAR REPLACEMENT

2 cups nonfat dry milk powder
2 cups cornstarch
Powdered sugar substitute to equal 1 cup sugar

Combine ingredients in food processor or blender. Whip until well blended and finely powdered.

CHOCOLATE DROPS OR EASTER EGGS

3 cups sugar
¾ cup light corn syrup
½ cup water
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, corn syrup, and water in saucepan. Heat, stirring until dissolved. Boil to soft boil stage 245 degrees. With a thin stream, pour hot syrup into beaten egg whites, continue beating into stiff peaks. Blend in vanilla. Cool slightly.

Shape into little balls or into eggs of desired sizes. Dip into melted coating chocolate. Cool on waxed paper. May decorate with icing as desired.

Leah Glick
Ronks

MOCK OPERA FUDGE

8 ounces cream cheese
¼ pound butter
Cream together, add:
2 pounds confectioners' sugar

Roll into balls, place in freezer until firm and dip in chocolate made with the following ingredients:

12-ounces semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 tablespoon shortening
2 tablespoons paraffin

Melt together in top of double boiler without lid over low heat.

Many consumers believe that meat, particularly beef, is too expensive to eat on a regular basis. David Ivan of the Pennsylvania Beef Council said that it is not necessary to sacrifice the delicious taste of beef when you are watching your budget. The Beef Council has prepared six Beef Budget Stretchers fact sheets with economical recipes and tips for shopping, storage, and cookery suggestions.

Did you know that when chuck or round steak is on sale, it may cost less then pre-cut stew meat? Save dollars by cutting your own strips of beef or cubes. Other suggestions include placing beef steak in the freezer for 1 hour or until partially frozen for easier slicing. Do not cook strips from round steak too long or they will be tough. To find the leanest beef cuts, look for the word round or loin on the label.

If you would like this packet of information, send your name and address with your request to the Pa. Beef Council, 4714 Orchard St., Harrisburg, PA 17109.

LENTIL AND BEEF STEW

1 to 1½ pounds beef stew meat, cubed
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
½ teaspoon pepper
4 teaspoons instant beef bouillon granules
4 cups water
1 tablespoon chili powder
15½-ounce can tomatoes, chopped
1½ cups dry lentils. 1 cup onion, finely chopped
2 cups carrots, diced

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Put vegetable oil and pepper in large skillet or pan, place beef in pan and brown meat, drain off fat. Place beef bouillon granules, water, chili powder and undrained tomatoes in a large pan or Dutch oven and cover with lid or foil.

Bring the mixture to a boil, and bake in the oven for 1 hour. Keep it covered. Add carrots, lentils, and onion, bake for another 45 minutes or until the lentils are tender. Add a little more water if the stew gets too thick. When cooking is complete, season with salt and pepper as desired.

BAKE IT RIGHT

If the cake gets too brown or the crust on the bread is too light, do not be too quick to blame the cook or the oven. Baking problems often can be traced to the type of bakeware that was used.

As interest in baking increases, it becomes more important for people to understand the role the right bakeware plays in creating a successful culinary delight. For example, many people are not aware that bakeware with a non-stick surface requires a lower oven temperature than those without this advantage.

When a light crust is desired, aluminum is a good choice as it has excellent heat conductive qualities. Other pluses include the fact that it is rust proof and light-weight. However, since aluminum does not hold and disperse heat as well as steel, items need to be watched carefully during baking so they do not burn.

Aluminized steel bakeware is a top choice of commercial bakers. While it has the heat conductive and rust-proof qualities of aluminum, the addition of steel provides superior heat retention, which means that baked goods are much less likely to burn.

Stainless steel bakeware is prized for its easy care, durability and rust- proof surface. Cosmetically, it does not scratch and stays shiny-looking longer. However, it is the worst heat conductor of any of the commonly used metals.

Cast iron conducts heat moderately well. It also retains heat for a long time which makes it great for baking crusty breads. However, cakes and muffins that are baked in cast iron may get too heavy and dark on the outside. Steel bakeware can be coated with tin or with porcelain. Because it is durable and possesses excellent inherent baking qualities, tin-plated steel is used for many commercial baking utensils. A non-stick coating will hasten the baking process. However, care must be taken not to scratch the surface or it will rust. Porcelain provides a harder layer of protection. However, it does not offer the advantage of a non-stick surface. Other drawbacks of a porcelain coating are moderate heat conductivity and poor crusts on bread.

Peach Leaf Curl

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — This rather-serious fungus disease of peach tree leaves is usually controlled by a late-fall fungicide spray by commercial fruitgrowers. Some backyard fruitgrowers have learned to apply such a spray in the fall too - when about 90 percent of the leaves have fallen from the tree.

Peach and nectarine tree owners who did not get this protective spray applied last fall should do so just as soon as air temperature and soil conditions (should not be too wet) permit. To be effective, a spring peach-leaf-curl spray must be applied BEFORE the buds start to swell. Backyard growers should use copper sulfate plus spray lime (Bordeaux) at the rate of 5 teaspoonfuls of copper sulfate and 7 tablespoonfuls of spray lime per 2.5 gallons of water. If a ready-mixed "Bordeoux" is purchased, use it at the recommended label rate. In most cases, it will be desirable to add one cupful of "spray oil" to this 2.5-gallon mixture. This will be of great help in controlling scale insects, mites, and aphids a bit later in the season.

Peach leaf curl is that disease which causes peach or nectarine tree leaves to become distorted, rough, thick and fleshy, sometimes red in color- and, eventually drop from the tree. While much-smaller secondary leaves will then be formed on the tree- the damage will have been done! The fruits will be much smaller in size. The tree will be weaker. If peach-leaf curl affects your trees, be sure to "over-thin". That is, when the developing fruits are about hickory-nut size, pull all of them off except for one fruit spaced about every 10 inches on the limb. (Normal thinning is to "space" the fruits about 6 inches apart on the limb.)

Commercial growers who did not get a leaf curl spray applied last fall should use Bravo 720, Ferbam 76WP, or Ziram at the recommended label rates- as soon as weather forecasts and conditions permit. Oil or Lorsban may be added to provide an insecticide.

Benlate For Homeowners' Use

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — According to Dr. Win Hock, Penn State pesticide coordinator, "DuPont has withdrawn all ornamental registrations for Benlate. This includes homeowner as well as commercial products. Existing stocks of the Benolate WP (wettable powder) can be used until supplies are exhausted."

This has several implications, since Benlate (benomyl) has been widely-used by rose growers, as well as by other home grounds keepers, for use on ornamental plants for fungus disease control. "Ornamental", in this case, refers to flowers, roses, shrubs, and trees which are normally used for beautification of home grounds.

"Until supplies are exhausted", to me, means that supplies which are presently sitting on garden center shelves, or in farm supply stores - and which bear a label for use on ornamental plants - may still be purchased and used on ornamental plants. Benlate WP is normally packaged in 2-pound bags which sell for $35-$40. It's expensive, but, "A little goes a long way" because of its low rate for mixing.

Another possibility: Benomyl (the generic name for Benlate), MAY continue to be available. Benomyl is usually packaged in 2,4, or 8-ounce packages- cheaper than a 2-pound bag, but usually much more expensive on a per-ounce basis. My guess is that these WP formulations will disappear too.

Benlate DF (dry flowable) formulations should not be used under any circumstances. Remaining stocks of Benlate DF are to be returned to dealers for refunds.

As far as I know, Benlate WP will continue to be available to commercial producers for use on some fruits and vegetables, since these are not ornamental plants.

ANSWER — Maryanne Goheen, Morgantown, requested a recipe for red cabbage. Thanks to May Ozimek, Flemington, N.J., for sending a recipe.

GERMAN RED CABBAGE

4 tablespoons bacon fat
1 onion, chopped
2 pounds red cabbage, shredded
2 tart apples, peeled, diced
1 teaspoon caraway seeds
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup dry red wine
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons cider vinegar

Melt bacon fat. Add onion, saute 2 minutes. Add sugar. Stir thoroughly. Stir in cabbage, apples, vinegar, caraway, nutmeg, and wine. Cook over low heat, covered for 10 minutes. Add ½ cup water. Cook with lid cracked for 30 to 40 minutes. Salt and pepper. Stir occasionally.

ANSWER — Grace Barley, Conestoga, requested a recipe for a lemon pudding sponge cake. Thanks to Iva Reitz, Lancaster, and others for sending recipes.

Lemon Pudding Sponge Cake

2 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
Juice of 2 lemons
Grated rind of 1 lemon
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
4 tablespoons butter, melted

Beat egg whites, set aside. Beat egg yolks and sugar together. Add milk, lemon juice, rind, flour, baking powder, and butter. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into 1-quart greased baking dish. Set in a shallow pan of water and bake at 350 degrees until firm and brown for approximately 35 to 40 minutes. Cool completely.

ANSWER — A Lancaster County reader would like recipes for making spinach noodles, tomato noodles or tomato macaroni and dark brown noodles made from whole-grain flour. Here is a recipe for spinach noodles from Eva Southard, Glen Rock. If you have recipes for tomato noodles or whole-grain noodles, please send them.

Spinach Noodles

2 cups flour
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup spinach, cooked and pureed

Sift the flour into a large bowl. Break the eggs in a bowl and beat slightly; add the salt and mix with the four. Add the puree by a teaspoonful at a time until it forms a stiff dough. Sprinkle the bread board lightly with flour and knead the dough on the board 5 minutes.

Roll dough 1/16-inch thickness. Cover and let dough dry about 30 minutes. Roll the sheet of dough like a jelly roll, cut in strips ¼ -inch wide or as desired. Let the noodles dry until nearly crisp. Store noodles in a covered container.

ANSWER — Mrs. Gerald Lehman, Mifflintown, requested a recipe for filled donuts that uses potatoes in the dough and yields about 100. Thanks to Sylvia Troyer, Hartly, Del., for sending a recipe.

Mount Mary College Doughnuts

1 quart boiled skim milk
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup mashed potatoes

Let cool. Add:

6 egg yolks
3 packages yeast
13 cups flour

Let rise 1 hour in warm place. Roll out, cut. Let rise 1½ to 2 hours in a warm place. Dip. Fry in deep fat. Dip while warm in glaze mixture of confectioners' sugar and water. Slit doughnut halfway, fill with cream, and close.

Cream Filling:

1 cup egg whites
¾ cup milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ cup flour
½ pound shortening
3½ pounds confectioners' sugar

Beat egg whites until stiff. Set aside. Combine sugar and shortening. Add vanilla. Alternately add flour and milk. When mixed well, fold in eggs. Fill doughnuts.

ANSWER — Barbara Bucher, Harleysville, requested a recipe for "Boova Shenkle." Thanks to Carol Ann Fedora, Richland; Priscilla Grube, Mohrsville; Shirley Womer, Middleburg; and Violet Freeh, Riegelsville; for sending recipes. "Boova Shenkle," they say, is also called Boy's Legs. I have no idea why.

Boova Shenkel

3 pounds stewing beef
2 teaspoons salt
12 medium size potatoes, thinly sliced
3 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup minced onion
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 eggs, beaten
2½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons lard
2 tablespoons shortening
8 to 10 tablespoons cold water

Cut meat into pieces and place in Dutch oven. Cover with water, add salt, and simmer for 2 hours. Cook potatoes until tender; drain. Mix in butter, onion, parsley, salt, and pepper. Add eggs and beat mixture lightly. Set aside. Sift together the flour, baking powder, and ½ teaspoon salt. Cut in the lard and 2 tablespoons shortening with a pastry blender. Add water, using only enough to hold dough together. Work quickly; do not over handle. Shape into a ball. Using one-half of the dough, roll on a floured surface into a 10-inch round and ⅛ -inch thick. With a knife or spatula, loosen dough from surface whenever sticking occurs; lift dough and sprinkle flour underneath. Spread one-half of the potato filling on one-half of each round. Fold dough in half over filling. Press edges together with tines of fork to seal. Set aside. Repeat process for remaining half of dough. Carefully drop the two filled pastries into the boiling broth with meat. Cover and simmer about 25 minutes. Arrange the Boova Shenkel on a platter and pour hot sauce over pastries. Serve immediately. Serves 8 to 10.

Sauce: Heat 3 tablespoons butter. Add 1 cup diced dry bread; brown on all sides. Stir in ½ cup milk.

SEMI-SWEET DIPPING CHOCOLATE

1 cup nonfat dry milk powder
½ cup cocoa
2 tablespoons paraffin wax
½ cup water
1 tablespoon liquid shortening
1 tablespoon liquid sugar replacement

Combine milk powder, cocoa, and wax in food processor or blender. Blend to soft powder. Pour into top of double boiler and add water, stirring to blend. Add liquid shortening. Place over hot, not boiling water, and cook and stir until wax pieces are completely dissolved and mixture is thick, smooth, and creamy. Remove from heat and stir in liquid sugar replacement. Let cool slightly. Dip candies according to recipe. Shake off excess chocolate. Place on lightly greased waxed paper and allow to cool completely.

Yields 1 cup.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Priscilla Grube, Mohrsville, requested a recipe for homemade hot dogs. Thanks to Sandy Hartman, Westfield, who sent a recipe that she said is a long process but one her family enjoys.

Homemade Hot Dogs
100 pounds

10 pounds ice water
4 ounces cure
12 ounces paprika
8 ounces ground mustard
4 ounces ground black pepper
2 ounces ground celery
1 ounce mace or corriander
1 ounce garlic powder
2½ pounds salt
3½ pounds non-fat dry milk
8 ounces dextrose
60 pounds beef trimmings
40 pounds pork trimmings

Grind all the meat together using a plate with very fine holes. After grinding, mix all the ingredients with water and meat. Mix for 2 or 3 minutes or until all ingredients are evenly distributed with the meat. After mixing, pack into stuffer using 24 to 26 mm size lamb casing to stuff hot dogs.

Smoking or cooking:

After stuffing, hang hot dogs on smoke house sticks properly spaced, making sure they do not touch each other. Allow hot dogs to hang (about 1 hour) in room temperature when using natural casing or 30 minutes when using synthetic casings.

Smoke by placing into preheated smokehouse and dry for approximately 30 minutes. Apply heavy smudge for approximately 1½ hours and gradually rise smokehouse temperature to 165 degrees and smoke until internal temperature of 152 degrees is obtained.

After smoking, the hot dogs should be quickly showered with cool water for about 10 minutes or until internal temperature is reduced to 100 degrees. After showering with cold water, allow hot dogs to chill and dry at room temperature.

Chilling:

Hot dogs should be placed in 50 degree or cooler temperature and chill until product has reached an internal temperature of 50 degrees.

ANSWER — Karen Auernheimer, Lederach, requested a recipe to pickle cucumbers so they taste like Heinz Hamburger Dills and Heinz Dill Pickles. Thanks to May Ozimek, Flemington, N.J., for sending a recipe.

Hamburger Dills

4 pounds cucumbers
4½ cups water
1 quart vinegar
6 tablespoons pickling salt
16 heads fresh dill
Mustard seeds
16 peppercorns

Wash cukes. Slice off ends. Cut into ¼ -inch slices

Combine water, vinegar, and salt in a large pot. Bring to a boil. Pack cucumbers in 8 hot pint jars. Add 2 dill heads, ½ teaspoon mustard seed and 2 peppercorns to each jar. Pour boiling liquid over cucumbers, filling to ¼ -inch from top. Adjust lids.

Process 15 minutes in boiling water bath.

Tree Fruit Production Guides

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Valuable booklets, designed for commercial tree-fruit growers, are now available at the Franklin County Cooperative Extension Office. The price is $12. Sorry, we cannot mail them. Copies may be picked up weekdays between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Growers who receive the "Fruit Times" newsletter from Extension Fruit Agent, Bill Kleiner, will soon receive instructions on how to order copies directly from Penn State University. Kleiner will also have copies for sale at the April 14 fruitgrowers' meeting (See "Coming Events").

Backyard and small-scale fruitgrowers are reminded that a new "guide" is also available for them. The cost is $7.50. It contains over 100 pages of spray schedules, recommended varieties, planting techniques, pruning and fertilization recommendations - and ALL kinds of information to help one be successful in growing 14 different fruits. It includes apples, apricots, blueberries, cherries, currants, elderberries, gooseberries, grapes, nectarines, peaches, plums, raspberries, and strawberries. Sorry, these are not mailable, either; but they can be picked up at the Extension Office.

Poultry Queen, Mrs. Hen, Chicks Visit Classroom

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEFFSVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Students at Neff Elementary School applauded when Lancaster County Alternate Poultry Queen Marlene Enck juggled chickens, eggs, and balls while telling the kids about the poultry industry.

As Marlene juggled eggs, she told the kids, "The average American eats 280 eggs a year. You can have them softboiled, hardboiled, or oops... (Marlene missed an egg that flew into the audience) scrambled."

The students gasped and thought they were about to have scrambled egg all over them, but fortunately Marlene was using plastic eggs.

Marlene asked, "Which came first... the chicken or the egg?"

A student answered, "the chicken."

Marlene said, "That answer is correct because according to the Bible in Genesis 1:19, 20, God created the fowls on the fourth day."

Students at Neff Elementary School in Neffsville watch as Mrs. Hen and her baby chicks arrive for the Ag in the Classroom presentation.

Poultry and eggs are good foods that help boys and girls grow. An egg has 75 calories with 5 grams of fat.

"You could eat only a bite of a candy bar for that amount of calories and fat," Marlene said, "and you wouldn't have the nutrition that eggs give."

Some people believe that eggs are high in cholesterol.

"You hear a lot of people talking about cholesterol, but did you know that an egg has 22 percent lower cholesterol than previously thought and egg whites have no cholesterol at all? Marlene asked.

Marlene, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Enck of Quarryville helps her grandparents by milking cows and caring for 60,000 chickens.

"The chicken house is longer than a football field," Marlene told the fourth graders. And, Lancaster County chickens lay enough eggs to feed four million people a year."

There are different kinds of chickens. Some chickens are called broilers. They are raised for meat. Those called layers lay eggs. Hens are mother chickens and roosters are daddy chickens.

Marlene's friend, Mrs. Hen, dressed in a sunbonnet and apron and carrying a basket of baby chicks accompanied Marlene for the Ag in the Classroom presentation. Students had a chance to win prizes by correctly answering questions about eggs and chickens.

Each student received a balloon and a pamplet with recipes to try at home.

Ag in the Classroom programs are held each year to teach children about agriculture. The goal of the program is to help students understand the source of their food supply and the role of agriculture in the total economy and society. The program was developed by the combined efforts of the Department of Education, the Department of Agriculture, and the Pennsylvania Farmers Association. The sessions are conducted by volunteer farmers and those working in an agriculture-related industry.

These students are delighted to touch the downy fuzz of a baby chick and listen to its peeping.

PDPPS Teaches Targeting For Dairy Promotions

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — What beverage do you believe competes most heavily for consumers' usage?

Pepsi? Coke?

Wrong. It's bottled water.

The bottled water industry has grown faster than any other competitor according to Nadine Houck of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess & Promotion Services, Inc.

Houck addresses target marketing in the six Spring District Meetings held across the state for county dairy promotional committees.

The workshops focus on teaching county dairy promotion committees how to entice people to drink more milk and use dairy products through dairy promotions. The workshops also offer participants a chance to share ideas and requests.

In the workshop on target marketing, Houck said, "Consumers choose products for five different reasons: convenience, price, habit, image, and taste."

To entice consumers to drink more milk, the dairy industry has released several TV commercials. These spots are targeted toward Baby Boomers, who respond to advertising that is stylish and sophisticated.

Mim Kauffman, left, and Julie Herr of Lancaster County listen as Mrs. Sterner, center, of Bucks-Montgomery Counties, tells of the need to develop more low-fat dairy recipes.

But do they really work? workshop participants asked.

"Yes," said Brian Ross of PDPPS.

He said that commercials are tested by an independent firm, which chose a group of people and show them a milk commercial with at least 10 other types of commercials.

The test group is questioned to find out what they remember about the commercials. The milk commercial "You're not a kid anymore," was shown to be more effective than any other commercial during the test commercials.

A workshop participant who attended a Weight Watchers' meeting reported that the members had been asked what TV commercial makes them feel most like eating while watching TV. The most mentioned response was milk commercials.

Surveys show that 90 percent of the U. S. population view milk as a healthy product although concern for cholesterol and fat content in milk is increasing.

While soft drinks and bottled water are consumed more often in public than milk, surveys show that more milk is consumed in homes than any other beverage.

Cynthia Kereluk, spokesperson for the dairy industry, was the featured speaker for the day-long workshops. Cynthia, who teaches areobic fitness on TV, tapes more than 65 shows a year that are shown in five countries.

"I may not always be saying 'drink milk,' but the audience is getting that message because I always have a glass of milking setting nearby and sip from it," Cynthia said.

More stability, less spillback

New Holland L-550 Series skid-steer loaders handle loads with greater efficiency. Model L-550 loaders are highly maneuverable, and can lift up to 1,700 pounds (SAE). Their longer wheelbase lends greater stability and the exclusive boom lift linkage lets you put the load right where you want it. A faster boom cycle time speeds up your loading and unloading jobs. High performance is a standard with New Holland loaders. Stop in and run one today.

Cynthia told how being named Miss Canada launched her career. She believes that dairy princesses are often influenced in career choices by the experience of being a spokesperson for local dairy promotion.

Dick Norton of Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association explained MAMMA's goal to increase sale and consumption of milk and dairy products and the industry's methods to do so with the same budget they had since 1984.

MAMMA has found that combining milk advertising with other products appears to be the most effective both by costs and sales. Their partnership with General Mills, Hershey, Heinz, Ore Ida, Nabisco and other industries have proved to be beneficial for the companies involved so this joint relationship will probably continue.

One of the most effective advertisements for milk, Norton believes is the fitness calendar and booklet featuring Cynthia Kereluk. MAMMA has distributed 4.5 million copies of the Better Body Book and 830,000 copies of the Better Body Calendar. Norton said, "We get 300 to 400 letters a week asking about nutrition, milk, and exercise in response to the book and calendar. We've been hanging up posters in stores for years and never got a letter."

Cal Ripkin of the Baltimore Orioles has gotten the nickname "Milkman," which Norton said works to promote milk. Ripkin's reputation for no long term injuries or broken bones is attributed to drinking milk.

"When Ripkin comes to bat, fans in the stands chant, "Drink your milk."

Norton surmises the chant inspires many fans to do likewise.

Norton told participants, "The Real seal has now exceeded the Good Housekeeping seal as being the most recognized symbol."

Paul Nichols, representing American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, reported on the milk industry's goal to give a central uniform message for milk through TV and radio spots and not to concentrate on dairy name brands.

Jan Harding updated participants on the requirements for dairy princesses, dairy maids, and ambassadors.

In the future, dairy princesses must have a prepared speech for adult audiences as well as a skit for school age children prepared for the dairy princess seminar.

Harding also reported that the Pennsylvania Holstein Milk Promotion Committee is sponsoring a contest with cash awards up to $150.

"It's an excellent opportunity for groups to share promotional ideas as well as be recognized for promotional efforts," she said.

Summer Abroad Program For Teens

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.)— Are you the type of student who would like to spend your summer studying, traveling, or living with a family abroad?

Nacel Cultural Exchange is now accepting applications for their summer abroad programs in France, Spain, Germany, Russia, Ivory Coast, and Ireland. You must be between the ages of 13 and 18 to participate in the programs.

The first session begins in early July and the second session in late July. Students have the option of participating ion a three-week program or a four-week program.

"The family homestay programs are intended to give students the opportunity to live the culture and speak the language every day," according to Deborah Morrow, area coordinator for Nacel Cultural Exchanges. "A family homestay is a meaningful way to learn first-hand about everyday life by becoming a part of a family." Optional sightseeing tours are also available.

Nacel also offers summer study programs in Ireland, France, Spain, and the Soviet Union.

For more information about Nacel programs, call Deborah Morrow (717) 361-8131, area coordinator located in Elizabethtown. You may also call toll free 1-800-622-3553, Dr. Dominick or Dany-Noele DeFilippis, state coordinators.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster Society of Farm Women No. 8 met on March 11 at the home of Mary Anne Spangler in Marietta.

Fred Straub, guest speaker, gave a talk on "Home Safety".

The April 8th meeting will be a luncheon at the Elizabethtown Fire Hall at noon.

Lancaster Society 15

Lancaster Farm Women Society #15 met at the home of Trudy Bard, Kirkwood, on March 19. Twenty-one members responded to roll call by telling "What You Collect." The president, Arlene Maule, introduced Diane Windle, who talked about "Restoration and Antiques."

Happy Birthday was sung for members Arlene Herhey, Nancy Shoemaker and Nancy Lefever. Invitations were given to be guests of #20 on April 2 at Quarryville Memorial Chruch and #8 on April 8 at Mt. Joy. The roll call for the April 15 meeting will be to bring food for the Fodo Bank. There will be a program on Community Action.

Lancaster Society 18

Lancaster Society of Farm Women #18 met at First Presbyterian Church, Strasburg on March 21, entertained by Igerna Warner.

Frank Chester, attorney, spoke about "Wills with Loop Holes."

Ways and Means chairman reported a bus trip, May 12, to Wintheur, Delaware.

The next meeting on April 25, will be held at the home of Verna Noll, Steinman Court, Lancaster.

Lancaster Society 27

Tuesday, March 17, Farm Women #27 met at the home of Ruth Nissley. After the business meeting, Lois Nohrenhold who is blind, and had her seeing eye dog with her, presented a program.

Lois lost her sight within 5 weeks from a rare type of glaucoma. She loves to go to meetings and tell about her experience and encourage people to treat others like people no matter what the disability.

Lois said when you lose your sight you lose perception and balance too and have to learn to adjust to that. She went to the Seeing Eye School in Morrison, New Jersey for a month where she was introduced to a seeing-eye dog and they learned how to work together. A blind person knows when to cross a street by the sound of the traffic - however, the dog can alert her to dangers she can't see.

When she takes Orco for a walk she slips a plastic bag over her hand - they never leave doggie-doo along the path.

Lois wants to encourage people to be all they can be. She holds the job of being coordinator for the volunteers for multiple sclerosis. She answers the phone, often talking to discouraged people who have MS, she has been there & they know she understands.

To help with her job Lois needed special equipment which she was able to get partially government funded. She needs to keep up to date on a lot of printed material and has a scanner which takes printed material, puts it through a computer which reads it to her. As yet, there is no machine that can read hand written material.

If you are interested in scheduling Lois for a meeting you can reach her at (717) 665-5382.

At the next meeting, April 9, members will be entertained by Society 21.

Berks Society 1

Berks Society 1 of Farm Women held the March meeting at Pauline Hartman's home. She read a reading from "New Beginning". Twelve members responded to roll call with an answer to the question, If there were olympics for farming, what would you win a gold medal for?

Members will serve food at the Delp Estate Sale, Douglassville, Pa., April 11.

The next meeting will be held at Pauline Heffelfinger's place.

The Berks volunteer dinner will be held April 23. Members donated canned goods for Berks County Food Bank.

Berks Society 11

Berks County Farm Women Group 11 met at the home of Dorinda Lingle. It looked more like a "Slumber Party" than a farm women meeting, maybe because everyone was to wear pajamas or pay a fine. No one paid a fine.

After devotions, pledge and a song lead by Dorinda, members answered roll call by naming a favorite game show.

Wendy Lingle audited the treasurer's books and found them in order. Members donated the food bank items that will be taken to board meeting. Plans were finalized for the fashion show at Boscov's on March 23. Members held a silent auction on an item brought by Jean Erb.

Farmers, Businesspersons Pair Off

YORK (York Co.) — For two days during the months of April and May, six area farmers will be exchanging boots for wingtips while their partners, six area business persons, don overalls instead of power ties. Why are these twelve people changing their attire? They are preparing for the Eighth Annual Ag Day Exchange Program sponsored by the Agri-business Committee of the York Area Chamber of Commerce.

The program is designed to foster a mutual understanding between the agricultural and business communities. Participants will have an opportunity to spend two days with their partner, a day on the farm and a day in the office, experiencing and appreciating the others profession.

Each exchange will take place on a day that is mutually beneficial for the partners; all exchanges will be completed by the middle of this May. The following men and women participating in the 1992 program include:

- Keith Basehore, York Area Chamber of Commerce, exchanging with James Bailey, hog farm.
- Robert Gingerich, York County Solid Waste & Refuge Authority, exchanging with David Sprenkle, III, grain and beef farm.

York Society 7

York Society of Farm Women #7 met at the home of Carrie Hedrick with Louise Hundle as cohostess.

Fifteen members were present and each answered roll call by naming their favorite cold weather soup.

The youth entertainment, was a saxaphone duet, presented by Alicia Hundle and Gina Hays.

Gladys Glatfelter and Edna Brothers each recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversaries.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Donna Hoover, on April 8th at 6:00 p.m.

York Society 26

York County Farm Women 26 met at the home of Clara Wilt recently. Fourteen members and one guest were present.

Mr. and Mrs. David Moyer from the York County Conservation Society showed slides on the Indian Steps Museum at Airville, Wills School on Route 124 and the Ulmer-Root-Haines Memorial Park which is a part of Bonham Wake-Robin Wildlife Sanctuary.

The next meeting will be on April 14, at the home of Luna Kohler.

York Shepherds Learn Shearing Techniques

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

SEVEN VALLEYS (York Co.)— A flock of 60 ewes went to school last week — and lost their coats in the interest of learning.

The ewes are the breeding flock of Ray and Ann Meyer, Seven Valleys R2, who hosted the York County Sheep and Wool Producer's first sheep shearing school on March 27 to 28. The Friday evening session focused on technique and equipment, while shearers spent several hours Saturday gaining hands-on experience. Limited to a dozen students, the class spurred enough interest to start a waiting list for a repeat session next year.

Teams of novice shearers and assistants practiced proper holding and clipper techniques during the York County Sheep and Wool Producers shearing school.

"It's to teach the proper methods of shearing a sheep," said the group's vice president Ed Keeny, York. "At least half of those attending have never sheared before or at least never had any instruction."

On carpet pieces and canvases spread over a straw base in the Meyers' barn and roofed, outside pens, teams of students and assistants practiced the proper way to hold a sheep and the most efficient clipper strokes.

"You need to stay behind them and stay close to them," advised Dr. Emily Leffel, retired University of Maryland sheep specialist, who taught the school. Dr. Leffel had planned to attend the session as an assistant to shearing teacher Dave Green, but stepped into the solo teaching role when Green became ill.

Dr. Emily Leffel, retired University of Maryland sheep specialist, offered hands-on shearing instruction to 4-Her Mike Olson.

While world-champion shearers can fleece a sheep of its coat in a mere half-minute, Keeny estimated thta most area professional shearers work at the rate of about 15 sheep per hour. He added, however, that numbers of professional shearers are diminishing in the area, and a main goal of the school was to teach younger people this specialized skill.

Three of the students were county 4-H sheep exhibitors, including the youngest shearer, Mike Olson of Dover. Olson, 16, sheared his first sheep last year, but wantd to improve his abilities.

"I want to learn to shear faster and better," Olson said, balancing a heavy ewe with one hand, while stroking his clipper through thick fleece with the other. "We have 40 ewes and my dad's getting a little tired of shearing them."

York Shepherds

By learning to do their own shearing, some of the participants hoped to save fees in the range of $3.50 to $4 per head, plus mileage or a set-up fee, charged by custom shearers.

"Wool is worth maybe 40 cents per pound, and it takes a good fleece to weigh 10 pounds, so at $4 per head you often won't evgen break even on shearing," noted Ed Keeny. But, for most breeds of sheep, he added, wool is really more of a by-product than a commodity.

Someone has to stomp the wool - and that someone was Matt, 7, and Andy, 4, Meyer, sons of shearing school hosts Ray and Ann Meyer. Fleeces sheared by the students filled a couple of the giant burlap wool sacks.

While shearing has traditionally been a spring chore for shepherds, increasing numbers of flock owners also shear in the fall. Ewes regrow adequate fleece for winter protection, but are cleaner for the early winter lambing season.

The York County Sheep and Wool Producers' Association has experienced rapid growth in recent years, with more than 100 members. Average size flock in the county, according to Keeny, is in the 15 to 20 ewe range.

One of the group's most popular events is the annual Sheep and Wool Festival, scheduled for April 11, at the York County 4-H Center. A wool show has stirred increasing interest, with 40 fleeces entered last year. Also on the schedule are a judging contest and sheep sale. And, new this year is a live carcass evaluation, followed later in the week by a hanging evaluation at Godfrey Brothers Meats near Loganville.

Under discussion by the shepherds' group are possible promotional events in area supermarkets to encourage consumers to try lamb on their menus. A food stand sponsored by the group at the Stewartstown Steam-O-Rama has been well-recieved in recent years, encouraging the Sheep and Wool Producers to work harder at cultivating a local taste for lamb.

More than a dozen of the group's members immediately put their skills to work following the school, in an impromptu gesture of neighborliness and goodwill. They relocated to the Glen Rock R2 farm of the Harlan Dehoff family; and in less than two hours, caught, sheared, and tied fleeces from the Dehoffs' flock of 50 ewes. Harlan Dehoff was recently diagnosed with leukemia.

Meanwhile, plans are already underway for a second annual shearing school, if hosts will open their flock shearing to novice students.

"We really appreciate the Meyers offering their farm and flock to host this school," Keeny achnowledged.

Steps To Control Gypsy Moths

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Spring is a season of rebirth — when perennials push their way up through the soil, when the bare branches of deciduous trees regain their greenery, when blossoms burst forth with wild abandon. Unfortunately, spring also brings the birth of a new generation of gypsy moth caterpillars — the most destructive of all tree insect pests.

Homeowners who wish to protect their trees from the voracious intruders will have to take matters into their own hands — literally.

The first line of defense, so to speak, involves wrapping susceptible trees with sticky barrier bands. These bands prevent gypsy moth caterpillars from crawling up tree trunks and into the tree tops where they feed on the foliage.

Sticky barrier bands, composed of tape at least 2-inches wide with a sticking agent applied to the outside, should be put on trees in early April, when the caterpillars start to hatch.

The bands must be pushed into the grooves of the bark to prevent the caterpillars from crawling underneath on their way up the trunk. Debris should be cleaned from the bands daily and additional sticking agent applied as needed.

Burlap bands provide an additional defense against gypsy moth caterpillars.

These bands, made of 12-inch-wide pieces of burlap or similar material, should be wrapped around tree trunks at least 6 inches higher than the sticky barrier bands. String fastened around the middle of the bands allows them to be folded in half, forming a double flap 6 inches wide.

"Burlap bands provide shelter for the larger caterpillars that crawl down from the foliage during the day to rest," Malinoski notes. "Homeowners should check the burlap bands at least once a day, destroying any caterpillars found in their folds."

A third control option is spraying. Neighborhood groups or citizen associations can hire commercial firms to spray blocks of property, a more effective approach than spraying individual trees from the ground.

The Cooperative Extension Service has several resources available for homeowners who want to learn the details of how to protect their trees from gypsy moth caterpillars.

The Gypsy Moth and the Homeowner (Fact Sheet 242) provides information on how to identify gypsy moths at all stages of their life cycle — from egg mass to adult moth. It also contains general information on control tactics.

A 10-minute VHS videotape, Homeowner's Guide to Gypsy Moth Control, includes general information on gypsy moths. It also shows when and where to look for and destroy egg masses and how to apply sticky barrier bands and burlap bands.

The videotape, which costs $11.95, is available from Extension's Video Resource Center at College Park; phone: (301) 405-4594.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

My husband seems to find more time to read than I do. When the "Readers Digest" comes, I know that he will have half of the articles read before I even open the magazine.

He was reading a pamphlet on apples in ancient times and suggested that I look at it. So one morming, after he went to the dairy farm to help, I did read it.

The Romans were interested in apple culture and one kind that they grew remains even today. During the Middle Ages the monks kept the growing of apple trees alive. During the reign of French kings their gardens had various fruit varieties that were propagated.

In England, during the 17th and 18th centuries the apple became the favorite fruit. They had many kinds of apples that were used for cider. Thomas Jefferson planted many French varieties in his orchard: Even George Washington, we are told, enjoyed pruning his apple trees at Mt. Vernon.

In 1904 there were 7,600 varicites of apples recorded. Some came from Russia, Denmark, and Turkey, each with their own distinctive flavor. In the 18th and 19th centuries many farmers planted seeds and had their own orchards. Today there are several places where a "museum orchard" is planted to try and preserve old varieties for future generations.

All of this talk of apples reminds me to use some dried ones that I have for "Schnitz un Knepp." This dish consists of a one kettle meal with ham, dried apples and dumplings that are dropping on top and allowed to steam.

Flexing Couple Relationship Muscles

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Are you engaged? Dating? Celebrating your 25th wedding anniversary? Remarried? or in a lont-term relationship? Are you interested in strengthening that realtionship? Then the "Couples' Roundtable" is for you.

Penn State Cooperative Extension and Bethany Counseling Ministry are sponsoring a series of workshops for couples who are interested in enhancing their relationship. The program runs for six weeks on Mondays starting April 6 through May 11 from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m., at Colonial Park United Methodist Church, 430 Colonial Road, Harrisburg.

Topics to be covered include: "Life Goes On" which deals with physical and emotional changes throughout the life cycle; "Effective Communication" and "Here's Hoping You're Coping" - a stress management workshop; Financial Management; Myer's Briggs Personality Type Indicator; and "Pillowtalk" which addresses sexuality of a couple. The final session "Smiling Through The Years" is an experiential session giving couples techniques and resources to strengthen their relationship throughout a lifetime. The cost of the six week session is $30 per couple. For more information and to register call the Penn State Cooperative Extension, Dauphin County Office at (717) 921-8803.

Perry County Wants Dairy Promoters

ELLIOTTSBURG (Perry Co.)— A search is underway for dairy princess, dairy ambassadors, and Dairy Miss candidates to represent Perry County's dairy industry.

A new Dairy Princess will be crowned at the annual Perry County Dairy Pageant, to be held 8 p.m., June 20, at the Perry County Extension Office Conference Room. The Dairy Princess, Dairy Amabassadors, and Dairy Miss will serve as goodwill ambassadors for the dairy industry to area agricultural and community activities.

Dairy princess candidates must have been 16 years old on January 1 and not reach their 24th birthday by December 31. They must live in Perry County and be the daughter of a dairy farmer, dairy farm manager, herdsman or dairy industry store. Candidates are also eligible if they own at least two dairy animals enrolled in a 4-H or FFA project prior to May 1.

The winner is expected to represent Perry County at the state training seminar in July, and the state pageant in September.

Candidates for Dairy Ambassadors must be at least 14 years of age as of January 1. Candidates must live in Perry County, and show an interest in promotion of the dairy industry.

Dairy Miss candidates must be between the ages of six and eight as of January 1, live in Perry County, and be the daughter of a dairy farmer or dairy farm employee.

Entry deadline for the Dairy Princess pageant is May 1. Entry forms and additional information is available from Patti McLaughlin, RD 1, Box 74P, Elliottsburg, (814) 582-4847, or the current Dairy Princess, Jennifer Hummel, 130 Cove Road, Duncannon, (814) 834-4578.

Farm Women Influence Julia Zahn's Home, Values

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — "A farm wife looks attractive, she lives in an attractively decorated home, and feeds her family nutritionally while instilling eternal values in her family," Julia Zahn said.

This petite woman with soft white hair and shining dark eyes, although never actually a farmer's wife considers herself a farm woman.

"We share the same values and the same love for rural living," she said.

The Society of Farm Women has influenced Julia's life so much that she said, "I believe I have Farm Women blood flowing through my veins."

Indeed, her mother, Barbara Moore, did what she could to see that the attributes of Farm Women were transmitted, if not through blood, through osmosis, to her daughter. Mrs. Moore helped organize the Society of Farm Women in Lancaster County, which grew to include more than a thousand members. A faithful supporter at Farm Women meetings, Mrs. Moore even attended a meeting the day that Julia was born. Julia grew up accompanying her mother to meetings, memories of many linger in Julia's mind.

"I remember one of the nicest activities was when the Farm Women held a Christmas program for the Moravian Manor Home," Julia said.

Each member brought her children and grandchildren to help entertain the guests by telling stories, reciting poems, and singing.

At this meeting, Julia remembers her grandmother, who had 12 children, recited the poem, "Which Shall It Be?" It was a poem about the possibility of giving one of her children to a childless couple and why she could not part with any of her children.

Many lasting. friendships were forged, when individual societies entertained other societies. It was an opportunity to meet people throughout the county, and at the state conventions, people across the state. When Julia became old enough to become a member of Farm Women, she already knew many of the members from accompanying her mother to the meetings.

The Moore family operated Pine Hill Fruit Farm in Lititz. It was there that Julia remembers her father giving her a banana apple tree of her own. Julia became known as the "apple girl," and women at market eagerly bought the sweet apples to make their snitz.

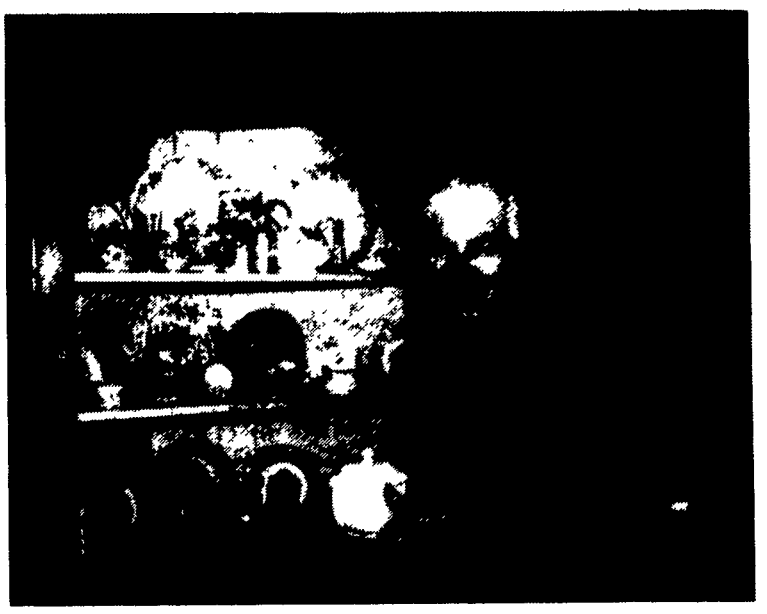
Julia graduated from Penn State with a degree in home economics. At college she met W. Dean Fyock from Cambria County. The couple married. He worked as an agronomist and with the government with the on-the-farm training program in Franklin County, where Julia helped organize Farm Women Society 5. Because Dean had his own radio program about agronomy, Julia said that she became quite "famous" from her husband's radio exposure and she was often asked to appear as a judge or speaker for agriculture-related organizations.

The couple had one child, David. When he was 10, his father died from heart deterioration during the Asiatic Flu epidemic. After his death, Julia and her son returned to Lancaster County to be near family members. Immediately, Julia rejoined Lancaster Farm Women Society 1. To support her son and herself, Julia taught school at Shippensburg University during the summer months and at Lancaster school during the other months.

When Julia's father, Martin, died in 1960, Julia and her son moved in with her mother at the Lititz orchard.

Julia was widowed nine years before she married George Zahn and moved to Chester County. They were only married five years when he died.

Julia said, "Having two husbands who died, taught me that relationships on earth are only temporary, but it's my relationship with the Lord that continues."



Although Julia Zahn treasures her heirloom china, she allows guests to chose a teacup for sipping herb tea during a visit with her.

The crewel picture behind Julia shows off her finely-stitched needlework. Julia said, "A farm women looks attractive, lives in an attractively decorated home, and feeds her family nutritionally while instilling eternal values in her family."

Julia is the daughter of the late Barbara Moore, well known for her work in Farm Women and for living to be almost 106 years of age. Julia sits on the sofa, which her parents furnished their home in the beginning of the century.

Her attitude, Julia said, is not to complain about life. "Whatever happens, God sent, so we go on from there."

After her husband's death, Julia remained in Chester County because she had made many friends in the area and was teaching music in a Christian school.

"I like to think that lots of people love music because they were in my class," Julia said.

Another reason that Julia chose to remain in Chester County, she said, was because "Lancaster County isn't the only wonderful place to be."

Although she no longer teaches full time, Julia teaches music to 4- and 5-year-olds in a Christian school.

Julia keeps her membership in the Lancaster Society of Farm Women although there is a Chester Society that meets nearby.

"At first, I kept my membership with Society 1 because I went back home to take mother to the meetings."

Mrs. Moore died two years ago, three weeks before her 106th birthday. Her mind was alert until her death. Julia said, "She was beating me at Parcheesi and other games two days before she died."

One of Mrs. Moore's great loves was interior decorating. In fact, two weeks before she died, she had Julia rearrange the living room furniture.

Julia's two-story home in West Chester is filled with antiques and family heirlooms. She has all the furniture that her parents purchased when they were first married. Julia, an accomplished seamstress, has made many of the draperies and crewel wall hangings and other accessories. Numerous sets of china and tea cups from her mother are stored in antique corner cupboards. Julie tells delightful stories about the family's heirlooms. She even has clothing from her parents' childhood, her mother's wedding dress, and other special occasion pieces.

Julia continues to travel to each Farm Women meeting because of the strong friendships forged in the group. Altough Julia is president of Society 1 and appointed chaplain for the state organization, she finds time to be a board member for Calvary Home and on the missions committee. She is a speaker at many church retreats, a member of the Ridly Community Chorus, a member of a sewing group called the Klub, and she teaches music one day a week at a school.

Here is one of Julia's favorite recipes. Because the batter may be kept refrigerated, muffins may be made on the spur of the moment for unexpected guests. A gracious hostess, Julia serves the muffins on antique china and allows guests to choose an antique teacup in which to drink herb tea garnished with orange slices, just like her mother taught her to do.

SIX-WEEK BRAN MUFFIN BATTER

Combine in a large bowl:
16-ounce box raisin bran
3 cups sugar
5 cups flour
5 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup shortening, melted
4 eggs, beaten
1 quart buttermilk

Mix together dry ingredients first; add beaten eggs, shortening, and buttermilk. Stir well. Store covered in refrigerator for up to six weeks. DO NOT STIR BATTER. Dip batter into greased muffin tins or paper-lined cupcake tins. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes.

Lil' Miss Needed For Lebanon County

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Five-year old Bethany Heagy is currently reigning as Lebanon County's Lil' Miss. Bethany's term ends in June and the Lebanon County Dairy Promotion Committee is looking for a bright, enthusiastic, charming little girl to be Lebanon County's Lil Miss for 1992.

Contestants need to be 5 to 7 years old. They also must be the daughter of a dairy farmer or dairy industry employee.

The responsibilities of the Lil' Miss winner include public appearances and dairy promotion functions. Many times she will assist the reigning dairy princess and dairy maid in promoting dairy products in the community.

Anyone who knows an eligible young girl who would like to compete for the title of Lil Miss of Lebanon County is asked to contact Mrs. Barbara Lentz 717-933-4786 before April 13.

FFA HAPPENINGS

Two Solanco FFA Members Receive Star Awards

Two Solanco High School students received the Star Agribusiness and Star Ag Production awards recently.

Solanco FFA members Rodney Althoff and Matt Welk, both juniors, each received a Star award as well as receiving the Red Rose Degree, a county FFA degree which members normally apply for in their third year as an FFA member.

Althoff, son of Ronald and Deb Althoff, Quarryville, is the recipient of the Star Agribusiness Award in the county. He works on a dairy farm.

Welk, son of Paul and Beverly Welk, Peach Bottom, is the recipient of the Star Ag Production Award. Welk works on his brother's dairy farm.

The candidates from schools throughout the county are interviewed for the Star awards by a panel of judges. An application is submitted by all of the candidates, who then go through an interview process. The judges also review each FFA member's record books and project records since they became FFA members. Based on this information, the judges select the two candidates from the county who they believe represents the county in the areas of agribusiness and ag production.

Welk and Althoff will both receive $100 to be used toward financing a trip to the National FFA Convention or to be productively invested in a Supervised Agricultural Experience (SAE) project.

In addition to Welk and Althoff, three other Solanco FFA members received the Red Rose Degree from the county — Betsy Pownall, Greg Sollenberger, and Jill Harnish.

FFA Leadership for a growing planet

Red Rose Degree Members Selected

The Lancaster County FFA recently awarded the county Red Rose Degree to 39 members.

This degree is awarded to 8 percent of the county FFA membership. To be considered for this degree, each FFA member must submit an application to be judged. Additionally two outstanding members — one in agribusiness and the other in production — were selected.

Matt Welk from Solanco was chosen Star Production. His projects include dairy herd, field, corn for grain, and beef and swine finishing. Matt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Welk of Peach Bottom. Judging for Star Production were Brian Zug from Solance; last year's winner, Rich Powl from Powl's Feed Service, Peach Bottom; and Robert Aukamp, a recent county officer.

Star Agribusiness person is Rodney Althoff, also from Solanco. Rodney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Althoff of Quarryville, was chosen for his leadership and dedication to his work. He works part time on a local diary farm. Jacy Clugston, present county president; Tom Nauman, a feed consultant from Hoober Feed; and Jerry Phillips from Keystone Farm Credit, ACA were the judges.

The following have been chosen as the 1992 Red Rose recipients along with the school they attend:

Solanco: Rodney Althoff, Matt Welk, Betsy Pownall, Greg Sollenberger, and Jill Harnish.

Ephrata: Randy Sauder; Jerry Bollinger, Jeffrey Bollinger, Thomas Zartman, and Mark Gerhart.

Manheim: Elizabeth Hess.

Manheim Central: Lori Harnish.

Penn Manor: Cindy Barley, George Bard, Stephanie Garrett, Jay Hess, Michael Hess, Craig Metzler, Steve Weiss, Karin Aument, and Philip High.

Pequea Valley: Terry Worall, Terry Louth Jr., and Tony Hershey.

Lampeter-Strasburg: Jason Herr, Jason Myers, Jason Barnett, and Mark Harnish.

Cattlemen's Banquet Honors Youth, Recognizes Members

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — As part of the 1992 Pennsylvania Beef Exposition, the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association held their annual meeting one hour before their annual awards banquet here at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

At the meeting, the group elected five new directors — Harry Stambaugh, Ralph Dotterer, John Zimmerman, Oliver Weiss, and John McFadden.

At the banquet, the Cattlemen's Association honored the service of Ray Bratton and Glenn Hart, whose terms on the board expired. Dennis Byrne received an award for his service as membership chairman. Raymond Bream earned the Top Hand Award for getting the most new members. His grandson Levi Bream accepted the award for him.

Two additional awards created this year help to recognize the youth in order to "build strength in the organization." The outstanding Junior Award went to Steven Fritz while Ed Livingston received the Scholarship Award.

Ray and Mary Grimes came forward for the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Appreciation Award. The couple received the award for their educational field day and for starting fundraisers such as the Fun Auction and the Keystone Ribeye on a Roll.

Nancy Bushey was chosen for the Commercial Cattlemen's Award. Bushey has 300 head of cattle, most of which are Angus.

Mandy Hilbert and Sherry Ishman will be representing the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association in 1992 as queen and alternate.

Shreds stalks yet won't plug up!

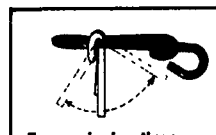
The perfect tool for ridge and minimum till

The Furest harrow cleans ridge tops, creating excellent seedbed. Unique "Spreading Action"® tines hug the soil at faster speeds to shred and evenly spread no-till stalks in the spring.

Dozens of uses:
The harrow used behind a disc or cultivator, incorporates herbicides in one pass. Used alone, it covers broadcasted seed, renovates, maintains pastures and more.

The harrow/cart (an optional harrow carrier as shown) follows tight turns, has folding wings for easy transport. Harrow and cart are available in 16 to 42 ft. widths.

"I believe the harrow works as good as a stalk shredder; it lifts and shatters the stalks and yet doesn't tear up the ground."
Roger Bommer--
Brookville, IN



Free swinging tines Fuerst's free swinging "Spreading Action"® tines make it the ONLY harrow that can effectively incorporate and shed trash.

Seedstock Producer Award was earned by Dale Rains while Sheila Miller was awarded the Industry Service Award. Miller, a farmer and resident of Berks County, is executive director of the State Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee and has entered the race for the 129th legislative seat in the House of Representatives. Accepting the award for her was Mike Firestine, executive committeeman for the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association and Hereford Breed Sale representative.

In appreciation for serving as president, Lowell Wilson was recognized. A new president was elected the following day.

Kelley Lyn Shearer gave her 1991 Cattlemen's Queen farewell speech and then crowned Mandy Hilbert. Sherry Ishman will serve as alternate.

FFA

Snyder Co. FFA

The Snyder County FFA Alumni Association held its first annual banquet recently at the Middleburg Fire Hall. A ham dinner was served.

During a business meeting, the constitution and by-laws were voted on and passed. Dr. Earl Ferry presented a slide program on agriculture in Japan.

The Snyder County FFA Alumni is now accepting new members for 1992. Dues are $10 and should be sent to Lloyd Eisenhart, Snyder Co. Alumni Treasurer, Box 129, McClure, PA 17841. Please enclose your name, address, and telephone number. All dues must be received by April 24.

Collegiate FFA Officer Team

Officer elections were held for The Pennsylvania State University Collegiate FFA.

Collegiate FFA is a student-oriented organization focusing on student leadership development. The purpose of the organization is to familiarize students interested in agriculture with the aims and activities of the FFA, and to encourage academic learning so that the members may develop the character to become a competent and aggressive agriculture leaders and citizens.

The goal is achieved by both using proper parliamentary procedure at all meetings and encouraging students to participate in impromptu speech contests. Even though an agricultural education major is not a prerequisite, one of the club's objectives is to present tasks that represent future responsibilities for agricultural education teachers.

Current chapter activities include the Fall Leadership Conference at Penn State and assisting with National FFA Convention activities. At the annual convention in Kansas City, Mo., the delegation worked with photographing national contest teams; writing national FFA contest news releases; and serving as official judges for national FFA contests.

The chapter also annually participates in a citrus sale fundraisere and t-shirt sales. Chapter members also frequently serve as judges for record book, parlimentary procedure, and public speaking FFA contests at different schools.

The new officers are looking forward to promoting a strong future for agriculture. The chapter officers are all enrolled in the agricultural education major. New officers are as follows:

• President Christine Davidson. Christine is a junior from Cumberland County. Christine, a past state FFA secretary worked on many SAE projects, including market lambs, work experience, and pleasure horses. Even though Christine plans to teach, her inclination is toward promoting informal agricultural education. Christine believes that all elementary students should be exposed to some type of agricultural education.

• Student Council Representative James Over. Jim is a sophomore from Bedford County and past FFA member of the Northern Bedford FFA Chapter. He carried the following enterprise projects during a four-year time period: dairy calf, dairy cow, and corn silage. Jim has enjoyed showing Holstein dairy cattle during the past several years, and enjoys hunting. Jim plans to be an agricultural education teacher.

• Vice president Heather Peters. Heather, 1987 National 4-H Congress delegate for Centre County, is a sixth semester student. Even though Heather was never enrolled in a high school agricultural education course, she carried many projects through 4-H — dairy goats, meat goats, macrame, woodworking, photography, and rabbits. As a result of being elected as an officer with little FFA experience, Heather said, "Don't be afraid to get involved." Heather's future goals are to become an extension agent and show goats.

• Secretary Jodi Hall. Jodi, the current Pennsylvania FFA Association secretary, is a second semester student from Centre County. Jodi's SAE projects included poinsettias, bedding plants, custom lawn care, and hydroponic research. Jodi was the state winner with her record books in 1989 and 1990. Jodi strongly believes in challenging the future. Her future career goal is to teach agriculture with an emphasis on horticulture.

• Treasurer Thomas Willey. Tom, a 1991 American FFA Degree winner, is a junior from Blair County. Tom's SAE projects were farm work experience, broiler chickens, capons, breeding swine, and market swine. He also served as president of the Central Cove FFA Chapter his senior year in high school and student advisor in his junior year.

• Reporter Todd Biddle. Todd is a sophomore from Centre County. His SAE project was dairy goats. A strong promoter of goats, Todd is an active 4-H leader, the current Pennsylvania Alternate Dairy Goat Youth Representative, and a goat judge. Furthermore, Todd helps show his family's Belgian horses. Although Todd plans to be a teacher, he wants to continue to play an active role in 4-H and plans to breed nationally acclaimed dairy goats.

• Sentinel Eric Dixon. Eris is a junior from Moundville, Ala. Eric, a past FFA member with a state FFA degree, carried home gardening and other horticultural related projects while enrolled in high school agricultural education. Eric's preliminary goal is to teach ag education at a high school level and then advance to a college teaching opportunity.

• Parliamentarian Scott Parthemore. Scott is a fourth semester student from Cumberland County. His current interests are driving milk truck, feeding out pigs, and steers, and farming 85 acres of land. Scott plans to teach, but he also hopes to farm on the side.

Kutztown Recognizes Three Outstanding Farm Famililes

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Three outstanding farm families were recognized recently at the Kutztown FFA and Young Farmers banquet.

Named Outstanding Farmer under 30 is Bruce Latshaw. Outstanding Farmer over 30 is Noel Schlegel, and Outstanding Community Award winners are Melinda and Robert Tercha.

Young Farmer Under 30

Latshaw of Alburtis is the fifth generation farmer on a 170-acre farm, which belonged to his mother's family. Bruce works with his father, Earl, and his brother, Mark. Other members of the family included his mother, Joyce, and three sisters, Nancy, Linda, and Jane.

Latshaws plant 75 acres of corn that is used for silage. Alfalfa and mixed hay is grown on a large part of their land. The first of fourth cuttings of hay are made into haylage. Conservation practices include strip cropping and minimum tillage. More than 50,000 feet of tile was laid to drain wet areas on the farm.

The family owns 140 registered Holsteins that are fed a TMR mixture of haylage, corn silage, and maxi tech complete feed.

Milk is sold to Johanna Farms. Cows are milked using the pipeline system of three separate loops of more than 800 feet of pipe. They have a herd average of 17,246 pounds of milk with 3.6 percent butterfat. The herd is DHIA tested with an AM-PM timer.

Shredded newspaper is used for bedding. Manure from three-gutter cleaners goes into a central reception pit that gravity flows through a 30-inch concrete pipe that travels 132 feet to the earthen bank lagoon. Waste from the milkhouse also flows into the lagoon, which has a storage capacity of nine months.

Bruce and his father do all their own artificial insemination.

The heifers housed in a shed behind the barn are fed through a 110-foot rubber belt conveyor. A new cement block calf kennel was built in 1990. Bruce did all the block, tile, concrete, and electrical wiring himself.

Bruce is a former DHIA tester for 3½ years. He now works part time at the Pottstown Burial Vault with his uncle and cousin.

A 1981 graduate of Brandywine Height High School in the FFA program, Bruce enjoys fixing old machinery.

Bruce is Berks County FFA County board member and the Young Farmer Rancher chairman of the county. Bruce and his family attend Hereford Mennonite Church.

For their involvement in community affairs, Melinda and Robert Tercha receive the Outstanding Community Service Award at the Kutztown Young Farmer banquet.

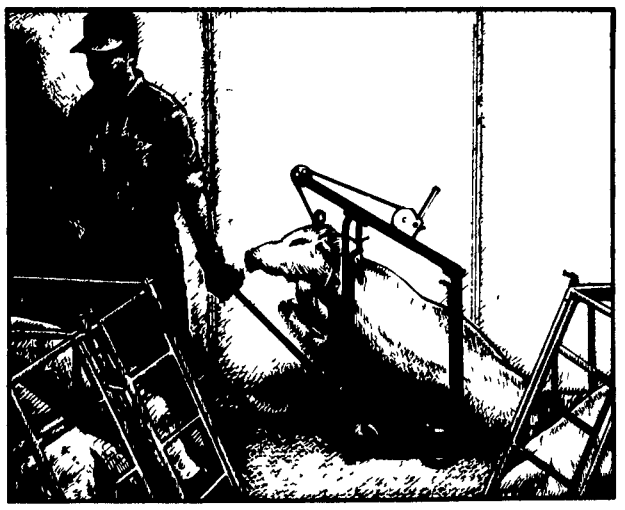
DEAD SOW REMOVAL BECOMES ONE MAN JOB



The Sow Hearse has an efficient, hand-operated winch connected to a steel cable and pulley that enables one person to pull a sow from the floor onto the cart to transport to a disposal.

Tri-County Confinement Systems of Lebanon has introduced the Sow Hearse to remove dead sows from confinement stalls in swine systems.

The death of a sow in a stall results in a very difficult and unpleasant job for at least two people. With a Sow Hearse, the task is much simpler and can be accomplished by one person.

The Sow Hearse, made of solid steel rod, is a rubber-wheeled cart designed to negotiate the narrow aisles of many confinement barns. On its top is an efficient, hand-operated winch connected to a steel cable that rides on a nylon pulley. When the cable is looped around the sow and secured, she can be pulled easily from the floor of her stall onto the sloped bed of the Sow Hearse. The machine then functions as a cart to transport the dead animal to a disposal location.

Dimensions of the Sow Hearse are 22" wide x 24" long x 4'4" high.

TRI-COUNTY Sow Hearse Makes The Removal Of A Dead Sow From A Confinement Stall An Easy Job For One Person. Made Of Solid Steel, It Is A Durable Easy-To-Operate Machine... A Must For Today's Confinement System Operator!

Outstanding Farm Famililes

Young Farmer Over 30

Schlegel and his wife and partner Elizabeth have been farming for 17 years in Topton.

The purchased their 80-acre farm from Liz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Herbert. They rent an additional 100 acres planted with corn. They also grow 40 acres of hay, 20 acres wheat, and some soybeans with rye as a double crop. Conservation practices include strip farming and dome minimum tillage.

Bruce Latshaw is the Outstanding Farmer under 30 in Kutztown.

A gutter cleaner empties into a collection pit that flows into a lagoon with a storage capacity of one year. Schlegel has his own liquid manure equipment to empty the lagoon and he rents the equipment to neighbors. Much care and precaution is taken to control manure disposal on the land because of the closeness to the town of Topton.

Approximately 80 percent of the 150 head of cattle are registered. The DHIA tested herd numbers 47.

Schlegels raise their own heifers and bull calves. Most are Holsteins, and some are Jerseys. The cows are fed in two groups a TMR mixture of haylage, corn silage, high moisture shelled corn and raw soybeans.

Milk is shipped to Atlantic Dairy Co-op. The herd averages 20,889 pounds of milk with 3.5 percent butterfat and 3.3 percent protein. One milker is used exclusively for somatic cell counts.

Noel is doing most of the construction and remodeling of the dairy barn, which he is expanding.

The Schlegels are members of New Jerusalem UCC Church.

Noel is director of Berks County DHIA and a member of the state and national Holstein Associations.

Community Service Award Winners

Bobby Tercha and his father farm approximately 500 acres in partnership. They grow corn, alfalfa, soybeans and wheat. The home farm, where Bobby's parents live, has a grain drying operation and on-farm grain storage for 40,000 bushels. The Terchas also raise hogs and Angus bulls.

Long winter days are fill with the Tercha family gathering to butcher their own steers and hogs. This skill and tradition has been passed on from prior generations.

In 1986, Melinda and Bobby purchased an adjacent farm with 110 acres to add to the farming operation.

The farm practices soil conservation following ASCS plan. They maintain clean fence lines and continually work toimprove their land and properties. The market quality corn and hay through a local dealer, John Knabb & Son.

Melinda is studying early childhood education at Lehigh County Community College.

Even though Melinda's schedule as a student is hectic, she is no stranger to farmwork. Her involvement with home, community, and state enable her to be selected as the 1991 National Grange Outstanding Female Agriculturalist.

The Terchas are active members of the Kutztown and the National Chapters of the Young Farmers Associations. Bobby had served as local president and regional vice president. Melinda is reporter. In 1983, Bobby was recognized as Kutztown's, and later, Pennsylvania's Outstanding Young Spokesperson for Agriculture and participated in the national contest. Since then the Terchas have served on teh Kutztown Area Vocational Agriculture Advisory Council for five years.

The Tercha's concern for the futre agriculturalists is evident by their sponsorhsip of a county 4-H achievement award recognizing a young person's success with swine projects.

Bobby worked with township officials and a local farmers committee to form an ag security area in Longswamp Township under Act 43.

The Terchas enjoy travelling and collecting antiques especially ice cream scoops and John Deere tractor toys..

Tercha also does relief dairy milking for friends.

Melinda is an avid photographer and has received many awards for her work at fairs and regional contests. One photo was on the cover of the Pennsylvania Farmer and another won a national prize by Country magazine. Melinda enjoys writing poetry and short stories which have been published. She also likes to sew, quilt, crochet, knit, and do other crafts.

The Terchas are active members of the Pioneer Grange #1777. both have held offices for the past 18 years and have won numerous awards. Bobby became quite a celebrity in 1986, when he won the National Grange Variety Act with his "toliet paper presentation."

Melinda is active in the Ladies Group, whose project is to make toys for children in hospitals, quilts for Aids and drug addicted babies, sleeping bags for the homeless, and large bibs for nuring home patients.

The Terchas are active on the Grange Community Service Comittee by helping with weekly Bingo games, helping wiht the Longswamp Community Day, and Bobby plays Santa for needy families. The Terchas are active members of the Bowers UCC Church and have been former youth directors. Melinda is deacon, secretary of the church council, choir member, and Ladies Aid member.

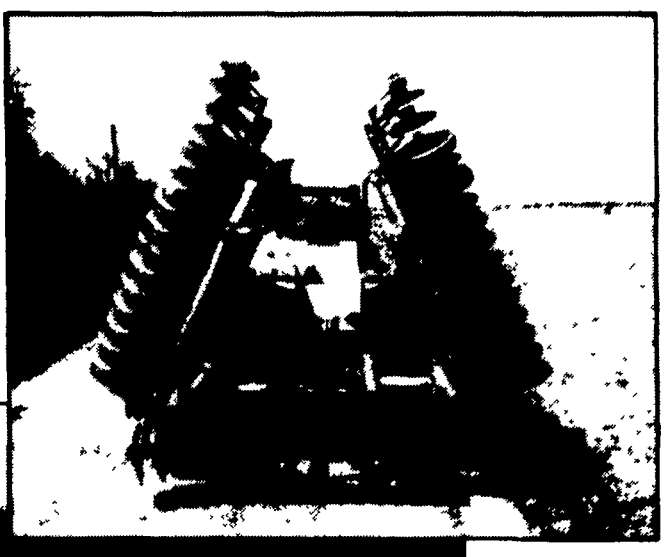
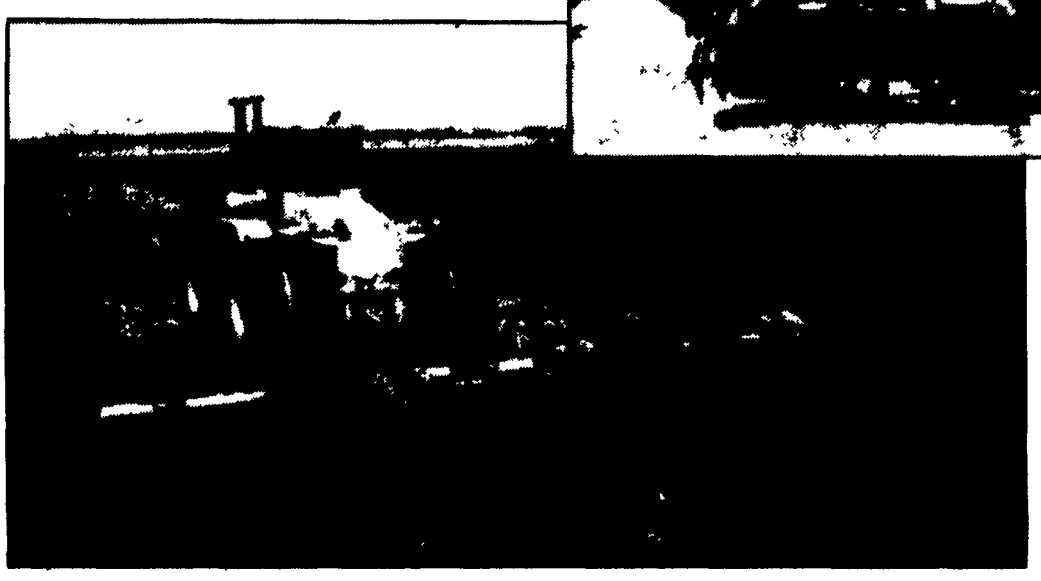
KRAUSE





In 1916 Henry Krause built his first one-way plow in a small farm shop in Western Kansas. His neighbors saw the plow, were impressed with its value as a specialized tool for their farming conditions, and asked Henry to build more.

From that humble beginning in a small farm shop in Meade County, Kansas, the Krause Plow Corporation has grown into one of the world's top manufacturers of tillage equipment. In 1988, Fortune Magazine recognized Krause as "AMERICA'S BEST" tillage equipment manufacturer in an article devoted to the "100 Products That America Makes Best."

At C.B. Hoober & Son, Inc. we're priviledged to sell "America's Best Built" tillage equipment here in the East.

Environment Ed Program Gets Hershey Grant

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — A $25,000 grant has been awarded to the Pennsylvania State Envirothon Program by Hershey Foods Corporation to help make quality environmental education programs available to high school students throughout the commonwealth.

The State Envirothon Program is successful because it relies on the dedicated efforts of agencies and professional resources having diverse interest in natural resource management. The 1992 program is being sponsored by Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts, the State Conservation Commission, and the Hershey Foods Corporation. Cooperating agencies include the Department of Environmental Resources, bureaus of Forestry and Water Quality Management, the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission, the Pennsylvania Game Commission, and the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

"Hershey Foods is an environmentally responsible business," said Michael Berney, corporate contribution manager. "We believe we have an obligation to preserve the environment for future generations and we recognize the importance of educating the public about the environment. The Envirothon Program provides an excellent learning experience. In fact, many of the students who participate in the Envirothon pursue careers in an environmentally related field."

Envirothon students, under the direction of high school faculty, develop decision-making skills to help them become responsible, environmentally conscious citizens. Students learn how their actions can help protect or improve the environment.

"We approached the Hershey Foods Corporation because our interests are compatible," said Andy Patterson, Envirothon chair. "Hershey is a good example of a Pennsylvania based company that has taken steps to establish a set of environmentally-sound principles. Fortunately for the Envirothon Program, education activities that teach you how they can become environmentally responsible citizens is important to Hershey."

The program involves environmental exploration that takes the form of a competition. Five-member student teams are quizzed at five natural resource stations: aquatics, wildlife, soils, forestry, and a current issue. A new current issue topic is selected annually. Previous topics have included acid rain, hazardous waste, recycling, wetlands, and sustainable energy. This year's issue is groundwater protection.

The Envirothon was initiated by county conservation districts. Local interest in the program grew and, in 1984, responding to the requests of several high school students, the Envirothon became a state event. In 1991, 48 county teams participated in the state Envirothon.

The Envirothon has expanded beyond Pennsylvania's borders. At the 1991 National Envirothon, hosted by the state of Maine, teams from nine states as well as Canada and Australia were represented.

The Lebanon County Envirothon will be held at Kenbrook Bible Camp on May 13. The winning team will represent Lebanon County at the state Envirothon scheduled for June 27 at the PP&L Montour Preserve. For further information concerning the event, contact Leigh Beamesderfer (district information) or the Pennsylvania Envirothon Program, 225 Pine Street, Harrisburg, PA 17101, (717) 238-4998.

Simmental Board Elects Chairman

BOZEMAN, Mont. — Johnny Poore, of Barnesville, Ga., a member of the American Simmental Association (ASA) board of trustees since 1988, has been elected board chairman. He succeeds Breck Ellison, Jr., of Knoxville, Tenn.

Poore, who served as ASA vice chairman and treasurer the past two years, has also served as chairman of the ASA's Policies and Procedures Committee and the Growth and Development Committee. He's been a member of the Executive Committee since 1989, served on the Breed Improvement Committee his first year on the board, and has been on the ASA Publications board the past two years.

Johnny Poore

He owns and operates Logos Simmentals, maintaining a base herd of 30 registered Simmental brood cows, near Barnesville. An active member of the Georgia Simmental Association and the Georgia Cattleman's Association, he has served on the University of Georgia Bull Test Committee and as district supervisor and chairman of the Lamar County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Poore is a 1969 industrial management graduate of Georgia Tech University and has been an ASA member since 1983.

During ASA's recent annual meeting and convention in Denver, Colo., Reese Richman of Tooele, Utah, was elected vice chairman/chairman-elect, and Dr. Don Clanton, North Platte, Neb., was re-elected to the treasurer's post. The five-member executive committee includes Poore, Richmand, Clanton, and Tom Risinger, Crockett, Texas and Steve Reimer, Chamberlain, S.D.

ASA's 1933 annual meeting and convention will be held in Orlando, Florida, January 24-26. The event will mark ASA's Silver (25th) Anniversary.

MYCOPLASMA PNEUMONIA

Respiratory problems cause more economic losses to the swine industry than any other group of diseases. The major players include atrophic rhinitis, Haemophilus (now called Actinobacillus), Pasteurella, Strep suis, and of course Mycoplasma pneumonia.

Mycoplasma is important for two reasons. First, most hogs have it — 30-70 percent, according to slaughter surveys. Second, it hurts performance. Dr. Richard Ross from Iowa State University recently reported that Mycoplasma has been shown to reduce gains by 13-16 percent and feed efficiency by 14 percent.

What Is Mycoplasma?

Mycoplasma pneumonia is caused by an organism called Mycoplasma Hyopneumoniae. Two related Mycoplasma organisms, M. Hyorhinis and M. Hyosynoviae, can cause joint problems and arthritis in pigs.

Mycoplasma sets up shop by growing in large numbers in the trachea (wind pipe) and the bronchi, or branches of the lungs. In addition, Mycoplasma has been shown to attach to and destroy the cilia found in the airways of the pig.

That's bad news. First, the pipes leading to the lung are coated with a sticky mucous which helps to trap bacteria, dust, and other contaminants. The cilia keep this mucous moving up and out of the lung.

Without the cilia, the mucous settles in the front and lower lobes of the lungs. So it should come as no surprise that the mycoplasma lesions we see at slaughter are found in the front and bottom of the lungs.

But all this is just the beginning, unfortunately. Mycoplasma reduces the pig's ability to prevent infection from other agents like Haemophilus and Pasteurella. So respiratory problems are often the result of infections from several organisms.

How Does A Pig Get Mycoplasma?

The problem is spread from pig to pig. Carrier animals shed the organism in respiratory secretions (from coughing and sneezing).

Susceptible pigs may pick up the organism directly from the secretion, or in the air from perhaps a mile away. It's becoming more clear that breeding stock can harbor the organism, but the spread from sow to nursing pig is perhaps less important than the environment in the nursery.

And like any respiratory problem, mycoplasma is closely associated with poor ventilation. Poor ventilation is harder to describe on paper than I used to believe. But during cold weather, if your facility has humidity levels exceeding 70 percent, ammonia levels higher than 20 ppm, or air speed rates (at pig level) over one foot per second, your ventilation is less than ideal.

Cold temperature, especially when it's cold enough to cause pigs to pile up, is also a contributing factor.

Is It A Problem In Your Herd?

A persistent cough in your growing hogs is a good clue that Mycoplasma is present. Even a slow growth rate (less than 1.60 pounds/day) during the grower-finisher phase should make you suspicious.

At slaughter, Mycoplasma lesions in the lung are generally gray to purple in color. These are easy to see and make the use of slaughter checks an important management tool.

While slaughter checks may not be an absolute indicator of economic losses, they do provide a good handle on changes in respiratory problems in a given herd.

Mycoplasma is difficult to grow in the lab, so diagnostic veterinarians usually rely on fluorescent antibody procedures to indicate the presence of the organism. Blood tests (such as complement fixation or Elisa) can tell you whether an animal is free of infection.

This is especially useful for testing new breeding stock, but blood tests may not be too effective for measuring the severity of the problem on the finishing floor.

Treatment

According to Dr. Ross, it's important to remember that what you think is a Mycoplasma problem may actually be a complex of several organisms. To unravel that puzzle, there is no substitute for a good relationship with your veterinarian and the use of the diagnostic lab.

Studies indicate that tetracyclines (CTC, Aureomycin, Terramycin, etc.), lincomycin (Lincomix and Linco) and tiamulin (Denagard) are most effective against Mycoplasma. It's important to note that while each of these drugs are approved for use in swine (both feed-grade and water soluble), the only feed-grade drug specifically labeled for the treatment of Mycoplasma is Lincomycin.

Chlortetracycline, incidentally, was less effective than oxytetracycline in two studies.

Tylosin, while having good activity against Mycoplasma in the laboratory, provides a limited response in the pig.

Penicillin, streptomycin and erythromycin, according to Dr. Ross, are of "no value in treatment of Mycoplasma Pneumonia (MPS)."

Keep in mind, however, that many of these drugs may be important in the control of related respiratory problems.

Vaccination

Mycoplasma vaccines were recently introduced by Solvay ("M Hyo Bac") and SmithKline Beecham ("RespiSure") for use in swine. Both companies recommend vaccinating baby pigs at seven and 21 days of age, and have guidelines for vaccinating breeding stock as well. Cost for each product ranges from $.60-$1.20 per dose.

Do the vaccines work? They seem to. Field studies sponsored by Solvay and conducted on four farms showed that pigs vaccinated with M Hyo Bac gained slightly faster (.06-.07 pound/day) than unvaccinated controls.

Vaccine use also reduced the severity of lung lesions. Similar improvements in performance have been observed with the use of RespiSure.

Are the vaccines a good investment? I recently posed that question to two prominent swine veterinarians practicing in Pennsylvania. Both were excited about the effectiveness of the vaccine and strongly believe that in herds with respiratory problems, the product is worth the cost.

Both have conducted field studies and are currently using RespiSure, but neither felt it was necessarily a better product than M Hyo Bac. They recommend that the vaccine be used at three and six weeks of age (slightly later than label directions) to avoid any interference with passive immunity from the sow. For finishing units, they suggest pigs be vaccinated upon arrival and again two weeks later.

The benefits they have observed include reduced time to market, fewer culls, and decreased mortality. One of the veterinarians felt the best response to the vaccine has been in finishing units and has seen mortality rates there cut in half. He even suggested that the use of vaccine may eliminate the need for feed grade drugs on the grower-finisher floor. Neither practitioner felt it was necessary to vaccinate sows.

Summary

1. Mycoplasma pneumonia is a chronic but costly respiratory problem. Most herds and, in fact, most pigs have the organism.

2. The organism is spread from pig to pig by direct contact or through the air. Air quality plays an important role in controlling losses from Mycoplasma.

3. Studies indicate tetracyclines, lincomycin and tiamulin, show the best activity against Mycoplasma. However, Mycoplasma infections suppress the pig's immune response which may lead to infections by additional organisms. Work closely with your veterinarian and diagnostic laboratory in selecting the best treatment.

4. Vaccines against Mycoplasma, while relatively new to the market, are showing promise.

ACR Cost-Share Assistance Available

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Donald Unangst, state director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said cost-share assistance is available to establish perennial cover on Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR) land.

ACR is cropland that is required to be removed from production and maintained, in order to participate in and receive program benefits under annual acreage reduction programs.

Authorized by the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade act of 1990, the multiyear cost-share program provides 25 percent of the cost for establishing a perennial cover on land diverted from wheat, feed grain, upland cotton and rice production.

"By planting a perennial vegetative cover on ACR, farmers will improve water quality, improve wildlife habitat, and reduce soil erosion on this land," Unangst said. Eligible acreage is limited to 50 percent of the ACR.

The perennial cover must be a grass, legume, or grass-legume mixture, and must be maintained for a minimum of two years after the calendar year the practice is established. Annual covers are not eligible for cost-share assistance under the program. Acreage on which cost-shares are requested must not currently be in a perennial cover, Unangst said.

"Cost-shares will be paid only once for establishing a perennial cover," the ASCS official said.

For more information on the multiyear cost-share program, farmers may contact the local ASCS office.

WHY BUSH HOG SQUEALERS MOW DOWN THE COMPETITION.

There are two basic reasons and quality is the first. Each Squealer model is equipped with Bush Hog's tough, patented gearbox. All models except the 42 inch wide cutter feature oval blade pans, and the 60 and 72 inch wide models have an "in-line" shear bolt with ball bearing protection that can be replaced in a snap. An optional slip clutch is available.

The second reason for the Squealer's popularity is price. Select any of five models, 42 to 84-inches wide, and compare prices with the competition. With a true price and quality comparison, it's easy to see why Squealers mow down the competition.

Distinguished Livestock Alumnus To Be Honored

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — D. Robert Vallance is Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science's 1992 Distinguished Alumnus in Animal Science.

Vallance is president of Yergey, Stewart, Vallance and Associates, a six-man equine veterinary practice that serves the Maryland race tracks.

Vallance received a B.S. degree from Penn State in 1963. He was active in the Block and Bridle Club, serving as the club's president and recognized with a Merit Trophy Award. He was a member of the Meats Judging Team, the Livestock Judging Team, Ag Student Council, Delta Tau Delta social and Gamma Sigma Delta honorary fraternities.

After graduation, Vallance enrolled in graduate school, earning an M. S. degree in animal industry in 1966. He was the first student to pursue an advanced degree in horse nutrition at Penn State. Techniques developed in his graduate study, "In Vivo and In Vitro Digestion by Cecal Microorganisms of the Equine," were used in a number of subsequent research trials.

At the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine, where Vallance earned a V.M.D., Summa Cum Laude, he was on the dean's list all four years and was a member of Omega Tau Sigma social fraternity and Phi Zeta honorary fraternity. He was honored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Pennsylvania Medical Association as the student with the highest achievement in clinical studies.

From 1970 to 1973 Vallance was employed by M. B. Teigland, an internationally known equine practitioner who heads a large group practice that conducts an extensive race track and farm practice. In 1974, he became a partner in the Maryland firm of Yergey, Stewart, and Vallance.

Vallance is licensed to practice in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Florida. He is a member of the American Veterinary Medical Association, the Maryland Veterinary Medical Association, and a racing committee member of the American Association of Equine Practitioners (AAEP). He formed the Maryland Association of Race Track Practitioners and has served as acting head of this group since 1980.

He serves as adjunct professor at the Virginia-Maryland Regional Veterinary School, as preceptor for senior students at the Regional Veterinary School and the University of Pennsylvania, and is a member of the Alumni Liaison Commitee at the University of Pennsylvania.

He is clinical investigator for several drug companies with the responsibility of testing new drugs for equine use before application is made for FDA approval. He recently completed testing a new influenza-rhinopneumonitis vaccine for Smith, Kline, Beecham.

A longtime member of the Penn State Stockman's Club, Vallance was the first veterinarian to practice at Calder Race Track in Miami, where he worked with management to determine the effect of a new synthetic track surface on racing injuries. He was attending veterinarian for 1979 Kentucky Derby winner, Spectacular Bid, and appeared on national television to discuss the use of Lasix on "bleeders" and the condition of Summer Squall before he raced and won the Preakness Stakes.

He is the attending veterinarian for all foreign horses, invited each year to race in the Washington, D.C. International at Laurel Race Track. He has been a featured speaker at an AAEP convention on the use of drugs in race horses and a guest speaker for the Department of Veterinary Medicine and Ag Extension at the University of Maryland.

The cutterbar on the new Bush Hog disc mower has 70 percent less hardware than gear drive cutterbar designs. It features shaft drive and oil lubricated gearsets.

Drill Fill Reduces Seed Damage, Saves Time

KALIDA, Ohio — Unverferth Manufacturing Co., Inc. introduces a time, labor, and seed saver for producers who use the John Deere 750 grain drill.

The new Unverferth Drill Fill is an easily attached add-on auger that moves the seed from the loading position to a capacity expanded seed hopper. The hopper extension features a horizontal center-fill auger that distributes seed evenly throughout the grain tank, minimizing seed travel and handling damage.

The hopper extension also increases seed-holding capacity by up to 20 percent and is primed and painted to match the drill.

The Drill Fill's spring assisted vertical lift auger stores conveniently in the front of the drill while planting or in transport. Auger controls are mounted for easy operation from either the ground or drill platform.

Producers have the option of steel or the gentler seed-handling brush flighting for both the vertical auger and the hopper's horizontal grain-fill auger.

For further information, contact Unverferth Manufacturing Company, Inc., P.O. Box 357, Kalida, OH 45853, (800) 322-6301 or (419) 532-3121.

Bush Hog Disc Mower Minimizes Maintenance

SELMA, Ala. — The cutterbar on the new Bush Hog disc mower has 70 percent less hardware than gear drive cutterbar designs. It features shaft drive and oil lubricated gearsets.

"The cutterbar design on our new disc mower is an example of how this mower has been designed and built to lower maintenance costs while providing excellent performance," said Robert O. Moore, vice president sales. "It is the first shaft-driven, independent, oil-lubricated cutterbar on the market and provides cooler operating temperature and constant lubrication. Ninety weight oil, the same oil used in our rotary cutter gearboxes, is used for lubrication."

The new Bush Hog disc mower also features a cone shaped crop divider with a 20 degree taper on the main body and paddles for aggressive crop dividing and a steep angle that prevents material wrapping. Rock guards are 10-1/2 inches wide and run to the rear of the cutterbar. They are made from 7 gauge steel, extend 5/8 inch in front of the oval disc, and feature a 20 degree angle to provide for superior flow of material over the cutter bar, especially important in wet conditions. The oval disc, manufactured from heat-treated steel, also protects the cutterbar.

Another unique feature of the new Bush Hog disc mower is its hitch frame. According to the company, it is the widest in the industry.

Ease of adjustment was also built into the new product. The swathboard, for example, is easily adjusted for aggressive or non-aggressive action or may be removed when necessary because of rank haying conditions. When removed, there are no brackets to collect crop residue.

The new disc mower is available in five models in working widths of 6 ft. 10 inches, 7 ft. 11 inches, 9 ft. 4 inches for 540 rpm versions and 7 ft. 11 inches and 9 ft. 4 inches for 1,000 rpm versions.

For further information, contact Bush Hog, Dept. DM-NR, P.O. Box 1039, Selma, AL 36702-1039.

Dekalb Releases 1992 Varieties

DEKALB, Ill. — DEKALB Plant Genetics has released eight corn hybrids, four soybean varieties, and one sorghum hybrid for growers in 1992. The products proved superior performance in field trials under customary farming practices.

Corn

DK363 is an 86-day relative maturity (RM) hybrid with excellent seedling vigor, and good ear retention and roots. It's also a dual purpose hybrid for both grain and silage.

DK381 is an 88-day RM hybrid adapted across early markets. It has very good emergence and vigor and strong stalks for excellent standability.

DK512 is a widely-adapted, 101-day RM hybrid for planting across the northern Corn Belt. It has exceptional yield potential and a long grain-filling period with excellent drydown.

DK564 is a 106-day RM hybrid adapted across the majority of the central Corn Belt from Illinois west. Its strengths include top end yield potential under normal, favorable, or irrigated environments. It also has excellent emergence and early vigor.

DK591 is a 108-day RM hybrid released across Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio. It has proven consistent yield performance across a variety of soil types under both drought and favorable conditions.

DK623 is a 111-day RM hybrid adapted to a large portion of the central Corn Belt across Nebraska and from Illinois east. It has very good stress tolerance and top end yield potential under both irrigated and favorable conditions. It strengths include very good standability, test weight, and grain quality.

DK633 is a 113-day RM hybrid adapted to the non-virus mid-South market. It is a versatile early hybrid that adapts well to various soil types and cultural practices. It performs well under both stress and favorable conditions.

DK657 is a 115-day RM hybrid adapted to the high yield environments of the western Corn Belt. A tall plant with medium ear placement, it performs best under irrigated environments and is strong companion to DK646 and DK671.

Soybeans

CX121 is a Group I, high-yielding variety to plant on poorly drained soils known to have phytophthora root rot problems. It offers defensive traits, including good standability and some iron chlorosis tolerance.

CX248 is a mid Group II variety that has excellent standability with multiple race phytophthora resistance. It is an excellent standing soybean that will work best in solid-seeding situations.

CX250b is a mid Group II variety that offers brown stem rot resistance, good standability, and Race 1 resistance to Phytophthora root rot.

CX404 is an early Group IV variety with excellent standability to plant on well-drained soils.

Sorghum

DK38y is a medium early yellow hybrid with outstanding drought tolerance, staygreen, stalk quality, and drought resistance.

Safety Is In Packaging

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The popular herbicide AAtrex® Nine-O now is available in water-soluble packaging.

Growers increasingly are concerned about personal exposure to crop chemicals. Packaging improvements can significantly reduce the risk of applicator contact with chemicals.

Ciba-Geigy Product Manager Steve Spain believes this type of packaging effectively addresses grower concerns. "Applicators never come in direct contact with the product during mixing," he said. "The water-soluble bags go directly from the box into the spray tank."

The new packaging also is compatible with the environment. The outer cardboard box can be thrown away or recycled like any other harmless paper product. There is no residual left in the container.

Spain believes convenience is another benefit of water-soluble packaging. "Applicators save time and have less hassle emptying bags and mixing," he said. "The package also eliminates time-consuming triple-rinsing."

Each box of AAtrex Nine-O contains 10 water-soluble bags of product, 4.45 pounds each. One bag is enough to treat approximately 2-1/2 acres.

Tank mix combinations for the water-soluble formulation are the same as for the popular granular form except when mixing with liquid fertilizer.

To use the water-soluble bags with liquid fertilizer, growers must first dissolve the bags in water, then mix with the fertilizer. Growers should consult the product label for exact rates and timing.

Farm Credit Hires Zebley

LEWISBURG (Union Co.)— Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA announces the addition of Charlotte Zebley to the position of branch manager for the Tunkhannock branch office. Zebley will be training with current branch manager Vic Cappucci, and will take on those responsibilities when Cappucci retires.

Zebley is a graduate of Penn State University with a B.S. in agricultural business management. She was formerly employed by Telmark, Inc., a lease financing subsidiary of Agway, as a district manager.

Zebley was originally from Airville, where she grew up on her parents' 150-acre Angus cow/calf farm. She currently resides in Tunkhannock.

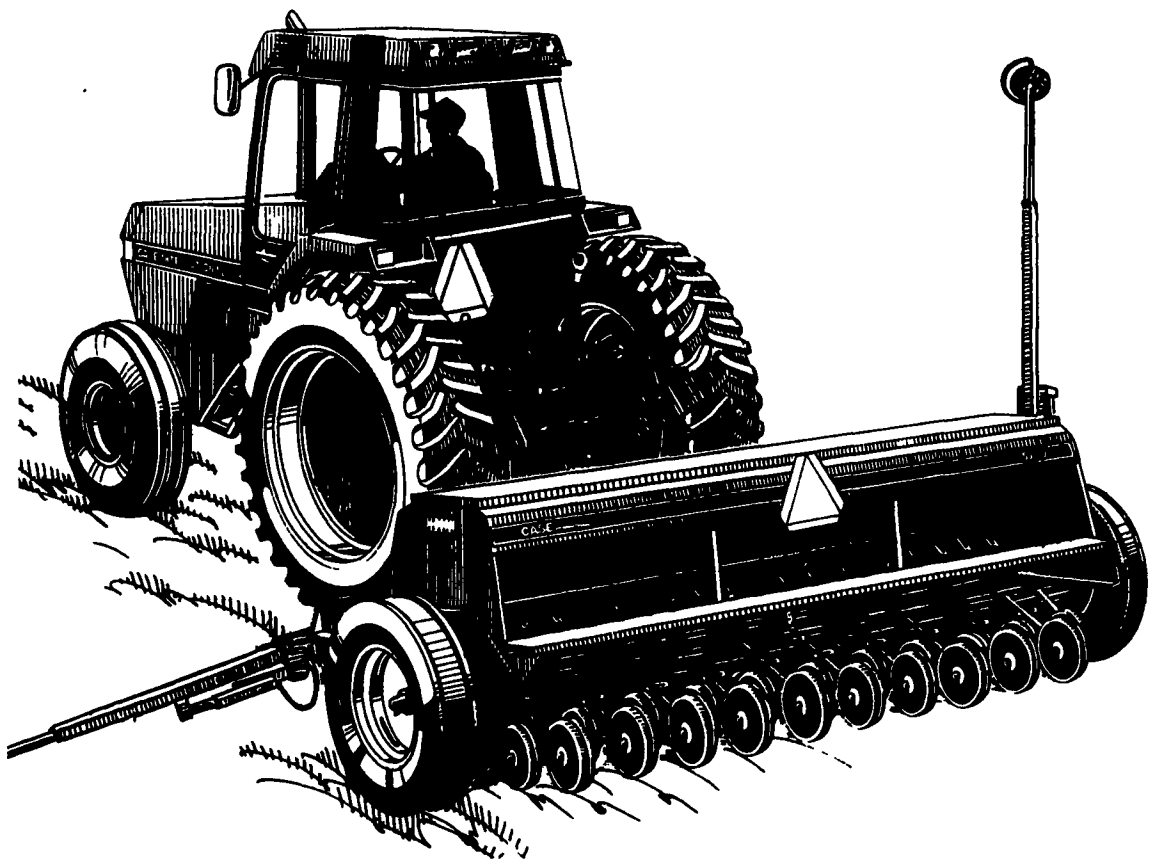
Get Even Stands



There's nothing more important to a crop than early, even emergence. To get it, you need accurate, even seeding, and a Case International 5300 End-Wheel Drill.

The 5300 has earned a reputation for its seeding precision, a function of its exclusive feed cup design and dependable disk openers. And, to improve placement of seed, the opener drawbars are heavier than on previous models. Press wheel and opener bearings are heavier for long life operation.

Along with accuracy, the 5300 gives you fast, high capacity seeding, so you spend less time refilling hoppers.

TWISTER

High Efficiency Direct Drive Fan

Acme's precise engineering has matched a cambered twist propeller with continuous duty motors to form high air flow and low energy consumption fans. Combined with corrosion resistant galvanized orifice and frames, these fans offer the user maintenance free long lasting equipment suited for use in agricultural environments.

- ☐ Galvanized Construction — corrosion resistant, long lasting.
- ☐ Cambered Twist Propeller — High airflow, low energy cost, high CFM/watt.
- ☐ Totally Enclosed Motors — Gasketed and shielded against dust and moisture.
- ☐ Premounted in Particle Board Box — Easy handling and fast installation with wire screens both sides
- ☐ Vertical Support Frame — Maintains proper alignment.
- ☐ Motor wire leads for quick hook-up.
- ☐ Quite Operation.
- ☐ Direct Drive — No drive losses, no belts to slip
- ☐ Optional Discharge Diffuser Cone — Increases performance of fan without additional HP.

ENERGY EFFICIENT ENCLOSED MOTORS

- Heavy-duty totally enclosed motors with sealed ball bearings are designed for continuous work load.
- Available in two-speed.
- Built-in thermal overload for low line-voltage protection on all single phase motors.

ALUMINUM SHUTTERS:
- All Aluminum Construction
- Counter Balanced Blades
- Nylon Bearing
- Stainless Steel Hinge Pins

* Low Air Resistance *
* Reduces Sticking in Dusty and Moist Conditions *

PLAN AHEAD FOR POULTRY STRUCTURES

Dr. Dennis E. Buffington
Prof. and Head
Ag and Biological Engineering

The construction of new facilities on your farmstead represents at least a 10- or 20-year investment.

Mistakes or omissions that are made at the time of construction will haunt you for years to come. You should never plan to start the construction and then make decisions "as we go along."

Space here does not permit covering all aspects that need to be considered when planning a structure. However, major initial planning factors include:

• Site selection. This involves selecting a site on the property with proper drainage. There is a common fallacy to assume that a location on the top or side of a hill will always have good drainage. The building site must be at least 50 feet from other buildings and obstructions, such as dense high vegetation, to allow for proper air flow through and around the buildings. Distance from buildings is also important from a fire safety standpoint. The building site needs to be at least 50 feet from the property line because you cannot control what your neighbors might build near the property line.

Utilities. They need to be assessed from the viewpoint of both near-term and long-term needs. Your 4-inch well may have always met your water needs even through dry periods. But with the new layer house that you are planning to build, will you have sufficient water for the birds as well as other needs for the new operation? It is important to have the capacity of your well checked before embarking on a major expansion. Is there sufficient electrical service on your farmstead? For modern poultry facilities, it is very important to have standby generators available in case the electrical power is out for as little as 15 minutes or up to 8 to 10 hours.

• Manure management. This always needs to be considered in the initial planning stages. Do you have adequate landholdings in nearby locations for field spreading? If not, how will you dispose of the manure? Some poultry farmers have built facilities for several hundred thousand birds on the few acres needed for the buildings and access lanes with reliance on neighboring farmers to take the manure. But what happens if the neighboring farms begin generating all the manure they can apply according to DER regulations? If the neighboring farms become developed, then there will be additional pressures on you to handle and dispose of the manure in an environmentally acceptable manner.

• Labor and management capabilities. These need to be realistically assessed before an additional or expanded poultry enterprise is seriously considered. Sales literature will often speak of a "turnkey poultry housing system" that requires little or no labor and management. Such building systems simply do not exist. While it is true that modern poultry facilities with computer controls require less manual labor, there is still considerable skilled labor and management required. If your labor and management capabilities are fully utilized with your present poultry operation, then it must be clearly defined just who will be providing the additional labor and management.

The issues of site selection, utilities, manure management system, and labor and management need to be considered before developing specific details for the structure.

Structural details such as building size, configuration, building materials, insulation, lighting, ventilation, and equipment need to be specified before requesting a cost estimate and making a commitment with a construction firm.

The time spent in planning ahead is probably the best investment a poultry operator can make.

Ag Science College Recognizes 5

NEWARK, Del. — Five University of Delaware College of Agricultural Sciences employees were recognized by their peers at the college's annual conference recently in Newark.

The conference, which focused on developing a strategic plan for the college, concluded with an awards luncheon.

Dr. John C. Nye, dean of the college, served as the master of ceremonies for the presentation of engraved plaques awarded to Drs. J. Thomas Sims, Conrad R. Pope, Conrado M. Gempesaw II, David R. Frey, and William J. Benton.

Sims, associate professor in the department of plant and soil sciences, received the F.D. Chester Award in research. As a soil scientist, Sims has developed a research program that focuses on environmentally sound agricultural management practices.

Sims has worked with the poultry industry to develop nitrogen and phosphorus management programs that maximize crop yields while minimizing the environmental impact of these nutrients on groundwater and surface water. In addition, he has investigated environmentally sound agricultural uses for urban and industrial wastes including sludge composts and coal ash.

A superior performance award was given to Pope, senior scientist in the department of animal science and agricultural biochemistry, to recognize his independent and collaborative contributions to research and diagnostic programs that benefit the poultry industry. His work as a veterinary pathologist has contributed positively to avian health in Delaware.

Gempesaw, associate professor in the department of food and resource economics, received the outstanding teaching award. This award recognizes mastery of subject matter, sensitivity to the concerns of students, and the ability to broaden student perspective of the discipline. Gempesaw is responsible for teaching a college-wide statistics course as well as agricultural finance and advanced production economics courses for the department.

The outstanding academic advisement award went to Frey, associate professor in the department of plant and soil sciences. This award recognizes academic advisement that is characterized by knowledge of university policies, procedures and regulations, and a positive and caring attitude toward students. In addition to teaching courses in the area of ornamental horticulture, Frey acts as faculty advisor to the student Horticulture Club.

Benton, associate dean of the college and associate director of the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, was lauded for his outstanding leadership in the land-grant philosophy of research, teaching, and extension at the college, state, regional, and national level. In addition to his current positions at the university, Benton has served as a researcher, professor, and department chair in the College of Agricultural Sciences.

Retiring in June after 36 years of service to the college, Benton has been involved in a number of leadership roles outside of the university. At the state level, he has served as a member of Delaware's Cancer Research Committee and as chair of the board of trustees of the Delaware Institute of Veterinary Medical Education. He has served as chair of several regional organizations, including the Delmarva Poultry Pathologists, the Northeast Association of Experiment Station Directors, and the Northeast Agricultural Research Committee.

Benton also served as director of the Northeast Computer Institute, which promoted computer adoption in agricultural teaching, research, and extension throughout the northeast region. He is now serving on the Integrated Pest Management Advisory Committee for the northeast region.

Nationally, Benton has served as a member of the Agricultural Research Committee that advises the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture. He also was a representative of the Experiment Station to the Consortium for Developing a Guide for the Care and Use of Agricultural Animals in Agricultural Research and Teaching. Benton served as member and chair of the Committee of Nine, which has the responsibility of reviewing and recommending funding of regional agricultural research to the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Block And Bridle Club Livestock Judging Contest Draws Winners

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — On Saturday, March 21, approximately 20 Penn State students were joined by more than 310 4-H and FFA members from across the commonwealth to compete in the annual Penn State Block and Bridle Club Spring Livestock Judging Contest.

The contest kicks off the spring and summer livestock judging season, which culminates with the state FFA livestock judging contest in June and the state 4-H livestock judging contest in August. Both events are held at Penn State.

Youngsters and students in the livestock judging contest competed in one of four divisions. The junior beginner division was intended for inexperienced 4-H and FFA members who were not required to give oral reasons, and the junior advanced division was reserved for experienced 4-H and FFA members who were required to deliver three sets of oral reasons. Likewise, Penn State students competed in the collegiate amateur and collegiate professional divisions with students in the latter division delivering six sets of oral reasons.

Two classes each of beef cattle, sheep, and swine were judged in the contest. The beef cattle classes included Angus and Simmental heifers. The class of Simmental Heifers featured actual genetic evaluations of performance records and a practical selection situation. The sheep classes were Dorset yearling ewes and Dorset fall ewe lambs, and the swine classes were Duroc and Yorkshire gilts.

Members of the 1991 Penn State Livestock Judging Team served as officials in the contest, and listened to and evaluated oral reasons in the junior advanced division.

Following is a list of show placings.

Pro Ag Elects President

MESHOPPEN (Wyoming Co.) — Sherry Shedd, farm owner from Mansfield, has been elected president of the Progressive Agriculture Organization (Pro Ag).

Shedd and her husband Craig operate a dairy farm near Mansfield. She was elected to the presidency following Pro Ag's annual meeting, held recently in Troy.

Prior to Pro Ag's annual meeting, the organization had been guided by a steering committee, which consisted of 11 members of Pro Ag from several counties. However, the by-laws of Pro Ag, directed the membership to be divided into eight regions. All regions met before the annual meeting and elected a complete set of officers. The presidents from the regions make up the board of directors of Pro Ag.

Shedd represents region four (Tioga and Potter counties). William Dagostin, a dairy farmer from Berwick, was elected to be the organization's vice president. Patricia Martz from Delmacia was elected secretary of Pro Ag, and Louise Rinker from Forksville was elected to treasurer. Both Martz and Rinker had previously served on Pro Ag's steering committee.

The remaining board members are Robert Williams, from Starruca; LaVerne McCarty, Forksville; Dennis Boyanowski, Laceyville; Allen Oaks, Fairdale; and Lazelle Watkins, Columbia Cross Roads.

Shedd said that Tom McCarty from Bradford County and John Tewksbury and Carl Hibbard from Susquehanna County will serve as advisors to the Board. All three are former members of the steering committee.

Shedd said her aim is to help develop a broad-based membership for Pro Ag as well as seeking solutions to the inadequate prices that are being received by the producers of many agriculture commodities. The newly elected president said, "I consider it an honor to be elected the first president of Pro Ag and I envision the organization will be accelerating their efforts on many state issues."

Yeo Farms Announces Spring Events

LOWELLVILLE, Ohio — Yeo Farms announced it is changing the date for its traditional Club Lamb Sale to introduce a new livestock judging competition for young livestock enthusiasts.

The Yeo Farms Club Lamb Sale and Livestock Judging Competition will take place at the farm on Saturday, April 25.

Registration for the judging competition is set for 9:30 a.m. at the farm that day. Junior and senior judging teams from 4-H and FFA clubs are being invited from counties in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, and West Virginia. Yeo Farms will provide several classes of sheep and cattle from their operations for both team and individual judging competitions.

The Yeo Farms Club Lamb Sale will take place after the judging competition at approximately 2 p.m. This year the sale will feature lambs out of a new wether sire owned jointly by Yeo Farms and Yellow Rose Sheep Co., which will also be a guest consignor to the sale. A total of 40-45 lambs will be offered to 4-H and FFA buyers to use as summer projects leading to competition at county and state fairs.

Larry Garner of Carrollton, Ohio will be the auctioneer for the sale.

The Lawrence County 4-H Club will have a refreshment stand for a continental breakfast and lunch.

Association Names Outstanding Tree Farmer

YORK SPRINGS (Adams Co.) — Arthur and Mary Wolfe were selected as Pennsylvania's Outstanding Tree Farmers for 1991.

The Wolfes were presented their award at the Pennsylvania Forestry Association's annual meeting held at Lake Raystown last year.

The selection committee for the Outstanding Tree Farm Contest included Scott Kurtzman, Tree Farm chair-elect; Dave Gregg, DER cooperative forestry section; and Steve Jones, assistant professor at Penn State School of Forest Resources.

Arthur and Mary purchased their farm in 1983 after Art retired from a teaching position at a high school in Montgomery County. Art had taught for 33 years. The farm they purchased had been owned by a member of Mrs. Wolfe's family for two centuries. The farm, known as Deardorff's Mill, has since been designated a Bicentennial Farm by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Several portions of the farm had not been worked for several years prior to the Wolfe's purchase. Most of the fields were overgrown with brush, including poison ivy and multiflora rose. The woodlots had also been ignored and needed work.

The Wolfes joined the Glatfelter Tree Farm Family in 1983 and have relied on the advice of the Glatfelter Pulp Wood Company foresters ever since.

By 1984, a timber sale had been concluded on eight acres yielding 42 MBF of veneer and sawlogs and 55 cords of firewood. The income from this sale was literally plowed back into the land as the Wolfes worked to recover abandoned farmland, plant trees, and treat poison ivy in the woodlots. By mid-1984 the Wolfe's farm was certified as a American Tree Farm.

In addition to the 1984 timber sale, the Wolfes have conducted additional improvement cuts, yielding 73 MBF of veneer and sawlogs, 892 tons of pulpwood, and 79 cords of firewood. They have also worked to control poison ivy and multiflora rose on more than 30 acres of woodland.

Outstanding Tree Farmer

They sprayed for Gypsy Moth once, and seven acres of meadowland have been planted with white pine, Scotch pine, Austrian pine, blue spruce, Douglas fir, hemlock, black walnut, and paulownia. There are now 52 acres of woodland.

The Wolfes are very interested in wildlife and have worked to enhance the wildlife habitat on the property by erecting bluebird boxes, building brush piles, planting game food plots, and preserving den trees and snags. Wolfe takes a special interest in improving the quality of Latimore Creek which runs through their Tree Farm, because he was the director of the Lower Narberth Watershed Association in Montgomery County from 1974-1982 and helped establish the Adopt-a-Stream program in Pennsylvania.

"We have always felt that it is our obligation to be responsible stewards of the farm on which we live," said Arthur. And, if possible, to ensure future generations of a farm that is equal to, or better, than what we purchased. Tree farming enables us to achieve that goal, while at the same time enjoying the economic and aesthetic advantages a well-managed Tree Farm offers. We hope that our participation in the program will encourage others in our area to become similarly involved."

The Wolfes are now competing for the regional Outstanding Tree Farmer Award.

SURPLUS PAINT LIQUIDATION

We have thousands of gallons of the highest quality, industrial grade paint available as a result of military base closing and cancelled government contracts. All these paints are made to comply with strict federal specifications by manufacturers who mainly supply the industrial markets. Many were designed for extreme duty making them a superior choice for farm applications.

Look over the list below and call for more details. Even though we have shipments coming in regularly, we cannot guarantee what we have today we'll have next month. So, buy now while we have it - most can be stored for several years.

Some Types Of Paint Available	Uses
Epoxy (2 Part)	Galvanized roofs - block, concrete and wood
Enamels, alkyd	equipment, general use
Zinc chromite	The best primer for galvanized metal - when top coated with epoxy produces longest lasting coating.
Enamel, silicone
Epoxy concrete primer - sealer, clear
Aluminum heat resistant (1200°)
10 gal. min.

The Best of the Best

The Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality coating represents the best of the best in the Wheeling Corrugating line of premium galvanized roofing and siding. Every panel that carries the 2 ounce coating assures you are getting the toughest, the most durable, the most corrosion resistant galvanized sheet available in today's marketplace.

2oz. Seal of Quality Wheeling

Genuine Old-Time Quality
Every Wheeling 2 oz. sheet is manufactured from heavy gauge steel, topped with an extra thick zinc coating, and formed into profiles that contribute strength and good looks. Build with a Wheeling 2 oz. sheet and you'll be working with the kind of durability and dependability that's been a standard in the industry for almost 100 years.

The Proof is in the Process
The performance behind the Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality is possible because of Wheeling's patented Cook-Nortemen manufacturing process. This technology allows a more consistent quality product, and a more uniform coating with unsurpassed zinc adhesion. The process takes more handling and more time, but the end result is a super premium panel that has its own limited 20-year performance warranty.

Dimensions and Specifications
If your building plans call for roofing and siding materials with exceptional corrosion resistance, minimum upkeep, and old-time toughness, you'll want to check the specs of Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality galvanized.
Gauge: 28
Lengths: Up to 40'
Steel: Full hard, 90,000 psi, cold rolled Wheeling-Pittsburgh carbon steel.
NOTE: * Premium Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality zinc coated natural roofing and siding will outlast painted, regular galvanized or galvalums in most applications!

A Satisfied Customer...
JOHN R. RODGERS, of Belleville had three styles of fencing installed totaling a mile on his farm. John offers these comments. "I looked at others fencers and determined that Beaver Fence Systems had the people that could do a quality job and a quality fence to keep the cattle where I want them. The flexibility of the fence gives me full utilization of the land with maximum efficiency. The job was completed in two days including a barnyard fence, plus 6 and 4 wire pasture fencing."

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

MEAT MATTERS MOST

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Huntingdon County Conservation District is requesting names and addresses of those that would like to submit bids for the construction of Agricultural Waste Storage Structures to be funded in part by the Chesapeke Bay Program. Construction of these projects is expected to begin during the 1992 construction season. The sites will be located in Northern Huntingdon County.

Prospective contractors will receive a bid package which contains instructions to bidders, a sample contract form, the plans and specifications for the project, and a bid sheet

Small and minority businesses and women's business enterprises are encouraged to respond to this invitation for bids.

Sealed bids will be accepted from the date announced on each bid package until the public bid opening approximately three weeks later.

To obtain a bid package, contact Dave Evans, Nutrient Management Technician, Cheaspeake Bay Program, at (814) 627-4911 or the Huntingdon County Conservation District at the following address:

RD #1 Box 7C
Huntingdon, PA 16652
(814) 627-1627

As projects become available and necessitate sealed bids. Bid packages will be sent out to all those who have requested them. If you requested bid packages last year, your name is still on the list. There is no need to request bid packages again. Currently, we are expecting to have two or three projects to be bid this year.

E-Z Dumper

TURN YOUR PICKUP INTO A DUMP TRUCK IN LESS THAN ONE HOUR.

E-Z Dumper is the original hydraulically operated dump unit for pickup trucks. With E-Z Dumper you can unload your pickup truck bed in under thirty seconds with the turn of a key. You'll never have to unload your truck by hand again!

The E-Z Dumper can hold and unload up to 4,000 lbs. or two cubic yards of firewood, topsoil, gravel, mulch, grain, or whatever, depending on the weight-carrying capacity of your truck.

Easy To Install And Operate. Do-it-yourself installation of E-Z Dumper is a breeze. No alterations are needed for most trucks.

Just slide the dumper into your truckbed, secure it with bolts and holes already on your truck, and you're ready to go. We even include the hydraulic fluid!

A Durable Investment. E-Z Dumper is designed to take a beating from the toughest loads, from two yards of cordwood to two tons of crushed stone, while providing you with years of reliable service.

The Eby Wrangler...
★ Better Looking ★ Better Built
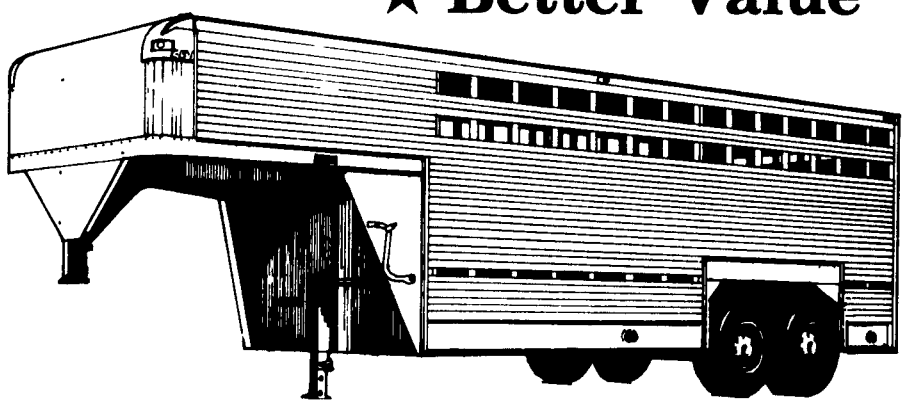
★ Better Value



The Wrangler Model 2000-OH represents a new level of value in livestock trailers.

Its standard specifications, top-quality components and proven engineering are found in other Wrangler models. But the new 2000-OH is less expensive. By standardizing height and width and by limiting the number of optional accessories, Eby lowers the production costs for this model. Now you can get all our traditional craftsmanship in a top-value gooseneck.

Unlike other "budget" trailers on the market, the Wrangler 2000-OH achieves a price breakthrough without compromising quality. Consider these features, standard on the new Wranger 2000-OH:

- 7,000# Dexter Torque-Flex axles
- Steel-belted radial tires, 10-ply rating
- Aerodynamic, attractive design
- Sealed beam lights with enclosed, externally accessible wiring
- 2-year warranty

Specifications

- Available in 14', 16', 18', 20' lengths
- 7' Width
- 6'6" Inside height

Birds of every size get the right amount of water on low pressure.

Ziggity's new two-stage metering pin gives day-old birds, who typically trigger the pin side-to-side, just the right amount of water. When more mature birds trigger the pin vertically, they get up to 200% more water.

And it all happens at low pressure levels—levels that prevent excess water from bypassing birds' beaks and saturating your litter. This means better feed conversion, bigger, healthier birds — and more profitable broilers.

By Joining NFO, Farmers May Getter Better Price For Products

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

INTERCOURSE (Lancaster Co.) — Rampant industry consolidations may be hurting farmers by eliminating good prices for milk and other farm products, according to an area director of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) who spoke at a regional meeting here last week.

Ed Robinson, milk commodity manager and area director for the NFO, spoke to about 30 farmers at the meeting. He outlined what NFO members have to look forward to in the coming months.

NFO is a national commodity organization that helps farmers get a better price for their products.

Recent mergers of large cheese producing factories have caused considerable loss of income for several farms in the northern part of Pennsylvania and New York, according to Robinson. The NFO commodity manager said that consolidations have caused a cutback in milk buying to the point where several farms have been cut off.

Not taking extra

"The plants that are open are only taking what they want and what their needs are and they're not taking any extra," he said. The plants are not building up any milk inventories.

The M&W price at the time of the meeting was $11.21 a hundredweight, up $1.17 from the same time last year, according to Robinson. Although the NFO has obtained an additional two contracts in the New York city region, NFO expects the M&W price to fall another $.20 to $.40, with no recovery of higher prices until later this year.

Also, a larger independent handler in New Jersey was paying substantial milk premiums in the past. But recently, the premiums have been removed in many counties stretching down to the southeast corner of the state. Approximately 12 cheese plants closed in the northeast in the past two years, and this has added to the problems in selling milk to independent buyers.

The handlers, said Robinson, will first "remove the premiums, and then they'll cut off the farms." In upper New York, 13 farms have been cut off. "Some of that trend will probably head down in this direction," he said.

Become stronger

Robinson said that farmers have to become stronger by organizing and joining the NFO. Because buyers will always react to the organized movement of supply, he said, the NFO is committed to providing all farmers with a price that covers cost of production plus a reasonable profit.

NFO wants its dairy farm members to continue production so sufficient quantities of the commodity are built up for negotiation. Already, as of December 1991, in Federal Orders 1, 2, and 4, milk demand is up 50 million pounds, from about 1.8 billion to 1.95 billion pounds. In January 1992, the demand was up 72 million pounds over January 1991. February demand is up about 124 million pounds over the same period last year.

However, during the same time period, 910 farms stopped milk production. Although some farms began producing again, 836 farms are still not producing in the federal order regions.

Farms in Pennsylvania and Maryland are "getting bigger," said Robinson, and farmers must "get bigger just to stay even."

Farmers stick together

Robinson said the situation will become more severe unless farmers begin to "stick together." The value of joining an organization such as NFO becomes clear, according to the commodity manager. He outlined several benefits of joining the NFO, such as a three times per month trust-protected gauranteed check. Also, the NFO helps its members become better managers to increase profit potential.

"The NFO is the only organization in American agriculture that has an aim and a goal to save American agriculture," said Clare Flynn, national director to the NFO. At the meeting, Flynn discussed some of the highlights of the national convention and other news for the members.

NFO is in the process of starting a farm credit union, said Flynn. The national director said that the system will begin as a pilot project, and, if successful, will move to other regional areas and ultimately to the national level.

Several other commodity representatives spoke at the meeting, and a secretary's and treasurer's report were read.

Supporting NFO

In addition, John Garland, NFO vice president, spoke about the importance of joining and supporting the NFO.

"The message that we're taking to the country is that, when farmers begin to get together and market, the old structure obviously isn't pleased with that," said the Evansville, Indiana hog farmer. "But it's necessary for the producers to understand what the long-term goal is, and that's to gather more and more farmers together. We continue to unite farmers until we have enough together that we go to the marketplace as businessmen and say our production costs are so much. We have to recover that production cost and a reasonable amount of profit."

Garland told Lancaster Farming that, because of consolidations and mergers, there is "a shrinking market for farmers. Our market just gets less and less and less, because there are less outlets for us to sell in."

Garland said farmers "cannot continue to go to the marketplace as individuals." He said farmers must join an organization such as NFO and "unite just to be competitive."

Farmers independent

Many farmers in the Lancaster area remain independent, and enjoy the freedoms of being able to contract their commodities on their own. But with the current consolidations, that must end, according to Garland.

"The American farmer has lived and died by this rugged independence," he said. "But what he is slowly beginning to understand is the way he's going to continue to be rugggedly independent is together. Independently rugged and independent, (then) he's going to perish."

Farmers are finding it more difficult to obtain production costs back from many markets, and this is where the NFO steps in. Garland said that Lancaster County farmers are "hard workers. They do the work, they're not afraid of work.

"And my hats off to them for that. If more farmers were like that, I think we'd be better off," he said.

"Our ultimate goal has never changed," said Robinson. "The NFO goal is to bargain with significant quantities of agriculture commodities so that all farmers will receive cost of production plus a reasonable profit. We don't think that's too much to ask."

NFO membership dues are $75 per year. To join, contact Ed Robinson or Dave Hay at National Farmers Organization, 7283 Airport Rd., Bath, PA 18014, (215) 837-8200. The national address is NFO, 2505 Elwood Dr., Ames, IA 50010, (800) 247-2110.

Will Cost Of Fuel Affect Tillage Planning?

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. — The cost of diesel may have you looking to cut back on tillage to reduce your fuel bill. But ag economists advise growers to pencil out the cost savings carefully.

"You may not be saving as much money as you think," said Dr. Earl Fuller, professor of farm management at the University of Minnesota.

According to "Doane's Agricultural Report," which was based on University of Minnesota data, eliminating one trip with an 18-foot cultivator will save you less than a dollar per acre in fuel costs (see Table 1).

Growers are annually reminded of the cost of fuel when diesel bills arrive after harvest. For some growers, the first impulse is to cut tillage passes the following spring.

According to ag economists and ag engineers, however, tillage accounts for only 20 percent of fuel costs to produce a crop. And the largest fuel consumption comes from combining, which typically accounts for 34 percent of diesel use.

Ownership Costs Vs. Operating Costs

How much money will you save if you eliminate one tillage trip on your farm in the spring? To find out, you must break out your ownership and operating costs, said John Siemens, ag engineer at the University of Illinois.

Ownership costs for tillage take into account equipment costs for depreciated interest, storage, insurance and taxes. Operating costs include repairs, maintenance, fuel and lubrication.

If you use your own machinery, your ownership costs will stay the same whether you use the equipment or not, said Rich Johnson, senior scientist at Deere & Company's Technical Center.

"You'll only save on operating costs, primarily diesel fuel and repair costs," he said.

The Payback For Tillage

Experts point out that tillage, used judiciously, can actually make money by improving weed control and nutrient efficiency. Alternatives to tillage may increase input costs and decrease efficiency because weed control and nutrient availability may suffer.

"Growers may spend that dollar per acre they save on lower fuel costs to pay for increased costs of other herbicides if they go with a preemerge program," said Fuller in Minnesota.

"Preemergence products may cost growers two to three dollars more per acre than PPI herbicides," said Marshall McGlamery, professor of weed science at the University of Illinois.

By eliminating certain tillage passes, McGlamery said that growers may get stratification of nutrients, such as phosphorus, calcium, and magnesium. "When this happens, fertilizers may not reach the root zone and will not benefit the plant."

"This is especially a problem with lime if it's not incorporated," said George Rehm, professor of soil fertility at the University of Minnesota. "Lime needs to be incorporated into the root zone, at least four to six inches deep."

Costs of Tillage Per Acre

Implement	Fuel Cost	Lubrication/Maintenance	Total
Moldboard Plow 6-16" btms.	$1.55	$2.62	$4.17
24-foot Chisel Plow	$0.97	$0.78	$1.75
24-foot tandem disk	$0.47	$0.53	$1.00
18-foot field cultivator	$0.51	$0.49	$1.00

Note: All figures are adapted from University of Minnesota's Farm Machinery Economic Cost Estimates For 1992. Diesel fuel price is $0.85/gallon.

For growers who apply urea as a nitrogen source, adequate incorporation is equally important. Putting the urea under the soil surface greatly reduces volatilization, keeping the nitrogen from escaping into the atmosphere.

Incorporate Herbicides As Part Of Tillage

"Some tillage trips are more important than others," said Loren Bode, ag engineer at the University of Illinois. "If you're going to cut out a tillage pass to save fuel costs, make sure it's not a trip that you're using to incorporate fertilizers and preplant herbicides."

"The number one thing growers need to start doing is to make incorporation part of tillage," McGlamery said. "For example, you can spray PPI herbicides on the stubble, then incorporate. Evenly incorporated herbicides generally give the most consistent weed control."

"If you do some primary tillage such as chiseling, the depth of the furrows should be less than the depth you intend to run your incorporating tool," said Bode. "Otherwise, you're going to spray some herbicide down into the bottom of those furrows where it will be covered with soil, and not uniformly incorporated."

Fall Vs. Spring Tillage

One way to save a tillage trip is to eliminate or modify primary tillage.

"Overwinter the soybean or corn stubble, apply herbicides impregnated on dry fertilizer, and incorporate with a disk or field cultivator on your first pass," said Bode.

If you currently moldboard plow with six 16-inch bottoms, this system could save you $1.55 per acre in operating costs. If you now use a 24-foot chisel plow, you could reduce your fuel costs by $0.97 per acre.

"As long as you prepare an adequate seedbed, you won't give up the efficiency of working in your herbicides and fertilizer," said Bode.

A disk may be cheaper to run than a field cultivator for incorporation passes. Data shows that running an 18-foot field cultivator costs 51 cents per acre in fuel. One trip with a 24-foot tandem disk costs you 47 cents for fuel.

Growers can also use combination tools to work in herbicides and fertilizer. Incorporation tools that combine a disk gang with a field cultivator section can handle high amounts of surface residue without clogging, and they also leave considerable residue on the surface for soil conservation.

"Experience with several of these combination tools indicates that they incorporate more uniformly than one pass with a disk or field cultivator, but not as well as two passes," said Bode. For best results, combination tools must be operated at high ground speeds in soils with good tilth. Operating at low speeds or in wet soil does not provide adequate mixing for weed control.

Count Your Passes

When you choose your herbicide program, look closely at how many tillage passes your herbicide requires. Several herbicides don't require a leveling pass before application on chiseled ground.

To Jump-Start Your Alfalfa Production, Think Custom Farm Seed break-thru®.

break-thru® was introduced to the serious alfalfa producer 3 years ago as the first winter-hardy alfalfa variety combining rapid emergence, fast re-growth, high feed value and outstanding overall performance with exceptional resistance to major pests and diseases.

CFS break-thru placed first in "Average Alfalfa Yield In Tons Dry Matter Per Acre" at the Marshfield, WI 1991, 3-cut trial. 81 alfalfa varieties were entered.

In Michigan, break-thru took top place in the 1990 "Relative Feed Value Test" in the "Michigan Alfalfa Variety Testing Program," MSU, Lake City, MI.

And its area of adaptability extends through Pennsylvania and into New England.

PARS, Inc. markets Custom Farm Seed throughout the Eastern United States. In addition to break-thru alfalfa, count on PARS for a complete line of CFS seed, including hybrid seed corn, soybeans and waxy corn hybrids.

SCS Assists West Virginians

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service (SCS), which is the nation's natural resource agency on private land, will take a look at "cultural resources" when it assists West Virginia land users.

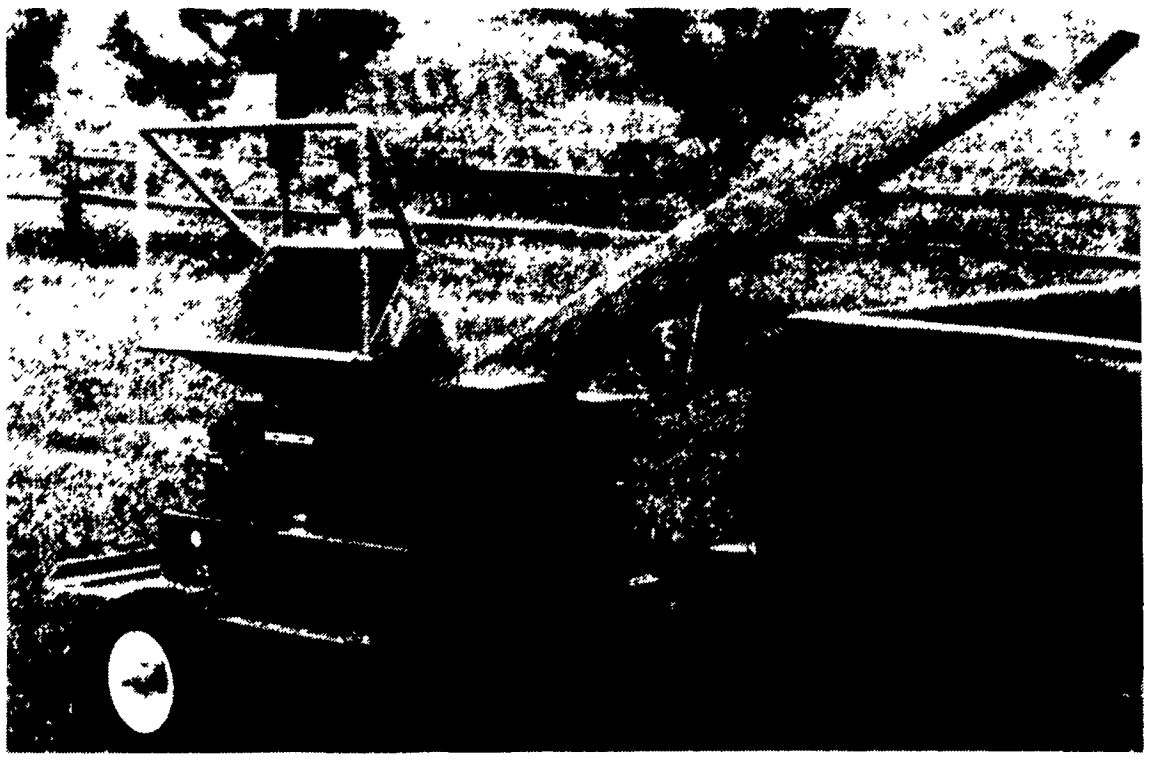
SCS field personnel help about 12,000 West Virginians a year make plans to reduce erosion and improve water quality.

Cultural resources include prehistoric archeological sites and historic structures and artifacts.

"These are non-replaceable resources needing our appreciation and consideration," said Rollin N. Swank, SCS state conservationist. "Besides an ethical responsibility to protect our nation's heritage, the SCS also has a legal responsibility in this regard."

Swank said, "Our intent is to treat cultural resources as we do other natural resources, soil, water, wildlife and the visual quality of the landscape. Our job is to help people conserve, protect, and nurture these resources for present and future generations."

Field personnel will be looking at land forms and surface characteristics for clues to archeological sites. Historic features may also be discovered during farm planning or other forms of technical assistance.



EHPRATA (Lancaster Co.) — K-W Manufacturing announces their new Over the Road-Towable Chipper, Model 65-07210.

Features include compact design for road transport, heavy duty reenforced construction, folding discharge chute, and a rotating chip deflector. Also included are an 18-horsepower Kohler engine, electric start, a 5-gallon fuel tank, and highway speed hubs and spindles.

For more information on K.W. Chippers or the name of your authorized K.W. dealer, contact Hamilton Equipment, 567 South Reading Road, Ephrata, PA 17522, 717 733-7951.

Cost Of Fuel

Eradicane 6.7-E and Sutan+, work best when the incorporation tool is set to cut four to six inches deep. No leveling pass is needed as long as you run your incorporation tool at least as deep as your furrows.

Acetanilides, like Lasso and Dual, need to be incorporated into the top two inches of soil. Triazine herbicides, such as Extrazine II 4L and Bladex 4L, are labelled for incorporation no deeper than three inches. Therefore, furrows can only be two to three inches deep if you use these herbicides. In many cases, you'll need to make a leveling pass before applying the herbicide, and one after to incorporate.

As you examine all of your options, one point keeps resurfacing. If you're looking to reduce a tillage trip, keep in mind that tilling the soil isn't the only reason you're running over the field.

"What it all comes down to is this," said Rehm. "The grower knows the importance of weed control to maintain high yields. He won't sacrifice that one-dollar-per-acre savings. He'll use the weed control practice that gives him the best control."

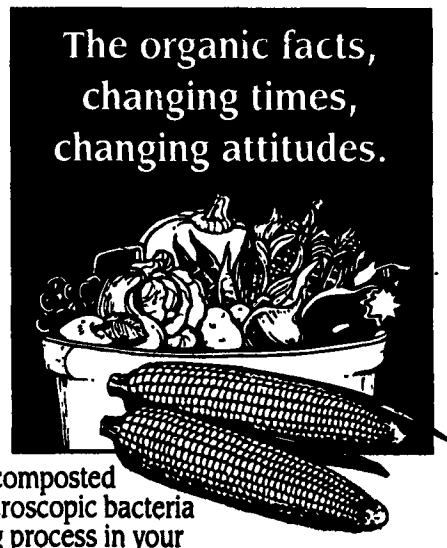
How can Erth-Rite's N-P-K analysis of 1-1-1 fulfill your plants' needs? And then some?



Instant N-P-K availability

Erth-Rite organic fertilizer gives your plants 3% N-P-K to get up and going. Research shows this is all they can use instantly from any fertilizer, anyway.

Plus long-term N-P-K availability

But Erth-Rite is also a composted soil builder. It is filled with microscopic bacteria that continue their composting process in your soil. This process releases minerals and trace elements, fixes nitrogen from the air, and holds nutrients where plants can make use of them. Over several months, more and more N-P-K is available to your crops as they grow.

High yields with Erth-Rite

Since 1961 we have shown farmers the proof they need: healthy, lush, productive crops. In fact, with a careful program, you can expect yields equal or superior to the results of any chemical fertilizer system.

Benefits you wouldn't expect from other fertilizers

Because it restores health and vitality in your soil, Erth-Rite provides unexpected benefits:

- Plants develop healthier root systems as they work to gather nutrition. They crowd out weeds and can lower your need for herbicide.
- Deeper, stronger roots allow plants to better withstand the withering effects of draught.
- Trace elements from Erth-Rite make their way into your feed crops. This can actually reduce your need for costly feed supplements and can improve the health of your herd. And, since your animals are healthier, it can dramatically lower your vet bills.
- With the full range of nutrition they need, plants are more resistant to insects. Farmers report a dramatic reduction in the need for insecticides.
- Although more expensive per ton than chemical fertilizer, you use less per acre. You can actually save money by changing to Erth-Rite.
- Because Erth-Rite is natural, organic and 100% safe, you don't have to worry about government restrictions, product liabilities, or personal safety when handling it.

Give Erth-Rite a try.

We don't expect you to believe everything you read and make a 100% change over night. But we do want you to give us a try—a one-field test plot. You'll see for yourself that organic farming with Erth-Rite produces excellent results. So talk to us about planning for this year or next.

We'll need the results of a soil test. For your convenience we have our own lab, but we'll be happy to work with any other scientific analysis.

At Erth-Rite, we have the products and the know-how to help you farm successfully.

We have bins and spreaders for rent and we also do custom spreading. Give us a call for more information and the name of your nearest dealer.

New York Announces Bull Test Figures

ADDISON, N.Y. — It is becoming more evident as the bull test progresses, that the 1991-1992 crop of beef bulls offers a very wide range from which to choose your next herd sire or potential show bull.

As always, there are many bulls that will not make the cut at bull test sale time for one of many reasons. There are, however, plenty of outstanding 5- and 6-frame score bulls in all breeds represented that are equipped with moderate birth weights, good weaning weights, and excellent average daily gains on test to date.

Twenty-two of the 110 bulls have a cumulative average daily gain of 5.0 or more. Leading the way is Angus with eight.

Little International Set April 11

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The Little International Livestock Exposition, set for 8 a.m. on Saturday, April 11 at the Penn State Ag Arena, is a time-honored tradition at Penn State.

This year is very special for the college as it celebrates the 75th year of the expo.

When the first class of showmen entered the ring for the inaugural Little I in 1917, they showed livestock in the spirit of competitive sportsmanship that would become characteristic of the show throughout the decades. The first show was held in the pavilion (now the Pavillion Theatre), but as the years passed the Little I was moved to the Ice pavilion, the Agway barn, and now is held annually in the Ag Arena.

Over the next several decades, sizes and shapes of livestock changed. Beef cattle became smaller framed and thicker made, with Aberdeen Angus and Hereford breeds predominating. Sheep followed cattle in type, as evidenced by smaller, more compact, heavier muscled types. On the other hand, swine were extremely lean with very little muscle.

Until the 1950s, the horse division consisted solely of draft breeds. Catalogs from past events document the tradition and changes that span the 75-year existence of the Little International.

The 1947 Little International

In 1947, after World War II, beef cattle became smaller and thicker, leading to a stouter, bold fronted appearance. Small skeletal stature seemed to dominate livestock type as sheep remained in a small package and hogs took a drastic change from a decade earlier. The general trend was toward very heavy conditioned smaller framed swine.

Both Aberdeen Angus yearling heifers and steers were shown in the beef cattle division, along with Herefords and Shorthorns. Sheep breeds shown in 1947 included yearling ewes of the following breeds, Cheviots, Hampshires, Shropshires and Southdowns. Poland China barrows, Duroc Jersey gilts, and both Hampshire barrows and gilts were exhibited in the swine division. A single class of draft horse aged mares provided the excitement in the horse division.

Some Little International traditions have been eliminated, such as 1947's Pig Derby and sheep shearing demonstration. The sale of raffle tickets, a continuing tradition, provided funds for the show's sponsor, the Block and Bridle Club. Raffle winners took home selected cuts of meat in 1947. Not yet an all-day event, that year's outing did not begin until 1:00 p.m.

The 1961 Little International

The decade of the 1960s brought only slight changes to the Little International. Sheep became smaller in their kind, but hogs once again headed toward the leaner, larger-framed kind.

American Quarter Horses featured thick, heavy, shortlegged, agile horses of the "Bulldog" type. Showmen and fitters of Shorthorn bulls, heifers, and steers competed against showmen of Hereford and Angus heifers and steers.

American Quarter Horse mares and yearling fillies replaced draft horses, while the swine classes consisted of Berkshire bred gilts, and Yorkshire bred gilts and barrows. The sheep division was similar to that of 14 years earlier, with students showing Cheviots, Shropshires, Southdowns, and Hampshires.

The 1961 show was patterned after the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago — which has since been ended and moved to Louisville, Ky. — as the North American International Livestock Exposition, held annually in November. That show featured square dancers, a parade of herd sires, a sheep dog demonstration, and a faculty milking contest.

The 1977 Little International

The 1970s saw continued change in livestock types, with cattle becoming more moderately framed and cleaner patterned.

Sheep moved toward larger-framed, more capacious, and heavier muscled types. Hogs were generally large-framed, extremely lean, and extremely heavily muscled.

In the fifteen years between 1962 and 1977, Charolais bulls and heifers entered the competition for the first time as did crossbred steers. While the crowd watched Polled Herefords and Angus strut their stuff, several breeds of sheep were replaced.

Southdowns were still popular, and Dorset and Suffolk ewes were shown. Between 1962 and 1977, Penn State's herd of Berkshire swine had been replaced with Durocs, and both gilts and barrows were exhibited. Quarter horse yearlings and 2-year-olds were once again the featured horse entries.

The 1992 Little International

The type of livestock exhibited at the 1992 Little International will typify the types found nationally.

Increased emphasis has been placed on the "predictability" of breeding livestock. Breeding values and predictions of progeny performance are important in 1992.

The push toward increased frame size in beef cattle has moderated with a trend toward muscle expression and fleshing ability. Sheep circles continue to emphasize size, scale, muscle, and structural correctness.

The swine industry has recognized the need to produce lean, heavily-muscled hogs that are in structurally-sound, large-framed packages. American Quarter Horse type presently focuses on a taller, cleaner, more athletic horse compared with those of 30 years earlier.

The 75th anniversary of the Little International sees only minor changes in the breeds exhibited from those in 1977. The Charolais herd has been dispersed and replaced with Simmental cattle. But Polled Herefords and Angus continue to be shown.

Although plans include complete dispersal of the Suffolk flock, both Suffolks and Dorsets will be exhibited this year. Southdowns are no longer raised at Penn State. Breeds of swine include Durocs and Yorkshires, with additional classes of crossbreds included this year. The horse division is now limited to Quarter horses, and both yearlings and 2-year-olds will be shown.

As in the past, the Block and Bridle Club will sell raffle tickets to raise funds for their activities. New events have been added for this special edition of the Little International, including a special showmanship contest for alumni and a petting zoo for the children.

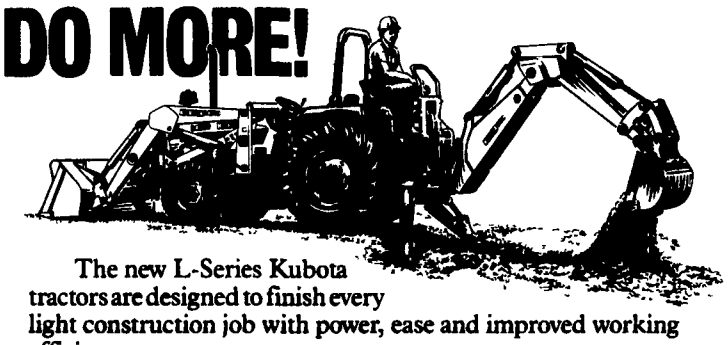
MOVE MORE LIFT MORE DO MORE!



The new L-Series Kubota tractors are designed to finish every light construction job with power, ease and improved working efficiency.

Increased front loader lifting capacities help you move more material and lift heavier loads. A powerful hydraulic system results in shorter cycle times.

You'll also be able to do more with the compact Kubota L-Series – 23-49 PTO HP, tight turning radius and 4WD. And the innovative "Ever-Clutch"– a first-of-a-kind wet clutch that doubles clutch life and even comes with its own warranty.

Demanding construction jobs demand more options. The L-Series has them, including a hefty 3-point hitch, a variety of performance matched implements and industrial tires.

White Introduces Mid-Size Tractors

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. — The AGCO/White dealers' new 6000 line of mid-size tractors offers farmers 10 new models in three distinct series.

The 6065, at 63 PTO HP, the 6085, at 80 PTO HP, and the 6105, at 106 PTO HP, are available in two-wheel drive and power front axle, with some models offering the choice of deluxe cabs or ROPS.

"For the first tirne ever, the White dealer network can offer the farmer a strong and versatile mid-size tractor product line that includes as standard equipment many features that are optional on most competitors' models," said Dexter Schaible, the company's tractor marketing manager.

Synchronized reverser transmission is standard on each White 6000-series tractor. It allows the operator to change direction in any gear and by moving only one control. This feature is especially important in livestock operations when working with a front-end loader, when blading and when feeding.

The White liquid-cooled diesel engine on each of the new tractors features individual injection pumps that provide precision fuel timing and result in good fuel economy and efficient power production. Its modular design permits interchangeability in cylinder-to-cylinder parts.

The power front axle, also standard across the 6000 series, eliminates "U" joints, allowing the tractors to harness torque better and gives them a 50-degree steering axle that results in shorter turns and better handling.

The new tractors' hydraulic linkage clutch saves labor and dollars because it automatically adjusts to the wear of the clutch. Hydraulic wet disc brakes on each of the 6000-series tractors resist fadeout and give the farmer superior stopping power.

At 106 PTO HP, the 6105 is perfect for the growing trend to conservation tillage because of its electronic governor, and is equally well-suited for livestock use because of its power and synchronized reverser transmission. The electronic governor controls the tractor, allowing it to maintain extremely precise and consistent ground speeds in the field when pulling a planter or sprayer, resulting in more accurate planting and exact, even distribution of pesticides. The higher productivity that results from this precision planting and spraying, combined with the increased fuel economy the governor provides, significantly reduces operating costs.

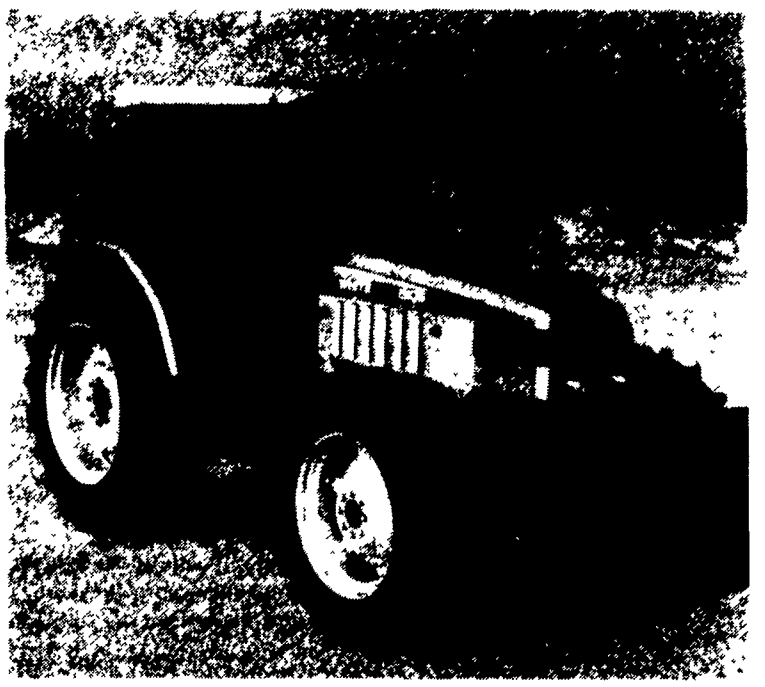
The 6105 deluxe cab increases comfort and ease of operation by putting all controls to the operator's right. It's also equipped with an air-ride seat, tilt steering wheel, low-noise sound insulation and is designed for easy access when getting into and out of the cab. The 6105 is available in two-wheel drive and power front axle.

The 6085 tractor's 80 PTO HP comes from a turbocharged engine that delivers a powerful 33.6 percent torque rise. It gets up to speed and delivers full power more quickly than most other similar-sized tractors, making it a natural for jobs such as loader work where the operator wants the type of quick power surges this tractor easily delivers.

It comes in deluxe cab or ROPS models and in two-wheel drive and power front axle. A 30x30 transmission with power high/low is optional.

The ROPS version of the 6065 tractor's 63 PTO h.p. is for the economy-minded farmer who still needs a tractor that offers plenty of versatility. An efficient and powerful (29.8 percent high torque rise) tractor, the 6065's straddle mount allows the operator to get a better feel for the work he has to do when working in low-clearance areas.

The 6065 is available in two-wheel drive and power front axle, and it also comes with a deluxe-cab option.



At 106 PTO h.p., White's 6105 is perfect for the growing trend to conservation tillage because of its power and synchronized reverser transmission.

Dekalb Honors Corn Yield Winner

ORLANDO, Fla. — Matthew Maximuck of Doylestown was honored by Dekalb Plant Genetics for state first place yield in the no-till, non-irrigated division of the 1991 National Corn Yield Contest.

Maximuck and his wife, Cheryl, accepted the award at a reception held in conjunction with the National Corn Growers Association Corn Classic in Orlando, Fla.

To qualify as a state first place winner, Maximuck planted Dekalb brand DK582 seed, which produced 189.05 bushels per acre. His outstanding yield ranked him among Dekalb's 100 national, state first, second, and third place winners.

Maximuck has been farming for 36 years, and also grows soybeans, wheat, and rye. This is his first NOGA yield contest win.

Cheryl and Matthew Maximuck.

Maple Syrup Industry Should Answer Survey

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Leaders of the maple syrup industry requested the USDA National Agricultural Statistics Service to conduct a survey which would provide unbiased and statistically reliable data for the industry to plan for continued orderly development.

The increased demand for this data has prompted the reinstatement of the maple syrup estimation program.

Maple producers in the 11 major producing states (Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Wisconsin) willo be contacted twice each year. In Pennsylvania, the surveys will be conducted by the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service.

Production information will be collected in the late spring following the sap run. Price and disposition data will be gathered in the fall. The combined responses will provide maple syrup producers and industry leaders with answers to the following questions:

- How much is being produced?
- How much can be produced?
- What is the value of production?
- What is its potential?
- What is the industry structure?

All information provided by a maple surup producer is confidential and will be used only to produce state, regional, and national statistics. Survey results are available to producers, at their request, as an aid in managing their operation. Production estimates will be published in the June Crop Production report and the price and disposition estimates will be released in the November Crop Production report.

For more information on the maple syrup survey, contact Heather Shey at the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Survey, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17109, (717) 787-3904

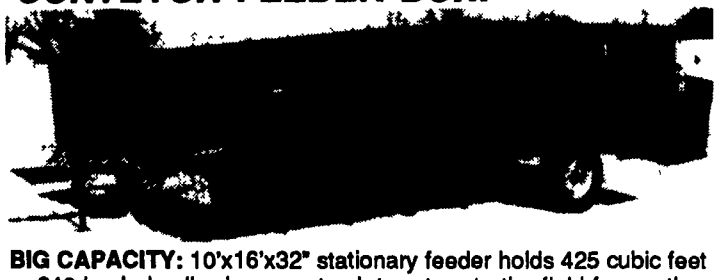
When Your Truck Reaches The Blower, Just Back Into Your RICHARDTON Conveyor Box, Dump Your Load And Race Away For The Next!

LOOK AT THIS ALL NEW STATIONARY CONVEYOR FEEDER BOX!



BIG CAPACITY: 10'x16'x32" stationary feeder holds 425 cubic feet or 340 bushels allowing your truck to return to the field for another load. The Richardton Model SF16 Stationary Feeder automatically and evenly feeds into the blower.

HYDRAULICALLY DRIVEN: For smooth trouble free operation. Two hydraulic control valves allow operator to run floor apron independently of cross conveyor and beaters.

EASY TO MOVE: Equipped with two-wheel axle, center hitch and jack. Hitch may be left on when feeder is in use.

Box Construction:
10' x 16' with 32" sides, 14 gauge steel sides, 3/4" plywood resin coated fiber overlay floor

Cross Conveyor:
22" wide, D662 pintle chain, variable hydraulic speed control, 34" long fold up extension adjusts up to 37" high

Hydraulic Requirements:
Approximately 13 GPM at 1700 PSI

Apron:
D667H pintle chain assemblies

Beaters:
Dual spiral type

Reversible Conveyor:
Delivery can be converted to the opposite side

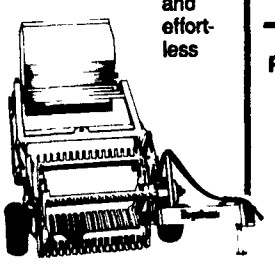
Degelman DON'T WAIT! NOW IS THE TIME TO REMOVE THE ROCKS SO YOUR FIELDS ARE READY FOR SPRING PLANTING!

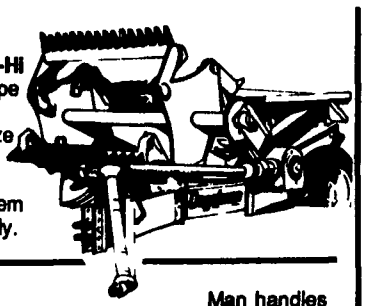
FOR ROCK PICKERS & ROCK RAKES IN HEAVY DUTY QUALITY SEE BINKLEY & HURST BROS. INC. TODAY!

ROCK PICKERS

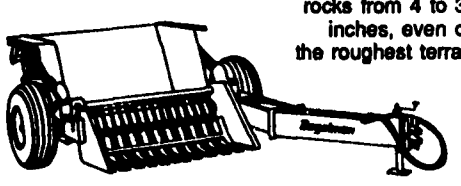
Hi-Lift
The Hi-Lift makes field piling and the removal of rocks by truck simple and effortless



Semi-Hi
A hardworking reel type picker ideal for field piling. Picks gravel-size stones to boulders in continuous picking action, then dumps them conveniently and easily.

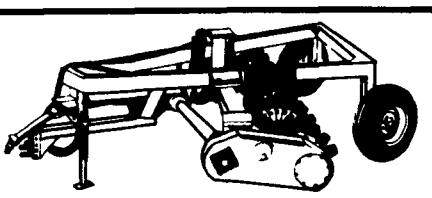


Prong Type
Man handles rocks from 4 to 36 inches, even on the roughest terrain



ROCK RAKE

The Degelman Rock Rake is designed to windrow small to medium sized rocks and other ground debris for easy picking. Rock-free fields mean less down-time, greater profits.



TIME IS MONEY and when your equipment is down, it costs you plenty. That's why Degelman engineered farm implements are a wise investment.

CONSERVATION YIELD-TILL TOOL

QUESTION:
Do you need to comply with Federal Regulations requiring minimum residue on top of the ground?

ANSWER:
D.M.I. YIELD-TILL™ Systems provide the solution to your compliance problems.

QUESTION:
Is soil compaction limiting your crop production?

ANSWER:
D.M.I. YIELD-TILL™ Systems shatter compacted soils. This prevents rain water run-off as well as making room for plant root systems to seek moisture in dry years.

Q/P TIGER-POINT THE HEART OF YIELD-TILL
DMI Ecolo-Til Conservation Yield-Till Tools will eliminate your Number-One Yield Robber... SOIL COMPACTION...resulting from:
• Equipment Traffic - surface compaction
• Heavy Rains - hydraulic compaction
• Moldboard Plows, etc. - plowsole compaction
DMI Ecolo-Tils solve these problems with:
• Parabolic Shanks that lift soil instead of dragging through
• Q/P Tiger-Points with patented wings fracture, relocate, and open tight soils
With a DMI Ecolo-Til, you get the DMI Yield-Till advantage whether you practice No-Till, Ridge-Till or Mulch-Till

You Won't Find A Better No-Till Drill Than GREAT PLAINS

Great Plains Solid Stand no-till drills have the planting accuracy drilled soybeans need;
(1) Depth-Gauging Press Wheels keep the opener from penetrating too deep; planting depth can be quickly changed with exclusive dial-a-depth adjustment system.
(2) The spring-loaded coulters offer up to 400 lbs. per row of down-pressure, ensuring that they open a groove in even the toughest residue and soil. Each coulter is integrated with its opener and press wheel arm so that coulters and openers are close enough for good tracking but separated to allow good trash flow.
(3) A spring steel mounting bar allows the entire planting system to flex with the terrain, for even more flexibility for the coulter and opener assembly.
(4) The double-disk openers and coulters flex independently to pass over stones easily. A sturdy down-pressure spring with 56 lbs. of pressure per inch holds the opener firmly in the groove.

THE NO-TILL DRILL THAT WORKS

Here's why:
The end wheel-opener alignment means that the openers neither gouge the soil nor leave the ground when traversing rolling ground; they simply follow the terrain right with the end wheels. The end wheels also act as stabilizers to hold the openers steady when seeding on slopes. By keeping the ground-working components well protected within the profile of the end wheels, the operating costs are low on our Solid Stand No-Till Drill.

Their versatility, their residue clearance, and their compact design make these drills a natural choice. Their narrow widths make them perfect for narrow roads and gates.

Even with all these outstanding no-till capabilities, these drills are well-suited to conventional seeding as well. And of course they have the same great opener and press wheel system offered by all Great Plains Solid Stand drills.

FREE YOURSELF FROM SPREADER CHAINS AND SAVE MONEY

The proven Hydra-Spread design can free you from the grief and maintenance of spreader apron chains for good!

This low maintenance spreader features solid poly boards both on the sides and the floor for slippery, no-stick performance. Hydraulic push power replaces the extensive mechanism needed in ordinary spreaders.'

Why pay more for yesterday's ideas and designs? The design of tomorrow is PRICED RIGHT and will be on the job for years. We deliver to your farm.

If Your Silo Needs New Life...
Try Our Poly Silo Liners
-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-
- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

ATTENTION FARMERS
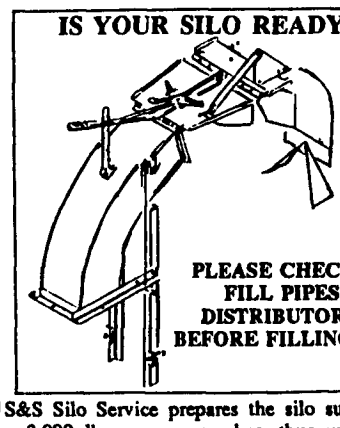
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete
STRONGER AND WILL OUT LAST PLASTER

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

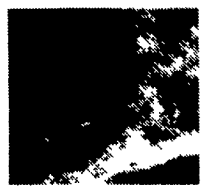
WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

Check your silo now for rotten staves. If you have been using your silo for 10 to 15 years for either corn silage or haylabe, it is time to SHOTCRETE.

RESURFACES INTERIORS:

- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increases useful life
- Economical

Before The silo's interior with plaster damaged and stave exposed

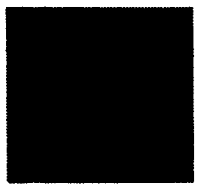


After The surface is reconditioned, and a new, thick, tough surface will protect stored feed

REPAIRS HOLES:

- Repairs even large holes
- Up to twice the strength of the original stave
- Rapid application
- Durable surface

Before A hole is worn completely through the silo wall



After With the hole repaired by ShotCrete and a new surface applied, the silo is ready for years of use

EXTENDS USEFUL LIFE:

- Support for old foundations
- Special repairs can be made... quickly and economically
- Little or no forming needed
- Stronger than the original

Before The bottom part of the staves are completely worn away

After The ShotCrete System repairs and replaces the missing structure

Shotcrete is also good for repairing stone walls

When you think your silo is beyond repair THINK OF SHOTCRETE!

ORDER YOUR NEW SILO WITH A FIBERDOME CHUTE OR REPLACE YOUR OLD WORN OUT CHUTE

fiberdome® SILO CHUTE

made with fiberglass, the material of the future — and proven in the past —

The Fiberdome chute is designed and engineered to be installed on most types of silos. Its structure allows it to withstand the toughest beating the weather elements or silo unloading systems can possibly dish out.

The chute is constructed in full 7½' sections to minimize the number of joints. Connecting joints have a 2½" tongue and groove design to keep feed in and water out. The large ribbed construction adds stability and strength.

Fiberglass is durable, corrosion-proof, attractive and translucent, allowing sunlight to pass through. Sunlight quickly dries interior moisture in the chute. The hard gleaming gelcote surface will remain for many years.

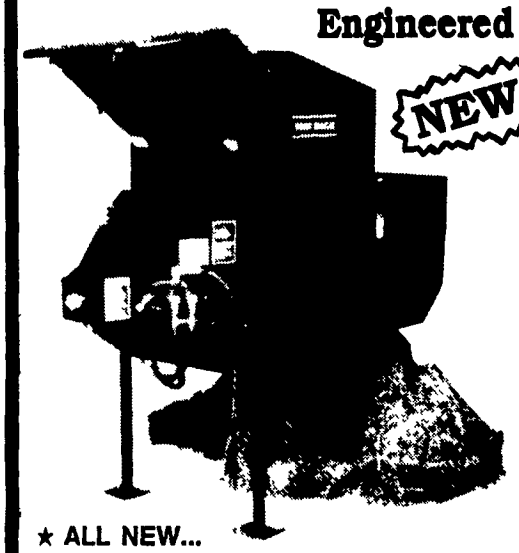
VAN DALE® Dependability through Quality

S600 BALE PROCESSOR

Engineered & Designed By Van Dale...



NEW!

ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND ON THE MARKET TODAY!

BALED HAY CAN NOW BE MIXED
Baled hay can now be processed into a condition suitable for mixing with other TMR materials in all types of mixers: auger, tumble or reel type. With the Van Dale Bale Processor, you can incorporate baled hay into your ration with less stress on your mixer and be assured of getting the maximum benefit from both your hay and your mixer.

ELIMINATES THE DUST AND MESS
The Van Dale Bale Processor uses a hydraulic ram to push the hay bale through a set of hardened steel knives slicing it into a more mixable 4" to 6" average length material without pulverizing the fragile materials in the bale.

FEED THE LEAVES-NOT JUST STEMS
Don't let your valuable feed nutrients disappear in a cloud of dust. Unlike a conventional bale chopper or tub grinder with high speed cutting knives which turn leaves into powder, the Van Dale Bale Processor retains up to 97% of the valuable leaf portion of your hay to be incorporated into the TMR ration.

★ ALL NEW... Process Hay For Use In T.M.R.
★ No Dust ★ Only One Moving Part
★ Use With All Mixers Including Tumblers & Web Chain Units
★ Quiet ★ No Loss Of Hay Leaves

4-H HAPPENINGS

4-H Reaches Kids

Today, 4-H youths live in cities, suburbs, and small towns as well as in rural areas. And they're learning about subjects such as embryology, photography, nutrition, and government - in addition to the animal science and home economics skills that 4-H originally was all aobut.

"These programs are designed to help young people develop their potential and become the best adults they can be," said Dr. Alan Snider, professor of agricultural and extension education in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Through hands-on experience, they learn about current issues and life skills," said Snider. At the same time, they gain self-confidence, leadership skills, and a capacity to care for others. These qualities last a lifetime."

A nationwide total of 5.4 million youths, ages 8 to 19, take part in 4-H. In Pennsylvania, more than 150,000 young people are enrolled or otherwise involved in 4-H youth development programs.

Twenty-two Bucks County 4-H members begin an eight-week course in public speaking recently. The course, sponsored by the Doylestown Toastmasters Club, is designed to teach young people the speaking and leadership skills that they will use for the rest of their lives.

If you are interested in enrolling your child in 4-H or becoming an adult 4-H volunteer, contact the Penn State Cooperative Extension office of Doylestown at (215) 345-3283.

Adams 4-H Swine

The Adams County 4-H Swine Club held its first meeting of the season on March 23 at the Adams County Extension Office, located two miles west of Gettysburg on Rt. 30 across from Doersom Airport. According to Jared Tyson, County 4-H agent, youth 8-18 years old are invited to attend and join the swine club.

As a member of the 4-H Swine Club, youth start with one to six pigs that weigh 70 pounds by May 5. The member is responsible to care for the animal-provided shelter, feed, and water on a daily basis. The pigs grow physically and the member grows with responsibility and develops fitting and showing skills. The pigs are fed through the spring and summer to market weight of 220-240 pounds. The pigs will be shown and sold on July 21 at the South Mountain Fairgrounds.

If you have a small out building, your child is welcome to become a part of the 4-H Swine Club. Contact Jared Tyson, County 4-H agent, (717) 334-6271 or (717) 624-4525.

Animals Are 4-H's Best Friends

Which came first, the chicken or the egg? Ask one of the 42,000 Pennsylvania students involved in 4-H sponsored school embryology projects, and maybe he or she can unscramble the riddle for you.

These students, mostly upper elementary children who have minimal experience with farm animals and 4-H, examine how embryos develop by incubating fertilized eggs in the classroom for 21 days. During the 1991-1992 school year, 104 Bucks County classroom teachers will provide this program in conjunction with Penn State's Cooperative Extension Service.

"You don't have to live on a farm to be enrolled in a 4-H animal project," said Dr. Robin Keyser, assistant professor of agricultural and extension education in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

Keyser and other 4-H agents and leaders strive to keep 4-H programs relevant and interesting to today's youths. "Traditionally, many 4-H animals are raised on farms for either market, dairy, or breeding purposes and then are shown at local fairs," said Keyser.

"Now our animal science program is expanding to include youths from suburban and urban backgrounds. Fifty-two different schools within 10 different Bucks County School districts are participating in our embryology program," said Marian Eurich, assistant for cooperative extension.

"We're not necessarily preparing 4-H'ers for careers in animal science," said Keyser. "Whether they become veterinarians, farmers, doctors or lawyers, we're giving them skills they can carry with them for life."

Along with learning responsibility by feeding and caring for living things on a daily basis, youths develop communication and citizenship skills. They inform the public with displays and take animals to nursing homes and petting zoos, as well as participating in judging teams and quiz bowls that test their knowledge about animal science, husbandry, and products.

Lancaster 4-H Swine

The Lancaster County 4-H Swine Club held their first meeting of the year at the Farm and Home Center on March 21.

Chester Hughes, county agent, explained and distributed the project books.

The newly elected officers and president, Karen Becker; vice president, Tracy Bollinger; secretary, Tina Umbrell; treasurer, Mellissa Becker; and news reporter, Amy Bollinger.

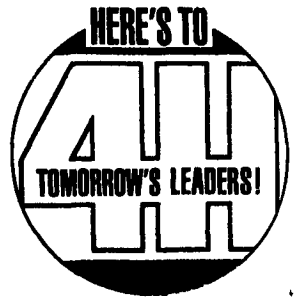
There were about 11 new members. If you are interested in joining the Lancaster County 4-H Swine Club, contact Chester Hughes at (717) 394-6851.

4-H Dairy Banquet

The Cumberland County 4-H dairy banquet was held recently at the Penn Township Firehall, Huntsdale.

Awards and recognitions were presented. Sarah Day received the 1991 Outstanding First Year Member Award. Michael Hensel received the 1991 Outstanding 4-H Dairy Member Award from Chris Renner, who represented Farm Credit. Hensel also received the Merle Miller Memorial Award.

Matt Day received the 4-H Achievement Award from Warren Johnson, representing MSD, Agvet. 4-H slides were shown by Duane Duncan, county agent.



SILO BALES!

Vermeer SW25-FL Silage Wrapper

Vermeer 504 Silage I Baler

Wrap Up Bigger Profits With High-Moisture Bales.

Introducing an entire system designed specifically for harvesting high-moisture hay and silage:

- Vermeer Gator Mowers ... capable of cutting through virtually everything, from wet trampled hay to fire anthills
- Vermeer 504 Silage Baler ... the only baler in the field today specifically designed for high-moisture baling, and able to handle the extra weight
- Vermeer Silage Wrappers ... seal the freshness and nutritional value of balage and silage within a tightly stretch-film-wrapped package, one that's resistant to weather conditions and rodents

The Bottom Line ...

(1) valuable, highly palatable hay packages — individually wrapped — that feed out fresh and improve the health and performance of your herd,

(2) increased milk production and greater weight gains for your dairy herd and beef cow operations,

(3) a reduction in the costs of livestock inputs directly effecting your profit margins, less storage and equipment expense. Discover the savings, the quality, the improved livestock performance!

GEHL®

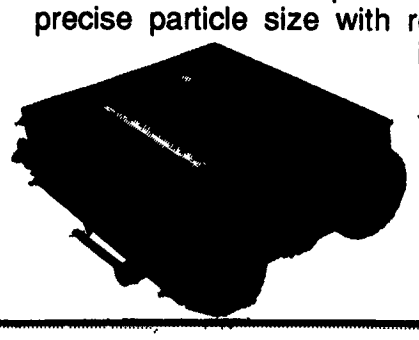
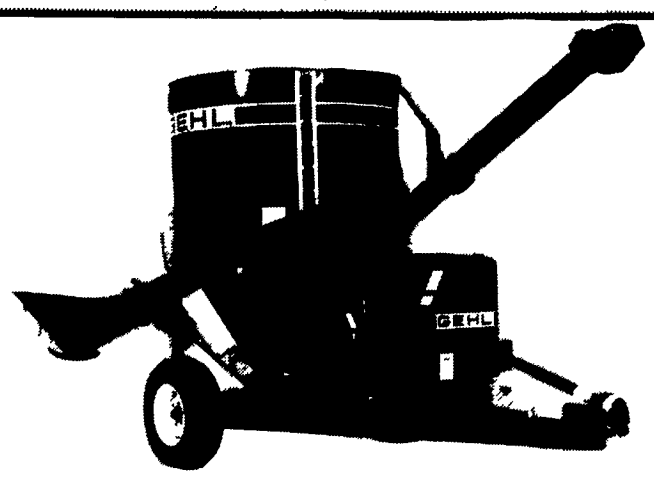
The Industry Leader

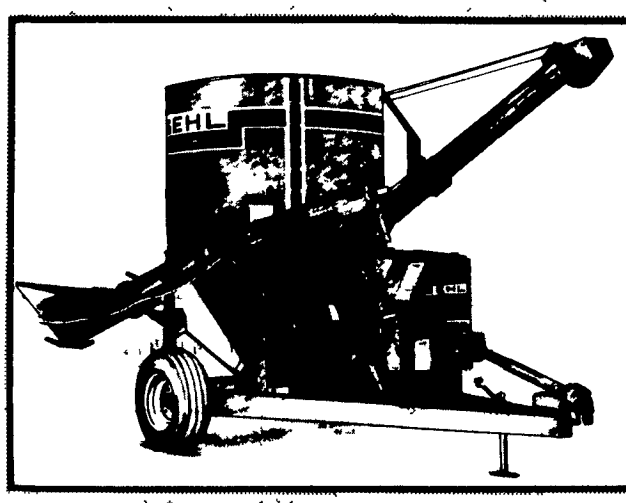
We've combined the proven features and advantages of our Mix-All with a commercial grade roller mill to give you the best portable roller mill feed maker available today.

A Gehl roller mill produces a coarse feed of precise particle size with reduced dust and "flour" in the feed. That means optimum gain for your livestock.





A heavy-duty, commercial grade roller mill features deep grooved rolls that uniformly reduce grain to a pre-determined particle size for maximum nutritional value.



The #1 Name In Feedmaking

Gehl Mix-All® portable grinder-mixers have been leading the industry for over 30 years. Now the new Gehl Roller Mixer combines proven Mix-All features with a commercial-grade roller mill to produce the best possible feed for your livestock. Gehl Mix-Alls and Roller Mixers offer these advanced features:

- Total hydraulic control -self-contained hydraulic system allows infinite speeds to power the discharge conveyor, unloading auger and in-feed attachments.
- Remote controls - operate the unloading conveyor from the tractor seat or from the rear of the machine.
- Electronic scales - for precise ration weighing.
- Customize your machine - with a wide variety of options and attachments.

Gehl TMR Mixer Feeders Are #1

Nothing can maximize the return on investment in your dairy or beef feeding operation like a Total Mixed Ration (TMR) feeding system. And nothing makes TMR work better than a Gehl mixer feeder. Here's why:

- Better Mixing Action - Unique four-auger design creates a double figure-8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Energy Efficient - Planetary drive system requires less horsepower.
- Built To Last - Patented star couplers absorb shock loads by allowing the bottom augers to flex, providing long service life.
- Six Sizes - From 150 to 500 cubic feet mixing capacities.
- Three Styles - Trailer type, stationary and truck-mounted units to fit your operation.

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

COVINGTON (Tioga Co.)—The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, Inc., is ready to receive applications for 1992. This program rewards clean, well-kept farmsteads to help with consumer acceptance of dairy products in the store.

State President Dan Baker, dairyman from Covington, Tioga County, said the program has received great acceptance in the past and officers look forward to a good response again this year. "There are plenty of good looking dairy farms out there that have not been judged," Baker said. "And even those who have entered the selection process in past years, should enter again."

The program provides rewards of recognition to producers who maintain attractive production sites. This recognition benefits the entire dairy industry, as well as individual dairymen. Not only does the favorable publicity generated by the program in the general press help bring modern farm practices to the attention of urban people, farmers use the distinction to promote their own operation or seek and hire farm labor.

Paul Nichols, the secretary for the Pennsylvania program, said applications may be sent in now to apply for the award. Deadline for applications is April 15, 1991. Judging takes place in the month of May and is based on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds and surroundings. The states are divided into districts and a local committee oversees the program in each district. A team of judges designated by the local committee visits each farm and uses a score sheet to rate each farm. In Pennsylvania, in addition to this team of judges, the sanitarian for the farm's cooperative or dealer-handler is asked to be part of the judging process.

"One of the things I always tell people is that even though they may not now have the most fancy place, they can work toward the principles of the Dairy of Distinction program," Nichols said. "By doing this, they work toward a goal that encourages consumers to use more dairy products."

Winners receive a colorful, 18x24-inch Dairy of Distinction sign to be placed at the entrance to the farmstead. In addition, as in past years, an 11x14-inch color portrait of the farm will be given by Lancaster Farmning to each winning farm in the Pennsylvania program.

"As a dairy farmer, you work hard all year long, taking care of your farm," said Helen Fountain, program executive secretary. "In addition to managing your herd, there are lawns to mow, flowers to plant, and overall maintenance to keep farm buildings looking great. You deserve to be recognized for all the hard work, dedication and pride you put into your farmstead.

"It's time to apply for you and your farm to receive the coveted honor of Dairy of Distinction. This award is based on the concept that attractive farms enhance consumer confidence in the wholesomeness of milk, thereby stimulating milk sales and encouraging public support for the dairy industry."

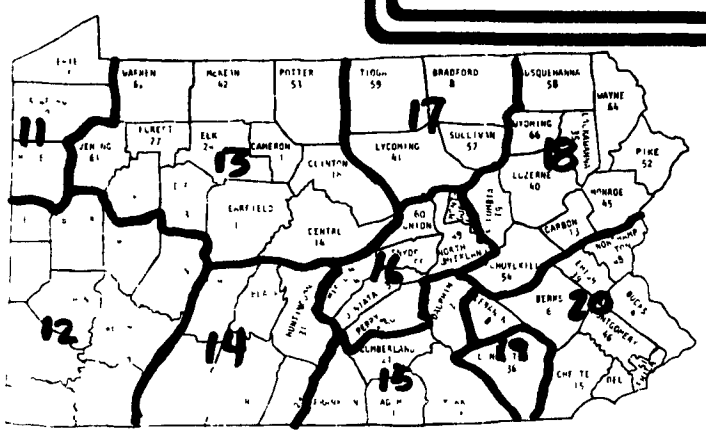
Active dairy farms in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are eligible to apply for the award. Criteria for Dairy of Distinction awards include: clean and attractively finished buildings; neat landscaping, ditches, roads and lands; and well-maintained fences. Cleanliness of animals, barnyard, feed areas, as well as manure management, are also taken into consideration.

Applications are available from each state's program secretary or local cooperative extension. In New York, contact Evelyn Lightfoote, 3053 Depew Road, Stanley, N.Y. 14561. Phone: (716) 526-6654. In New Jersey, contact Angust Knispel, RD 1, Box 325, Pittstown, NJ 08867. Phone: 201) 735-4989. In Pennsylvania, contact Paul Nichols, American Dairy Association/Dairy Council, Tower Business Bldg., 239 Schuyler Ave., Kingston, PA 18704.

Bush Valley Farm in Blair County and owned by Debra and Kenneth Bush family at Williamsburg is an example of the farms that were designated Dairy of Distinction last year. You are invited to send an application to enter the program for 1992.

Send Application By April 15

Dairy of Distinction
Dairy Farm Beautification Program



Pennsylvania Districts

Pennsylvania is divided into ten districts. Approximately 10 Dairy of Distinction awards will be made each year in each district. There is no cost to the applicant.

Pennsylvania area chairpersons are: District 11, Leslie Firth; District 12, Wally Jackson; District 13, Susan DuJour; District 14, Janet and David Hileman; District 15, Norman Coons; District 16, Robert and Bernice Gable; District 17, Larue Thomas; District 18, Allen Roszel; District 19, Lisa Risser; and District 20, Russell Rooks.

As a winner, you will receive a certificate and a nice metal sign to install at the end of your farm lane. In addition, LANCASTER FARMING will present a color farm portrait print to each of this year's winners in Pennsylvania. If your farm is a winner, be sure you or your district committee takes a color photograph of your farm and sends the negative and proof to LANCASTER FARMING in time for the awards ceremony.

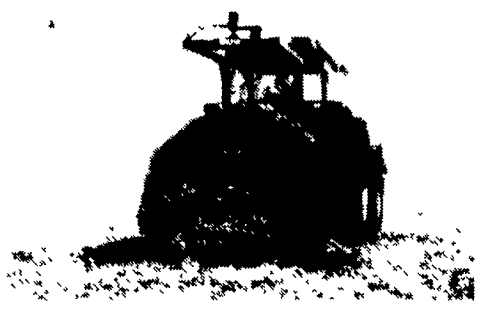
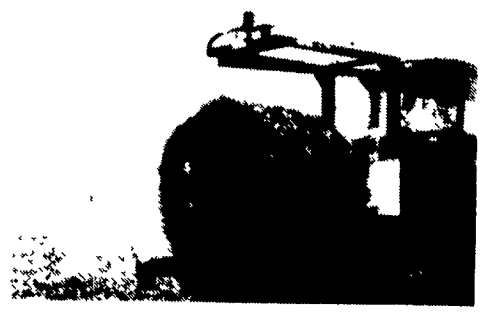
Round Bale Wrapper and Mover

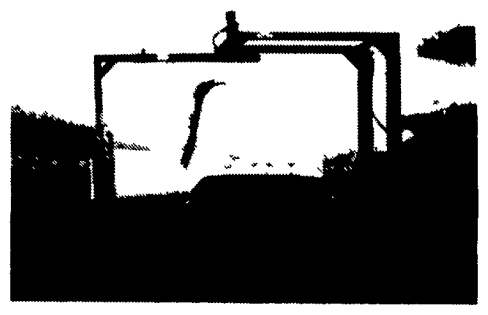
"Two machines in one" This three point hitch, hydraulic bale wrapper not only wraps bales fast but can be used to move the bales to the barn or feed lot. A one man operation at its' best for feeding high quality balage.



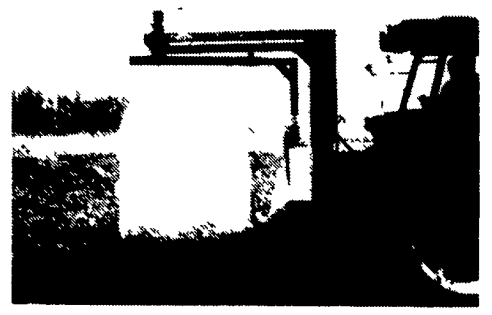
1. Spread roller arms apart and back into round bale.



2. Squeeze roller arms together lifting bale into position for wrapping.



3. Begin wrapping bale; the lower rolls automatically rotate the bale at the proper speed as the rotating arm dispenses wrap.



4. Cut the plastic wrap from the tractor seat and lower the bale to the ground.

GENERAL SPECIFICATIONS

Horsepower requirement - 65+
2 sets of hydraulic remotes required
Round bale width - 39" to 60"
Round bale diameter - 54" to 60"
Wrapping time - approx. 2 minutes
Soft core bales not recommended

JUNIATA CO. PUBLIC AUCTION

2 PARCELS OF REAL ESTATE

SATURDAY, APRIL 18 - 12:00 NOON

Take the Mifflintown Exit off Rt. 322 to the square in Mifflintown, take old Rt. 22 west approx. 2 mi., turn right on Arch Rock Road and go approx. 1 mi. to property.

This property located in Fermanagh Twp., offers not only a great business opportunity, but a taste of Country Living, too. Offering two parcels, each with its own original deed.

PARCEL #1- Contains 1.534 acres w/211 ft. of road frontage. A 50'x60' block bldg. w/a 24'x60' second story, provides well over 3000 sq. ft. of floor space. It also has a 16'x24', 2 sty. garage/workshop w/a 24'x24' attached 2 car garage. The 26'x70' metal pole shed w/ roller doors, has easy access to the circle driveway connecting all bldgs. The 2 sty. frame house has a modern kitchen, dining room, living room & full bath on the 1st floor & 3 bedrooms & a sewing room on the 2nd sty. The basement offers level entrance way, wood stove hook-up, shower & an insulated fruit cellar. A new water system & new gas furnace were recently installed. On lot sewage system.

All the buildings mentioned above are in A-1 condition and reveal the quality Craftsmanship, the late Merrill W. Varner was known for.

PARCEL #2- Contains 3.575 ac and 688.59 ft. of road frontage. This parcel is being sold w/a driveway permit, and has passed tests for an on lot sewage system. Horning Run, (a Pa. stocked trout stream), and lots of mature Hemlock & Pine trees, make this parcel a fishing & camping dream.

SHOW DATES: MARCH 28 & APRIL 4, from 1:00 to 4:00 P.M., or for appt. Ph. 717-527-2405 or 2364.

TERMS: 10% down at time of sale, bal. in 30 days, other terms at sale. No out of State Checks. Also Selling Antiques & Household Items at 10:00 A.M.

OF REAL ESTATE
3 JUNIATA COUNTY PARCELS
Saturday, May 2, 1992
4:00 P.M.

Located approx. 15 mi. south of Port Royal, along Rt. 75

Any one of these 3 parcels can make your dream of weekend or permanent country living, come true. Thru subdivision, we have opened the door to a wide variety of country living enthusiasts.

Lots #1 and #2 contain approx. 34 acres each, and lay at the foot of Tuscarora Mt., gently sloping toward Rt. 75. Lot 1 borders State Game Land for a distance of 496' and Lot 2 has a 6 ft. written walkway across Lot 1, providing it w/access to State Game Land hunters. Both 1 & 2 offer a nice stand of marketable timber. Lot 2 has two fish ponds. Both Lot 1 & 2 have passed tests for on lot sewage systems and both are perfect for building either a permanent residence or weekend retreat.

Parcel #3 contains 49.45 acres and borders Rt. 75 for a distance of 1525'. The 49 acres are mostly tillable & have southern exposure. Although the 2 sty., 7 rm. frame house, may lack today's modern conveniences it has potential for remodeling. Other outbldgs. include a bank barn & sev. sheds.

If you are interested in some of Juniata Co.'s best hunting and country living, COME SEE ON THESE SHOW DATES: April 11 & 18 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. or Ph. 717-734-3561 for private showing.

NOTE: For brochure w/pictures, contact Auctioneer.

TERMS: 10% down at time of sale, bal. in 30 days. Other terms at sale. No out of State Checks.

PUBLIC AUCTION

71 ACRE PERRY CO. FARM & 2 ACRE BUILDING LOT
ANTIQUES & HOUSEHOLD ITEMS

Saturday, April 25, 1992

10:00 A.M.

Located between Thompsontown and Liverpool, in Little Pfoutz Valley. From Rt. 322 West, take Pfoutz Valley Exit, go to stop sign and turn right, approx. 3 mile to property.

REAL ESTATE SELLING AT 1:00 P.M.

This 71 ac. Perry Co. farm, located in Greenwood Township, offers endless potential to the country living enthusiast. The approx. 40 acres of woodland, runs up the side of Turkey Ridge and gets its name honestly from its turkey and white tail hunting. This farm is also located less than 5 mi. from the Juniata River access area and Ski Snow Peak. The almost 30 acres of cleared land, has southern exposure, and is currently in grass.

The 2 story wood frame farm house has a kitchen, dining room, living room w/wood stove hookup on the first floor and 4 bedrooms & full bath on the 2nd floor. Vinyl siding, storm windows & full insulation, help the oil fired hot air furnace operate more efficiently.

A 20'x42' workshop w/apartment above, offers another source of income. The apartment has a kitchen, dining room, living room, bedroom & full bath w/laundry hookup. The house & apt. can each be supplied w/ water from a drilled well or a spring w/2-1000 gallon concrete holding tanks. Each has its own separate sewage system.

A 2.659 acre building lot w/sewage tests will be offered separately and then w/the 71 ac. farm. This building lot sports a beautiful view of Pfoutz Valley.

If either of these parcels are of interest to you, we invite you to see them on these SHOW DATES: April 4 & 11 from 10:00 A.M. to 2:00 P.M. or Ph. 717-589-3386 for appt.

TERMS: 10% down at time of sale, balance in 30 days, other terms at sale. No out of State Checks.
